

Bank Messenger Shot

Death at Cambridge, Mass., and Robbers Get Away With $10,000.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 29.—Edward C. Ross, bank messenger, was shot and a companion was killed by three masked robbers who held up the pair here to-day and with a payroll of $10,000.

The messenger, accompanied by Johnston, of Newton, was delivering the payroll sent from the Trust Company to the Ward Company when the three men stepped up in a large touring car. As the bank representatives stepped into their delivery car, the robbers fired, firing seven or eight shots as they came. Ross was shot in the heart. A bullet grazed Johnston's head.

The tin box containing the payroll, the three men ran to their car and drove away in the general direction of Boston.

Think Highly of Yourself

Whatever happens, you have to live with yourself. And no other thing matters so much to your success and happiness as the basic fact—what you are.

Whether you are a great person or only a very small person—no matter. You are important to yourself; and you can never hold up any sort of worthwhile life unless you begin with yourself.

This seems simple and self-evident enough, but how rare it is to see a man who is really the Master of his own affairs!

If a man has no self-respect his success will be a misfortune and his happiness a mirage.

Next he must have self-control and he must deliberately pursue a policy of self-development. A man's first privilege is to grow.

There has always been too much self-effacement. For my part, I prefer Ambition; and I believe that Ambition has done more to create civilization than self-effacement and humility.

Everything worth-while is Personal—always was and always will be.

Go into the any well-managed shop and ask: "What is the greatest thing in this shop?" and the answer is: "The Manager himself."

Once in awhile, don't follow the crowd. Go the other way. Let the crowd fear you and pelt you, as a crowd always does.

Own yourself, as Marcus Aurelius did—as Darwin did—as every worth-while man has always done. Even though you may never be rich—even though you may never be known outside of your own little circle—you can still have Character. You can still have Independence. You can still say: "I am the Captain of my soul!"—Herbert N. Casson, in Forbes Magazine (N.Y.)

Newfoundland Delegates in Boston

(Nfld. Weekly.)

The Newfoundland delegates to the Inter-Parliamentary Union to be held in Washington, D.C., arrived on Monday morning on the S.S. Newfoundland. The party consisted of Hon. W. S. Monroe, Prime Minister of Newfoundland, Hon. W. J. Higgins, K.C., Minister of Justice, Hon. C. J. Fox, Speaker of the House of Assembly, Hon. A. B. Morine, Legislative Council and Hon. R. K. Bishop, Legislative Council.

As the invitation to the Conference was extended to the members selected and a member of their immediate families, Mrs. Monroe, Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Morine and Mr. Claud Fraser, nephew of Sir P. T. McGrath, accompanied them.

The remaining member of the delegation, Sir P. T. McGrath, President of the Legislative Council, had preceded the party and had accompanied some of the members of the British Parliamentary Delegates, who recently visited Newfoundland, to Ottawa and Montreal, and arrived in Boston on Sunday morning.

On the arrival of the S.S. Newfoundland at Charlestown, the party was met by Sir Patrick McGrath and Mr. R. H. Tait, of the "Weekly," and on the pier were many Newfoundland residents of Boston and Greater Boston to welcome their distinguished countrymen.

Besides the Conference Delegates, there were on board the S.S. Newfoundland many passengers from the homeland and elsewhere making the round trip or paying a visit to different parts of the U.S., and their friends and relatives, also, were at the pier to meet them.

After the necessary formalities in landing had been completed, the party went to their respective hotels.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Morine remained in Boston only a few hours and proceeded in the afternoon by motor to New York. Hon. R. K. Bishop also left for New York by train during the afternoon. The remainder of the party stayed at the Copley Plaza, where during their stay they received many callers.

On Tuesday and Wednesday they visited the points of interest around the city and were entertained by their friends.

On Wednesday morning in company with Mr. R. H. Tait, they were received at the State House by the Lt.-Governor, Frank G. Allen, in the absence of Governor Alvin T. Fuller, who tendered to them on behalf of the Executive of the State of Massachusetts, a hearty welcome. The Lt.-Governor discussed with them many questions relating to the welfare of Newfoundland and was glad to learn of the progress of affairs in the homeland. The delegates were very appreciative of the courtesy and kind welcome extended by the Lt.-Governor, who presented to each member on departure an autographed copy of the history and description of the State House.

Having left the executive offices they proceeded to the City Hall, where they paid their respects to the Mayor and Council of the City of Boston.

Owing to his recent indisposition, Mayor Curley was unable to be present, but Acting Mayor James Moriarty and Councilors James A. Watson and William J. Walsh, welcomed the Newfoundland representatives, and expressed great pleasure in meeting them and wished them a happy sojourn in the hub and in the other points of destination.

Acting Mayor Moriarty followed the example of the Lt.-Governor and presented to each member an autographed copy of the book written to commemorate the 100th Anniversary of the City of Boston.

Sir Patrick McGrath and Hon. Messrs. Higgins and Fox were loud in their praises of the courteous reception given to them at the two principal offices of the State, especially in view of the fact that their visit was arranged at such short notice.

A call was then made on a well known and loyal Newfoundlander in Boston, Mr. Maurice M. Devine, and the party returned to their hotel.

In the evening a banquet was tendered to our distinguished countrymen by the Newfoundland residents of Boston and vicinity.

On Thursday morning they left by the Grey Line Motor Bus to New York via the Shore Highway in order to enjoy the beautiful scenery along the route. Mrs. W. J. Higgins and Mr. Claude Fraser accompanied them.

Each member of the party desired to state through the columns of the "Weekly" that he regretted he was unable, owing to the demands on his time, to fulfil many engagements anticipated or partly promised and to meet many old friends and acquaintances.

They wish to express through these columns how deeply they enjoyed their visit to Boston and with what pleasure they availed of the opportunity to renew old acquaintances and to meet new friends.

The Newfoundlanders in Boston regret that circumstances made it impossible for the Prime Minister and Hon. A. B. Morine and R. K. Bishop to remain with us longer in the city and to be greeted in the same way as their colleagues.
