

Mainly About Women

BY ELIZABETH BAILEY

TELEPHONE 2380

Why try to fit that beautiful suit you saw in our department over last year's corset model? Won't you take a moment to look at the autumn styles of Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets? They are the authoritative corset styles for this season. There is no part of the corsetted figure that is not ideally comfortable and beautifully shaped in these models.

See our Corsetiere, she will know your model the instant she sizes your figure.

B. C. Binning and Co.
112 8th Ave. E.

Mrs. George May, who has been ill, is improving.

Mrs. J. G. Morrison left last night for Edmonton.

Mrs. A. B. Wark left last night on an extended trip east.

Mrs. J. Faust of Edmonton is visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. Dr. Sanderson of Woodstock is visiting Mrs. Dr. Campbell.

Mr. G. Wintermute of Medicine Hat was in the city yesterday.

E. M. Armand of Winnipeg is a guest at the Alexandra Hotel.

Miss Mary De Laporte of Winnipeg is the guest of Mrs. Dr. Slaley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McNamara of Winnipeg are guests in the city.

The Misses P. L. Moran of Winnipeg are guests at the Alexandra Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kennedy of Pittsburg spent a few days in the city.

Miss Elsie McDougall of Montreal, is visiting Mrs. E. A. Lilly, 14th avenue west.

Miss Harriet Robinson has returned to the city after a holiday spent in the mountains.

Miss E. J. Beattie has returned to the city after spending some time in Toronto and New York.

Mrs. T. S. J. Skinner and the Misses Skinner have returned from a two month's visit, at the coast cities.

Mrs. P. J. Adair of Winnipeg, who has been the guest of Mrs. H. Kerr, left for her home last night.

Mrs. Kate Simpson Hayes of the C. P. R. offices, London, England, was a guest in the city on Wednesday.

Mrs. Alwyn Danks and her guest, Miss M. Howe, have returned from a several days' trip to Banff and Lake Louise.

Mrs. P. Collins and son, of 309 Fifteenth avenue west, who have been visiting in the East, returned to the city last night.

Miss Maude Gardiner leaves tonight for Vancouver on a month's holiday. She will visit Seattle and Portland before returning home.

Mrs. Rhvnd Jamieson of Lethbridge spent yesterday in the city, en route to Banff. While here she was the guest of Mrs. H. S. MacLeod.

Dr. J. McGregor of Waterford, Ont., and D. T. McGregor of Hamilton are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McGregor, Eighty-fourth avenue west.

An Afternoon Tea.

Mrs. George Lane will entertain a number of her friends at the tea this afternoon.

A Post-Nuptial Reception.

Mrs. Britton, 1512 Twenty-sixth avenue west, held her post-nuptial reception yesterday afternoon, and a number of her friends were present. Corn flowers and sweet peas were the chosen decorations.

Mrs. J. Sadler, a bride of the season, and Mrs. Searson, mother of the bride, presided at the reception. The Misses Searson, the three sisters of the bride, assisted in the tea room.

Epworth League Social.

The members of the Epworth League of the Central Methodist church met in the church parlors last night and enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Corn flowers and sweet peas were the chosen decorations.

Mrs. J. Sadler, a bride of the season, and Mrs. Searson, mother of the bride, presided at the reception. The Misses Searson, the three sisters of the bride, assisted in the tea room.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

Those who assisted her were Mrs. Hughes, Miss Johnston, Mr. Hampton, Mr. Lang, pianist, and Mr. Morgan, violinist.

Mrs. Hill will be the hostess at one of the largest social events of the summer season, when she entertained a number of her friends at a tea on Wednesday afternoon.

Sweet peas were used profusely in the drawing room, while in the tea room pink sweet peas and pink satin ribbon were artistically combined. The hostess was becomingly gowned in a cream of pale satin, with tulle of dew-drop chiffon and finished with black velvet ribbon.

THREE PRETTY BLOUSES—(1) Of white soft satin, outlined with black velvet ribbon. (2) Of lavender tulle and French linen and macramé lace. (3) Of white or pale blue or epe de chine, trimmed with lace and white satin chemise of tucked net.

WHEELS OF JUSTICE IN CALGARY MOVE SLOWLY

Rev. A. R. Schrag Condemns the Treatment of the Drunkards Should be Sent to Hospitals and Asylums Rather Than Jails

Use of Intoxicants is Utterly Foolish; Are Not of Much Medicinal Advantage

"Civil Problems and Temperance Work in Calgary," was the topic of a stirring address delivered by Rev. A. R. Schrag at the meeting of the West End W. C. T. U. held in Wesley Methodist church yesterday afternoon.

How slow and measured are the wheels of justice in this city," said Mr. Schrag, "and the reason for the slowness is in the legislation. How often the crime of drunkenness is considered a minor matter rather than bad morals!"

"All problems are divided into two classes, legislative and administrative, and the purpose of legislation is to decide, in Carlisle's words, 'The Everlasting ought.'"

In speaking of temperance, Rev. Mr. Schrag said that no one had a right to entice or give a drink which was intoxicating as the results might be disastrous, and sin would be at the door of the giver or the tempter. "How utterly foolish," said the speaker, "are the use of intoxicants, even the doctors say it isn't of much medicinal benefit."

"Our problem is, how best to live and help life. Better to redeem the drunkard than punish him, and I hope the time will soon come when asylums and hospitals will be the places for inebriates rather than the jails."

He referred to the Alberta Children's Protective Act, which is enforced from babyhood to seventeen years of age, the purpose being to save the boys and protect the girls.

The meeting was one of the most interesting of the season. Miss I. N. Campbell, the president, was in the chair, and Mrs. McCallum presided at the organ.

Several new members joined. Mrs. Adams presented a dainty little bowl of white ribbon, the symbol of the organization, to each member. A pleasant feature of the evening was the presence of two white ribboners from Sackville, N. B. They told about the W. C. T. U. work in their province. Mrs. Hugh Fraser led the opening devotional services. Mrs. McElroy sang a solo entitled, "The White Ribbon," and the meeting closed with the mission benediction.

The executive will meet at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Henderson, 1037 Eleventh avenue west, September 12th at 3 p. m., and the next public meeting of the union will be held September 26th, the last Thursday of September. The subject will be "Scientific Temperance in the Public Schools." Educationists are urged to attend.

Beautiful Wedding Gifts.

In addition to the many other beautiful gifts received by the Marquess and Marchioness of Anglessey, who were married on the third of August, were a pair of diamonds and sapphires cut links, with the initials G. M. in diamonds, from the King and Queen, while Queen Alexandra sent a scarf

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of J. C. Watson

MACLEAN'S NEWS BULLETIN

FAMILY PRESCRIPTIONS

TO KNOW that your doctor's prescription is the most careful attention from the time you send it to us until you receive it at your door is a consideration worth while.

We employ the most expert dispensers who have been selected for their care to detail. A mistake here is impossible. None but the finest and purest drugs and chemicals are used, so you see this is a safe store for you to deal with.

Motor Delivery

To know that your prescription is receiving prompt as well as accurate attention is assured when you send it to MACLEAN'S—the old reliable family druggist. In connection with this important branch of our business we have fast motor deliveries to hustle your needs home to you in the shortest possible time. The service is guaranteed to give every satisfaction.

Maclean's Drug Store

Established 1883

MACLEAN BLOCK. EIGHTH AVENUE

MOUNT ROYAL COLLEGE

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

WILFRIED V. OATEN, DIRECTOR.

Re-opens Thursday, September 5th. Departments of instruction in Piano, Organ, Theory, Violin, Viola, Voice, and Song Interpretation. For full particulars apply to the director or to Rev. G. W. Kirby, Principal of Mount Royal College.

FIRST AID TO INJURED HEARTS

The Tasting Place

What a pity it is that some great philanthropist with a tender spot in his heart for lovers does not establish "courtship parks"—yes, just spooning parks for the occupancy of lovers and their fasses. Of course, no one wishes to deprive the hard working mother with her brood of little ones and her husband a bench and a breath of cool air on a hot summer night in the cool park. She could, however, get just as much air on her own doorstep at least one evening a week and there would be no one to hear the underdone grumbling between herself and her indifferent spouse.

Crowds of young men who could get just as much air on a street corner fill other benches to the despair of lovers who walk on and on until they are footsore and weary trying to find a sheltered nook and bench just big enough for two. The young girl who is a bread winner and whose doorstep is crowded on a summer night with other tenants of the building must look elsewhere for a trying place, if she has a nice young man who has begun to call steadily upon her.

The coming of a young couple does not stand upon conventionalities. If he knows that he will be overlate for his work on some particular evening he is generous enough to wish his sweetheart to get that hour's fresh air. He arranges that she must go to the park and that he will find her there. Neither of them will tell the exact location as to where the other will be, for there are no reserved seats for lovers.

Even a lover's lane would be appreciated. How can we expect marriages to take place when the summer days are over when a lover could find no possible place to declare his love without being overheard?

He's Too Easy Going

"Dear Miss Lobbey: I am 43, my 24th birthday having passed five years ago; for about fourteen years have been reasonably happy; have four children, two boys and two girls—youngest child 4 years old. I still have a wife dearly and do not love or care for any other woman. My wife now seems to be miserable when I am at home. She is nearly all the time complaining, finds fault with everything I do, never gives me a pleasant word or smile, does not care to go out with me. I have tried to enjoy going out at nights to church and places of amusement in the week with a young man who is boarding with us. I have tried to talk with her about these conditions, but she gets mad, says I am too old for her, also acknowledges that she does not work as she once did. We have a good home and I make a good living. My wife does nearly all the house work, not having much to do with it. I have tried to get anything ahead. She also grumbles because I do not make money enough to get ahead. Both of us claim to be Christians and belong to different churches. I do not object to her having the children go to her church and Sunday school in preference to mine."

It seems to me that you should assert yourself a bit more than you are doing. Tell your wife that you don't want her to go about with this man and see that he does not live at your house any longer. I think the trouble is that you are too easy going in both your business and home life. Better try to cultivate more strength of character.

WOMEN BUILT THE SIDEWALKS

Pittsburgh, Kan., Aug. 28.—For thirty years the women of Opolis have been wading through the mud or the wet weeds. They have sent their children to school and to church through the slush. And all the while they have been urging the "men folks" to build sidewalks at least one sidewalk through the main part of the town.

From it is a mile and a half long. A few months ago they gave up in despair and set themselves to the task. Last night the united organization of the women of the churches formed to build a sidewalk held a social. This morning 500 was added to the treasury. The women plan to extend the walk until it is a mile and a half long.

"The men of Opolis become a burden on the earth," one of the women leaders said. "So we are showing them what we can do and what they could have and should have done long ago. Oh, no, we won't charge the toll for using the walk. But we'll make them keep it clean, though."

Some people think they dislike grape jelly, when, as a matter of fact, they but dislike the muddy, undiluted sort. There is a disadvantage in using too much water for it is to be boiled out and long boiling is done after the sugar is put in.

Perhaps it is safest to boil the juice twenty minutes then add the sugar, and boil just enough to set it as it were. This may not be more than five minutes.

It is not necessary to let grape juice drip over night from a bag than it is to use only the pure juice. It is good to use the juice as it is, making some careful to those who like to do a thing and get through with it. The whole business may be done in two hours, or less, with hardly a perceptible waste.

Good grape jelly may be made within an hour from the time the grapes are broken up. A good strainer is a suitable cloth over it is all that is needed.

The pulp that remains may be put through the strainer without the cloth, and cooked with an equal amount of sugar for a grape marmalade, which must be stirred in cooking, or it will burn. A good strainer is a suitable cloth over it is all that is needed.

Grape juice without sweetening is but the intermediate stage in jelly making, and if put up with care, not only is it sweet, but it is many people find this true, but it may then be used any time for jelly.

Grape juice—Remove the grapes—purple ones, the Concord—from the stems; wash thoroughly, cover with water, cook until the grapes break and the pulp is cooked, strain, beat, and while boiling hot, pour into sterilized bottles, and seal. If the bottles or jars are thoroughly sterilized, the juice will keep for weeks and months. When ready to make jelly of pure juice, add carefully or siphon it off, so as to avoid any sediment there may be. Any kind of fruit, no sugar needed—may be preserved in grape juice. This is a particularly good way to put up sweet plums, apples, and pears.

The use of grape juice increases every year. It is a splendid food, and pleasant adaptations of it for dessert are being worked out every day. A great deal of interest has been shown in the publication of former bulletin No. 178, on "Home Manufacture and Use of Unfermented Grape Juice," but that is valuable for the discussion of the causes of fermentation and methods of preventing it, as well as for other things. Its manufacture in large quantities is described with appliances, its composition, its quality, its food value and its use. There are also recipes for grape nectar, an invalid drink; grape punch, grape punch, grape ice cream, syllabub and Botemian cream.

U. S. Marines for Nicaragua.

San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, Aug. 29.—The United States cruiser Calypso arrived here today with a detachment of Marines on board who are to be used for the protection of American life and property in Nicaragua. Everything is quiet in this port.

THE VOTE OF WOMAN MAY DECIDE PRESIDENCY

Three Great Parties Straining Every Effort to Win Feminine Ballots

Mrs. Harriman, Miss Boswell and Miss Carpenter Leading the Skirted Forces

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—Woman, lovely woman, is fast gaining equal political recognition with "man." The coming campaign will witness the unprecedented spectacle of the three leading presidential candidates making an earnest plea for female votes. While the Progressive party is the only one that has incorporated a plank for woman suffrage in its platform, both the Republican and Democratic leaders are establishing national organizations with women at their head for the purpose of attracting the female vote in the six states that have already granted equal suffrage, and for the moral effect it may have on the male voters in other states where this question has become a burning issue.

The voter will not only be treated to the unusual spectacle of an ex-president trying for a third term at the head of a new party, but will have the pleasure of seeing and hearing female spellbinders who will stump the country in support of their favorite candidates.

Colorado, California, Idaho, Utah, Washington and Wyoming are the six states in the Union that already have given women the right to vote, and it is estimated that there are 800,000 female voters in these states. So formidable a number has to be reckoned with, even by a presidential candidate. When Colonel Roosevelt swept the state of California in the presidential primaries last spring, the female vote, it was claimed, was responsible for his enormous majority. The states above mentioned have six to five votes out of a total of 531 in the electoral college.

The Women's National Union and the Women's National League, with Mrs. J. Borden Harriman at the head, have opened its headquarters in the Fifth Avenue building, New York, and the work of forming state organizations is being rapidly conducted.

The Republican organization, not to be outdone, has announced the appointment of Miss Helen Boswell of New York as chairman of the Women's League for the re-election of President Taft, a woman's auxiliary organization to work for the Republican organization in the equal suffrage states.

The "Bull Moose" party is by no means depending alone on its woman suffrage plank to attract female votes. It has opened a national women's organization in the Metropolitan tower, with Miss Alice Carpenter, a prominent advocate of equal rights, in charge, and the work of organizing state clubs is rapidly under way.

Good Housekeeping

Grape Jelly and Juice

Grape jelly, when we can get a large basket of grapes for 14 or 15 cents, or perhaps 12, or even at 20 cents and more, is undoubtedly one of the most economical of all jellies, except apple, peach and plum. It is a pity that the grapes earliest in the market, which are the best for jelly making, because not very ripe, are two or three times as expensive as those that arrive later. The later ones make a jelly that is good, but it is darker in color and not the beautiful red of that of the earlier grapes.

There are those who make their grape jelly with pure grape juice without dilution. Others cook their grapes with water about a third the depth of the fruit, in order to extract the juice, while others use water enough to cover the fruit.

Some people think they dislike grape jelly, when, as a matter of fact, they but dislike the muddy, undiluted sort. There is a disadvantage in using too much water for it is to be boiled out and long boiling is done after the sugar is put in.

Perhaps it is safest to boil the juice twenty minutes then add the sugar, and boil just enough to set it as it were. This may not be more than five minutes.

It is not necessary to let grape juice drip over night from a bag than it is to use only the pure juice. It is good to use the juice as it is, making some careful to those who like to do a thing and get through with it. The whole business may be done in two hours, or less, with hardly a perceptible waste.

Good grape jelly may be made within an hour from the time the grapes are broken up. A good strainer is a suitable cloth over it is all that is needed.

The pulp that remains may be put through the strainer without the cloth, and cooked with an equal amount of sugar for a grape marmalade, which must be stirred in cooking, or it will burn. A good strainer is a