KEEP A SHARP LOOK FOR ELECTION CROOKS

representatives of law in the province. Special constables will also be on the look-out in rural sections of the province for agents farm implement companies who may attempt to coerce farmers who are in debt, against provisions of section 216 of the election act.

In addition to the constables, a staff of detectives familiar with the best known election crooks, will be on watch for infractions of the law. The arrival of the members of Hon. Robert Rogers' election party is expected to come in the latter part of the month.

The appearance of outside operators in Edmonton, Nanton and Olds has been directly reported to Liberal headquarters, and the attention of special constables will be drawn to the matter.

The government is warned by the experience of Saskatchewan and will see that nothing like a repetition of what took place there will occur in Alberta.

East Calgary Enthusiast.

A well attended and very enthusiastic meeting presided over by Dr. John McDougall, Liberal candidate for Center Calgary, at the C.W. Walker school in East Calgary last evening.

Henry Hawkins, who presided, delivered a strong address and in introducing the candidate, extolled the virtues of Dr. McDougall, referring to him as the man who has done more for the people of being honored by the people because of the great work he did for Alberta, in the years before any other man in the province was elected to the legislature.

Dr. McDougall was an especially fine form and in pointing to the many reasons for the return of the speaker, he made telling points which were applauded to the echo.

At the close of the meeting a resolution endorsing the candidature of Dr. McDougall was adopted unanimously and with a cheer. It is worthy mention in this connection that the meeting was not composed entirely of Liberals.

Thought for Themselves.

An incident that occurred at Riverdale last evening demonstrated the fact that not all of the foreign-born citizens of the north country are willing to let anyone else do their thinking for them. It was on the contrary, the majority of these citizens were quite capable of thinking for themselves.

It occurred this way: A meeting for foreign-speaking citizens was called by the Conservatives and speakers were provided to speak in the various languages represented at the meeting was about half through when the crowd, and there was a good attendance, was dissatisfied with the advocacy of the Rev. S. Bacon. Hillocks' views on the workmen's compensation act and the audience rose in a body and left the hall and went across to the Liberal committee rooms where they organized a meeting of their own, calling on speakers from among their number who spoke in favor of the Liberal candidate amid wild enthusiasm.
