

AN AUTHOR'S WORKSHOP.

The Place Where Bulwer-Lytton Could Write at Ease.

When Charles Mackay was visiting Lord Lytton at Knebworth, he was impressed, he says in his "Recollections," with the beauty of the library. He remarked to the novelist that in such a cheerful room among so many books any author could get through a vast amount of labor.

"I cannot write so well in the library," replied Lord Lytton, "as in another place. Take a stroll with me, and I will show you my favorite study."

They went for a considerable distance to the shore of an artificial lake in Knebworth park, and there stood a bathhouse. A small boat was drawn up on one side of it, and on the other, near a small window, stood a chair and a common deal table, on which was a pewter inkstand.

Pulling open the drawer, Lord Lytton showed his guest a good supply of paper, pens and a blotting book.

"I can write more freely here," he said, "than in the grand library. I will tell you how the habit grew. When I was a small boy, I was very ambitious to write and wrote an immense amount of trash. My mother thought that the occupation of so much time in writing would be injurious to my health and prohibited my writing in the library."

"I then had recourse to my bedroom, but was in due time banished from that and deprived of pen and ink. The more imperatively I was forbidden to write the more I indulged in the prohibited joy. I took refuge in the bathhouse and wrote for hours with a lead pencil, using the seat of the boat for my writing table. So I learned to write here, and I can do better work here than anywhere else."

Prospects For a Strenuous Life.

A well dressed lad, the son of a wealthy parent, thought it would be quite easy to earn a few coppers for himself by selling daily papers, says the Chicago Journal. He stopped a tattered newsboy in the street and said to him:

"Do you think I should be able to earn money as you do if I bought some papers and came to this corner to sell them?"

"Why do you want to sell papers?"

"I'm tired of being idle."

"Well," said the philosophic little newsboy, with a serious air, "d'yer think yer can hold thirty-six papers in one hand, lick three or four boys bigger'n yerself with the other hand, while yer keeps two more off with yer feet and yells 'Evenin' paper' all the time?"

"No-o, I don't," replied the well dressed boy.

"Then yer are good in the newsboy biz," replied the tattered philosopher. "Y'd better git yer people to 'prentice yer to somethin' light."

An Atmosphere of Happiness.

Happiness is, we maintain, a good end. The only question is, How much sacrifice is it worth? Well, certainly not the sacrifice of sincerity and certainly not the sacrifice of others, but surely the sacrifice of the habit of selfishness, which is only self sacrifice. If by a little trouble we can create for ourselves a sweet atmosphere in which to live, we are surely doing nothing of which we need be ashamed.

After all, no one breathes his own atmosphere alone; others breathe it with him. If happiness is a desirable object, let us face the fact sincerely and give up all the many things which we now do openly and exclusively to obtain it. If it is not, why should we not pull ourselves together, give our attention to the game and play up?—London Spectator.

As to Punctuation Marks.

The interrogation mark, or "point" (?) was originally a "t" and an "o," the latter placed under the former. They were simply the first and last letters of the Latin word "questio." So, too, with the sign of exclamation or interjection (!). In its original purity it was a combination of "i" and "o," the latter underneath, as in the question mark. The two stood for "io," the Latin exclamation of joy. The paragraph mark is a Greek "p," the initial of the word paragraph. The early printers employed a dagger to show that a word or sentence was objectionable and should be cut out.

The Motion Picture.

An old town official of the city of Macon, Ga., says in Short Stories that during the night of the earthquake disturbances of 1886 the city council was in session.

When the quake shook the city hall from basement to attic, the councilmen ran out, thinking the house would topple over, whereupon the wag who kept the minutes of the meeting concluded his record with the following sentence:

"On motion of the city hall the council adjourned."

Breaking It to Him Gently.

Carrie—When that fat Mrs. Soper came in, there was a fat hat in one of the chairs, and she sat right down upon it.

Harry—By George, but that was a good one! If I'd been there, I believe I should have split with laughter.

Carrie—I don't think it Harry. You see, it was your hat.

She Might.

"I wonder if she regrets her marriage."

"Why should she?"

"Well, you know they are both literary, and now her husband thinks himself entitled to every bright idea she has."

The first cannon was carried by soldiers, and one man held it in both hands while the other fired it.

Baby's Own Tablets.

For Weak, Sickly and Fretful Children of All Ages.

If the children's digestive organs are all right, the children are all right. They will be hearty, rosy, happy—and hungry. Get the little ones right and keep them right by the use of Baby's Own Tablets. This medicine cures all stomach and bowel troubles, nervousness, irritation while teething, etc. These Tablets contain no opiate or poisonous drugs, and mothers who try them once will not be without them while they have little ones. Mrs. D. E. Badgley, Woodmore, Man., says:—"When our little girl was about six months old she caught a bad cold, and was much troubled with indigestion and constipation, and very restless day and night. One of my neighbors brought me some Baby's Own Tablets, and in a few days my little one was regular in her bowels and rested well. I found the Tablets so satisfactory that I now always keep them in the house, and have since found them valuable when she was teething. I can truly recommend them for the ills of little ones."

Children take these Tablets readily, and crushed to a powder they can be given with absolute safety to the smallest infant. The Tablets can be obtained at all drug stores, or you can get them post paid at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y.

Familiarity.

"It isn't true in all cases," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "that familiarity breeds contempt. The more you know about the hind feet of a mule the more respect you have for them."

Do Not Trifle With Them

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Permanently Cures Sick and Nervous Headaches That Make Life Miserable.

Sick and nervous headaches are amongst the worst ills of life. The man or woman who is subject to headache at irregular intervals, goes through life bearing a load of misery and wretchedness that is terrible to think of.

Headaches as a rule result from a disordered condition of the nervous system. Mental excitement, loss of sleep, bodily fatigue and disordered digestion are exciting causes. When the brain becomes tired and debilitated, the whole nervous system is weakened, and headaches result. If the liver is sluggish, the kidneys inactive and digestion deranged, headaches invariably follow. To cure and prevent headache, the nervous system must be strengthened and vitalized. The most persistent cases of headache, nervous feebleness and sleeplessness are permanently cured by Paine's Celery Compound; it is the great reconstructant of the nervous system. Mrs. A. H. Watson, Creemore, Ont., writes as follows:

"For many years I was sorely troubled with violent headache, so that at times I was completely prostrated and unable to attend to household duties. I started to use Paine's Celery Compound, and experienced immediate relief; and since using it I have not had a recurrence of the trouble. I consider Paine's Celery Compound an invaluable remedy, and will always be pleased to say a word for it."

80,000 SOLDIERS IN CAMP

Emperor William Prepared For Four Days' Mimic War.

The Kaiser Himself Will Lead the Cavalry Into Action on Thursday—Roads Are in a Wretched Condition and the Manoeuvres Will Not Be Light on the Soldiers—Earl Roberts at the Emperor's Banquet.

Frankfort-on-Oder, Sept. 9.—Eighty thousand soldiers camped in the open air last night, and 12,000 more are quartered in farm houses. The troops were waiting for the four days' sham battle on an immense scale, that began at dawn to-day. Emperor William left Potsdam at 4 o'clock this morning, in order to be early on the field. A great blue and white pavilion, fringed with gold hangings, has been pitched on the southern shore of the Weissensee and here Emperor William will bivouac Wednesday night. He will lead the cavalry down into action on Thursday. There was some slight skirmishing by the cavalry yesterday. The roads about here are in wretched condition, having been cut up by the recent rains.

The Emperor of Germany was present, sitting opposite the Emperor, with Earl Roberts at his right.

He has tried the scheme with the West Indies and the Canary Islands, and travel to these places has been greatly stimulated.

Mr. Seddon said the cheering of the Boer generals was not consistent with British dignity, and that it would not commend itself to the colonies.

A Farmer and Two Sons Perish in Lake Chemong.

Peterboro, Sept. 9.—A triple drowning accident occurred in Chemong Lake Sunday evening, resulting in the death of Mr. J. M. Roberts of Smith Township and his two sons, aged 10 and 12 years. The three had crossed the lake in a canoe to attend a church service at Indian village, on the reserve on the opposite side of the lake. They left the village to return home at 8.30, and that was the last seen of them. The drifting canoe they had used is regarded as evidence of the drowning. It is supposed that the father, who was a good swimmer, perished in his efforts to save the two lads, who were unable to swim. Mr. Roberts, who is forty-five years of age, and a son of the late Rev. E. Roberts, formerly Baptist minister of Smith, was a very highly respected resident. He was a prosperous farmer, but took a most active interest in church and temperance work.

DEADLY GERMS.

Reported Discovery of the Mierche of Summer Complaint.

New York, Sept. 9.—The death of John D. Rockefeller's grandson "Jack," two years ago, has enabled two students, one at Johns Hopkins, and the other at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, to discover what is believed to be the organism or germ of disease that carries off so many little ones every summer and which is commonly called "summer complaint." Says a Baltimore special to The World:

When little Jack died, two years ago, Mr. Rockefeller is said to have offered a fund of $200,000 to be devoted to research. The outcome of this offer is the reported discovery of the fatal germ. In forty-two cases the organism found is nearly identical with that which produces dysentery in adults.

Hagan, who is a middle-aged man, was taken to the hospital shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday. He claims to have been robbed of a sum of money and several articles of value. How he came by the injuries he does not know. He says he reached the city from Rochester, and with a friend went for a car ride. He remembers going into a saloon, but what followed he does not know. When he came to his senses he found he had been robbed and beaten. A policeman directed him to a doctor, who sent him to the hospital.
