and Cockman drove a long fly to left, which Hoffner allowed to percolate through his paws. The ball went to grass so near the foul line that no one could positively say—except Dean, of course-whether it fell inside or Umpire Weber gave the batter the benefit of the doubt, and Cockman reached third base, sending Gunther home. Here was the chance Dean had the umpire, with a well-feigned look of all his minions followed him in They surrounded Weber and snarled growled and roared and howled until Joe pulled the watch on them. kept up the bluff for about two minutes, walking toward the bench and donning his sweater. But the umpire meant business, and Dean soon peeled off his sweater and trotted into the field again amid the jeers of the crowd. Having made his little kick he felt much relieved, and gave his jaw a rest for three more innings.

In the sixth he broke out again in the same spot, just after Weber had given proof of his impartiality by calling out Sechrist for interference. Cock-man and Keenan opened with singles, and Sechrist came to bat. The former two attempted a double steal, and Conwell threw to third to catch Cockman, but Sechrist was in the way and the sphere went awry. Sechrist dissaying he merely stepped aside to get off Conwell's line of sight; but Weber called him out, and sent the basethe bases were full. Willie Kershaw came to bat, and the first ball pitched the umpire called a ball. From the press stand it looked like a strike the umpire was better qualified to judge. McCann, who has also learned to "play the game" according to Hamilton rules and specifications, set up a howl which gave Dean another gold en opportunity. He rushed in again, shook his finger fiercely in Weber's

A local doctor, with a limited field of observation and experience, will probably say that the fault is in the stomach, liver or heart. Generally he is wrong. The fault is probably in the delicate and important organs that really constitute womanhood. They are weak or diseased. If such is the case, only a doctor of known reputation and wide experience should be consulted. A letter to Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., will secure the free advice of probably the most eminent specialist in these diseases in the world. Dr. Pierce's Favor-ite Prescription has been used with success by tens of thousands of invalid women. Over 90,000 have acknowledged its merits over their signatures. It promptly cures all weakness and disease of the organs disdinctly feminine. All medicine dealers. "I have been a great sufferer from female diseases," writes Mrs. C. C. He was kicking on the general principle of pure cussedness, goaded y the prospect of a whitewash. Webdered Dean to the bench, an act that was loudly cheered. Dean professed to think Weber was only fooling, and marched out to his position, but he was soon forced to march in again, and our own Michael Carney went to center field, Malott going to second

This little rumpus over, attention ntered on Kershaw. Willie had pre-ously struck out twice, but he rose to the occasion, and sent a pretty single to left field, which brought in three runs and landed Willie on ird base. Previous to the race, the jockey, Littlefield, had received his instructions to let his horse take his own position and not to choke him back, and he had in the two previous races. The flag fell promptly, and as the horses came out of the chute the crowd was surprised to see The Friar running along easily at the head of the procession, rating like the true race horse he is. Caldron was in second place, with Rensselaer third, Buddha fourth, and Scottish Chieftain and the others following, none being hel or urged. A furlong from home The Friar was still going along easily, while Rensselaer was at his tail, hard rid-den by Hewitt. That was enough for Littlefield, although he was on much the best horse, and he began riding The Friar, although it was entirely unnecessary, as they passed the judges with The Friar still rating calmly along in the fastest time ever made on

WHILE RIDING A DICYCLE.

Six-Year-Old Freda Heyer Collided With a Truck and Broke Her Neck.

New York, July 12.-Freda Heyer, a 6-year-old girl, who lived with her parents at 1,119 Third street, Roseville near Newark, was killed yesterday while riding a bicycle near the corne of Fifth avenue and North Seventh street. Freda's mother and father are both good riders, and at the child's earnest solicitation they bought her wheel recently and taught her to ride Freda was an apt student, and after a while she was permitted to ride alone in the street in front of her parents' home.

Yesterday afternoon, at the request of Ethel Van Ness and Josie Stoddard, two of Freda's young friends, Mrs. Heyer permitted hep daughter to ride with them on the roads in the suburb of Roseville. The children rode through the Oranges and returned by way of Fifth avenue. Just before they reached Seventh street two trucks going south on the latter thoroughfare Freda, who was riding a few yards in advance of her companions, spurted suddenly and scorched around the corner. Her machine struck the hub of the wheel of the rear truck. The force of the collision wrecked the bicycle and the girl was thrown violently to the ground. When she was carried to the side walk it was discovered she was dead. The physician who examined her said that her neck was broken.
