TOO OLD TO BE ALIVE POLICY ON LIFE PAID

Father of Mrs. Phil Sheridan Informed of His Official Demise.

Washington, Aug. 14.-It is quite a shock for a man to be told that he is dead, as is proved in the case of Gen. Daniel H. Rucker, a retired army officer, the father of Mrs. Phil Sheridan. At the age of 96 still enjoying more health and vigor than most men half his age, the distinguished general has been officially informed by a life insurance company that he is dead. The policy which he has for years been carrying in the company has been cancelled and the insurance has been

The insurance company, like other American concerns of the kind, bases its operations upon mortality tables. Under this system all lives are supposed to have ended before the age of 96 is reached. The company therefore reached that age, "you are supposed to have died and your policy will be settled just as though it had fallen due by reason of your demise.'

Note Shocks General.

This was the substance of the startling note which shocked the general and caused him to seek the local representative of the insurance company The declaration that so far as the life insurance company is concerned he is dead alarmed the civil war hero, and his daughters report that he is greatly worried and too indisposed to discuss his statistical demise.
