THE MORALS OF THE SEXES.

The ladies assembled in their quinquennial sitting at Toronto, discussing a great variety of social problems, took up some that are not often ventilated in public-those connected with sexual relations. Remedies for the evils arising therefrom were suggested-remedies educational, social and legislative. By some speakers it was thought advisable that children should be early instructed in the origin of life-not in general terms, but more specifically the physical origin of an individual human being. One or two tadies advocated the discouragement the different standards which society has adopted in relation to offenses by Pottersburg 6, Derbys 7. Ramblers 5, Cubs 2. That is what happened in the East End League Saturday afternoon, and although the scores do not look like the results of big league games, both contests were well worth while. The first contest ran close until the fourth inning when the Derbys scored five runs on four hits, coupled with bad judgment and fumbles. Until that round it looked as though the Alerts had the game cinched with the tally at 5 to 2, but they were unable to pass the seven mark, securing but one more run before the match closed in the final inning. Baseball Brains-Nit.

In the sixth Flach hit a grounder to Waud near first base. He fell in gathering it in, but threw to second in an effort to catch Myers, the advancing runner, who overslid the sack. Harris then made the most brilliant play of the day, when he stood a foot from the bag, ball in hand, and watched the man walk Two-base hit, Kelly; sacrifice hits, him.
