STORM SEWER SYSTEM NEEDED MANY CELLARS WERE FLOODED

City Engineer Wright Says Only Course Open to Remove the Troubles Is a System of Sewers to Carry Off the Water.

The extremely heavy rains of yester-day impressed upon citizens the necessity of a storm-water system for the city. This morning there were many flooded cellars, and the city engineer's department had a busy time last night and today cleaning up the streets.

The storm proved again that the present sanitary sewage system is allogether inadequate to carry off the volume of storm water poured into them when a heavy rainstorm strikes the city. In many cases, the streets were revertable torrents, and in scores of cases cellars were flooded and other damage caused.

City Engineer Wright declares that there is no relief possible under present conditions. He strongly advocates an independent storm-water system.

FIVE IMMERSED IN THE THAMES

Impressive Ceremony at Front Street on Wednesday Night.

Services Conducted by Rev. G. A. Mc-Kenzie, Pastor of Ottaway Avenue Church.

Despite the hot weather, a crowd of nearly 50 people attended the open-air meeting of the Ottaway Avenue Christian Workers' Church, held last evening, on the river bank on Front street, and witnessed an interesting and impressive baptismal service, in which five candidates were immersed in the waters of the Thames.

The service took place at 7:30, and was conducted by Rev. G. A. McKenzle, formerly pastor of the King Street Christian Workers Church, but who has since that we have been been of the Ottaway mission, since the congritude Joined with that of the Ottaway-church and the Chamber of the Chamber of the Ottaway-church and the Ottaway-church assisted by Mr. Arthur Jacob, both gentlemen being clothed in special waterproof baptismal suits.

Those who were baptized last evening were: Miss Annie Rose Lobb, Miss Mille McKenzle, Mrs. Leslie Barton, Miss Elizabeth Avery and Mr. Arthur Drennan.

Elizabeth Avery and Mr. Artnur Dreinnan.

Each candidate was fully dressed, and at the completion of the service a change of clothing was necessary.

The water was very warm, and not the least uncomfortable, and most of the candidates seemed to enjoy it.

After the baptizing a short open-air service was held, and then the crowd adjourned to the house of Mr. George P. McKechnie; where the regular Wednesday evening prayer-meeting was held.
