moving day of October 1, which anything but good cheer.

Indications are that countless thousands of apartment dwellers, instead of taking the annual house to house jaunt with their lars and penates, will take a little trip to municipal court.

Lunius P. Wilson, counsel to Junius P. Wilson, counsel to the mayor's committee on rent profiteering, said today that thousands of tenants, torn between the possibility of renewing leases for their present abodes at increased rentals, and taking new apartments at exorbitant ures, were adopting the advice of the committee to sit tight where they are and let the courts decide how much they shall pay It probably will take the courts nearly a year to get around to hearing any of the new cases, Mr. Wilson estimated. In the meantime, the tenants will be enabled to keep their present homes, in defiance of the land-lords' efforts to oust them. The new state rent laws prohibit ejections without court pro late rains and in others again to snow have been interpreted in many quarters in this province as applying also to Central and Northern Alberta. Speaking still as a native of Ontario I think there is a widespread failure in Eastern Canada to appreciate the vast distances in the Prairie Provinces and the great differences between different sections in matters of soil, precipitation and agricultural conditions generally. I appeal for equal discrimination in forming opinions based on weather reports from the west.

As a matter of fact except for rains which halted harvesting for only a couple of days, we have had ideal harvest weather this month throughout Central and Northern Alberta. All the wheat is cut and 60 per cent of it is threshed. It is averaging 25 bushels to the acre. There are corresponding yields of other grains. Taken as a whole, this year's crop in Central and Northern Alberta is the best that district has produced.
