A liking for dogs is very general, and there are few homes in our midst without a representative of man's faithful friend, who is looked upon as a member of the family, and who is in many instances well cared for and treated as he should be.

The Victoria Kennel Club should have chiefts and aims beyond the mere holding. The Victoria Kennel Club should have objects and aims beyond the mere holding of an exhibition of dogs annually, or less frequently, and the successful carrying out of these other aims will secure for the club a host of friends and give it a claim on the sympathy and good wishes of the public, and any appeals for support and encouragement will not be made in vain. There is room here for an energetic association of those who love dogs, and desire ciation of those who love dogs, and desire to see them better treated, and there is much to be done in removing apathy and ignorance and resulting mismanagement. A dog should be a pleasure and a pride to its owner, and should not be a neglected outcast, whose midnight howlings annoy a whole neighborhood.
