

A COUREUR DU BOIS.

sions. The company, of course, looked upon the Canadian traders as unauthorized invaders of its territory, for the bulk of the furs they secured were undoubtedly obtained from Indians whose hunting grounds came within the terms of the