Beneficiaries of the pass system are always ready to explain that they are not influenced by such gifts. It is safe to say that the public does not think with them in this respect. Neither do the companies believe that these passes do not exert a softening influence. They are not the kind of people who delight in giving something for nothins. for nothing. The money of ministers of the Crown is as good to them as the money of other people. It is not voluntarily and freely sacrificed. It is sacrificed for a purpose, no matter how indefinitely that purpose may be fixed in the mind of the company by which the pass is issued. There is not one sound argument that can be advanced in defence of by which the pass is issued. There is not one sound argument that can be advanced in defence of the pass system. Even the languid old Globe admits that the evil is in-defensible. Its difficulty is to devise a remedy that will not hurt the feel-ings of its friends at Ottawa and in Queen's Park. The difficulty is final-ly overcome by making the people the scape.goat. Members of parliament cannob be expected to surrender their passes, declares The Globe, until the country is rid of those selfish people who demand local favors from gov-
