

Here's the Coat That's a Winner

IT'S named the "Jutland" perhaps that's why it's finding so much favor.

It's a form-fitting, 2-button, double-breasted style, all hand tailored; and to say it fits like a glove is perhaps the best way to describe the beautiful lines in this classy garment. Of course we don't sell this model to every man who wants a coat because it isn't in reason that every man will like the same style; but we have dozens of other models to please every good taste. From $18.00 to $60.00 we have a range of overcoats that we are proud of, and as for values and fabrics we know that they cannot be beaten by any house in the trade. Looking ahead, figuring ahead and buying ahead, is what keeps our prestige solid in the clothing realms of this big and ambitious city.

DUAL CONTROL OF JAIL FARM IS CRITICIZED

Mayor Expresses Dissatisfaction With System, But Does Not Blame Officials.

At the meeting of the board of control yesterday morning, Mayor Church handed out some severe criticism concerning the administration of the jail farm and also expressed dissatisfaction with the dual control of the city and the government. There were present Property Commissioner Chisholm, Superintendent Morrison, Lady Superintendent Miss Carson, and other officials. The mayor charged that the farm was not conducted on a self-sustaining basis and also that the reformation work carried on formerly by Mr. Hanna for the provincial government was being abandoned. He stated that not one-fourth of the institution was under cultivation and that the farm had cost $700,000, "I am not charging the officials," he said, "but I blame the system."

Con. O'Neill expressed the opinion that the superintendent was doing well and that a great deal of the lack of administration had been caused by reason of the state of health of the late superintendent. "The superintendent had men whom he thought were loyal to him," he said, "but they were anything but loyal to him."

"Is the government abandoning all the social work?" asked the mayor. "Mr. McPherson, the provincial secretary, put a consumptive patient there the other day," said the mayor. "If that is the case we must issue an order right away to stop it," said Controller O'Neill.

Proprietor Commissioner Chisholm told them that the farm would never be self-sustaining. "It is a prison," he said, "and it will be necessary to keep on a large number of guards." He added that there was no farm with the same overhead expenditures that was paying better than this one. Regarding the women's farm, Mr. Chisholm stated that the inmates received three meals a day and two lunches, and in reply to certain criticism that had been made regarding the quality of the food he stated that the food was too good. In October 10,842 meals were served at an average cost of 6.1 cents a meal.

"THE KHAKI CLUB" IS REOPENED FOR SOLDIERS

Rooms at Corner of Dovercourt Road and Queen Street Provide Convenient Meeting Place.

The Khaki Club, Dovercourt road and Queen street, which contributed so much to the comfort of the soldiers in training last winter, has again opened, and is in charge of two veterans, who are always at the disposal of those wanting help and information. The club is open from 2 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays and all men in khaki. The club is splendidly equipped with a gymnasium suitable for all kinds of indoor sports, a 20,000-gallon swimming tank and seven shower baths, an excellent club and reading room, with a piano, books and magazines of all kinds and facilities for writing. Light refreshments may be had at moderate prices and the bath towels are supplied at the laundry cost.

The club is wholly dependent upon voluntary contributions, both money and equipment, and at present is in need of a three-quarter-size billiard table, a set of balls, a rest, cue, etc., a set of boxing gloves, parallel bars, single sticks, books for the library and music of all kinds. The club, which was made a place of meeting for soldiers, particularly those from out of town, last season, entertained men from England, United States, Australia, South America, New Zealand and Mexico. Records show that as many as 540 availed themselves of the privileges of the swimming pool and shower baths last year, and the gymnasium, which was originally meant for sports, was used by a number of battalions from the Exhibition grounds for physical exercises of seating 700 people, has on a number of occasions been used for farewell concerts to men proceeding overseas.

LATE JOHN SHAW WAS PROMINENT IN TORONTO

The city lost yesterday morning by the death of John Shaw, former mayor of Toronto, and an ex-M.L.A., who died at his residence, 40 East Roxborough street, one of the prominent figures in its civil and political life. Born in Toronto in 1837, Mr. Shaw was admitted to the bar in 1879, and occupied a seat on the council from 1884 to 1897, and was mayor of the city in 1897. He represented North Toronto in the legislative assembly from 1908 to 1911, making room for the provincial attorney-general, J. J. Foy, in that year. Finally appointed clerk of the county court of York County, Mr. Shaw identified himself with county affairs until illness impelled him to relinquish office. Members of the council will attend the funeral, which is to be held on Thursday afternoon next, services to be conducted by Ven. Archbishop Cody at St. Paul's Cathedral. The remains interred at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

MEETINGS WELL ATTENDED

Ward Four Committee Rooms for Women Are Visited by Those Eager for Information.

The meetings held in the women's unionist committee rooms of ward four yesterday were both well attended. Mrs. N. W. Rowell told of the women all over Ontario were organizing and working for the Union government. St. Catharines and London were particularly well organized. Mrs. Bundy, Mrs. Bristol and Mrs. W. J. Hanna each said a few words impressing upon the women that this was organization week, and there was no moment to waste, as there was much to do. Edmund Bristol, Dr. Shear and H. C. Hocking were the speakers at the evening meeting. Dr. Shear said that a vote for Union government was a vote for the Union Jack. Mr. Bristol complimented the women on achieving such splendid results. Mr. Hocking explained the nature of the issue and appealed to the women to throw the weight of their influence on the side of those who were upholding the gospel of freedom.

The Wife Must Provide for the Widow

To do so, it is necessary that out of her husband's income a certain percentage is deposited yearly in Life Insurance premiums. This is the only sure method of providing for to-morrow.

The margin between income and expenditure is not very large in the average home, owing to the high cost of living. This margin should be carefully invested so as to provide for future contingencies. Man and his estate becomes a fact at death. The amount of this estate largely depends on the wife because seven-eighths of all estates are comprised of Life Insurance.

Consult us as to how best to provide.
