Kills Inside Germs.

Liquozene is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there alcohol in it.
Its virtues are derived solely from gas
—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and expense. The process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research
everywhere.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are extraordinary. It exhilarates, vitalizes, purifies.
It is a germicide so certain that we publish in every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill.

Liquozone costs 50c. and $1.

THE HIGHEST FEATHER

(Harper's Weekly.)

Walpole once told this story of Lady Allensbury. "On her return from a London tour about 1800, she found that the Duchess of Devon had said the highest feather she this tried to get one higher than the Duchess. Till the luckiness of sending to an undertaker, the word that his 'headpiece' were worn but they were expensively made. The Duchess then hoped to commodate her ladyship.

"Don't be so lazy. There's no room at the top, and you're enough to get there," said the Duke's valet. "I say genuine how clever it is of me to find a new room where there isn't one."

The Theory of Their Trade

In a drafting room, industrial plant or office, the man who has had the promotion and advance in salary that comes with the increased value of an employee who has the skill of a draftsman or profession brings prompt and generous rewards.

But, very few men who are thorough in their knowledge of any line of work, are out of employment. They are hands technically trained and skilled in their work, but with good wages and permanent employment they are not. It is to train men's brains to accept of the conditions and to qualify them to fill the line of work in their line of work, and to make them successful in their career, you can increase your own salary, and you can get yourself for a higher position. A man who is successful.
