JEWISH PILGRIMS
VISIT HOLY LAND

Sailed on Arabic—Are Forerunners of Other Parties.

For the first time in nearly two thousand years the ancient custom of going up to Jerusalem for the Passover Holy Days will be observed this spring when a property of the three great Jewish Holy Days in the spring and fall of the year.

Those sailing in the Arabic pilgrimage party are planning to help in the rebuilding of Palestine as well as to visit the land as tourists. Morris Lurie, one of the party, is actively interested in the Palestine Development Council, of which United States Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis is president. Mrs. il Lurie is taking her eighty-four-year-old father, a retired Canadian farmer, who wishes to spend the rest of his days in one of the Palestine colonies. Joseph Schickler, a leader in the Keren Hayesod campaign, is going with the party to Palestine on his honeymoon, and Mrs. and Mrs. Samuel I. Andron are going to settle there.

"We might as well believe in the infallibility of the Pope as in the infallibility of the Bible," declared Dr. Salem Bland, of Broadway Tabernacle Methodist Church, at the General Ministerial Association yesterday.

The book thousands of years old. We have infallible that are shocking to our moral sense; surely these are incoired. I was ashamed to ask my people to read the 183rd Psalm. And what is the use of an infallible Bible unless you have infallible printers, infallible preachers and infallible readers," continued Dr. Bland.

It was Canon Plumptre's address on "Inspiration" that called forth such hot discussion and Bible quoting at the meeting. "It is like criticising one's mother, to speak thus of the Bible," Canon Plumptre began. "The Bible is the authority of our message. I used to think at one time that higher criticism was the work of the devil, but as I studied the text I realized the uncertainty of it. If I had one man to deal with, I might think he was inspired, but when several writers take the information at hand it is different."

inferred that Orientals did not stick so closely to the truth as we do, but rather wove pictures to teach a lesson, and were not expected to take things too literally. "The camel passing through the eye of the speedle is grotesque to us," said Canon Plumptre, closing his address with the statement, "only through our Lord Jesus Christ is inspiration complete."

Rev. John McIntosh, a firm believer in the infallibility of the Bible.

His reference to the views of the modernists and conservatives was taken exception to by Dr. Cook, and Dr. Cotton. "Why should we think that inspiration ceased after the first hundred years?"

Rev. Ronald MacLeod, after pointing out one or two contradictory passages, said that if we believed the Bible was inspired in its "spirit" and not in the "letter" we could avoid pitfalls.

Bishop Brewing rather startled some with his statement that Paul's episte to the Corinthians, was to the Corinthians and not to the Torontonians. He said that Rev. Mr. McIntosh hadn't followed St. Paul inasmuch as he wan't a married man.

"God seemed to be always on the side of the progressives," declared Bishop Brewing. "If Christ had wanted the Bible coldly set up as a monument he would not have committed its writing to humble men."

The doctrinal argument we read about in the papers today referring to the squabbles of the high and low churchmen, "are the result of applying ist century methods to 20th century days, and both failing to recognize progress and continuously new light."
