ALL WERE WELCOME.

He was a long drawn out individual and certainly felt his own importance. As he entered the chowder mill he put on more size and dog than if he had designed a ferry boat or owned a dry dock. He had carefully inspected all the artists in the window before entering and the clerk had "seen him coming."

"Say, boss," he said, "do you serve lagers here?"

The answer was sharp and to the point, "Cert what do you want?"

TERCENTENARY CELEBRATION

TOMORROW'S PROGRAMME.

The detailed programme for the landing tomorrow morning is as follows: Champlain's ship will leave (Beacon Eddy) at 8.30-8.45, arriving at Market Slip as soon after nine as possible. Below Reed's Point she will fire the first gun as a signal to the Indians at Navy Island to start out to meet the vessel. As they approach, say just above the Custom House, the second gun will be fired, when the canoes will quicken their pace and discharge arrows when near the ship. Champlain and party then go down on their knees, point to Heaven and make signs for peace. The chiefs will then hold the Indians back, and the three chiefs will board the ship, hold a pow-wow and smoke the pipe of peace. Meanwhile the Indians in canoes will paddle on ahead of the ship and land at the slip before the ship anchors. On the arrival of the ship another gun will be fired and the ship will swing round, come to an anchor, lie up as the captain may direct. The second and third chiefs, triars, etc., will be landed first in the war canoe and Champlain, the French captain and the first chief follow. The Indians will be lined up on either side of the slip with No. 2 and No. 1 chief will escort Champlain to the square, followed by De Monts, Fourtincourt, captain and clergy, the Indians closing in behind. On the square all the Indians will squat down, except No. 1 chief, who will stand with the Frenchmen. De Monts plants flag of France and Fourtincourt reads the proclamation claiming the country for France. Champlain and No. 1 chief exchange gifts, the clergy make a prayer and then they smoke the pipe of peace all round, while the Indians get up and do their dance in a circle round them, led by No. 2 chief. No. 1 besting them, while the Indians give a whoop at each time on a sign from chief No. 2. Champlain, De Monts, Fourtincourt and the captain of the ship then take barouche, while the two clergy and as many Indians as can leave their canoes take to backboard, which will go to the bathhouse for other Indians.

Then will come the military parade to Riverview Park, when the monument to the South African heroes will be unveiled. At 2.30 p. m. the athletic sports will be held on the Victoria grounds, at 3 p. m. a baseball game on the Shamrock grounds; at 4 p. m. the unveiling of the monument tablet in the new library; at 4.15 p. m. the firemen's torchlight procession, and at 10 p. m. the illuminated harbor procession.

NARROW ESCAPE.

A young lady, while riding down King street on a bicycle, lost control of the wheel. Down the street and into Market Square she went at ever increasing speed till the crowds on the street thought she would surely be killed. She kept her head however, and succeeded in turning the wheel into St. John street. Here she ran into the curbing of the sidewalk and was thrown. Aside from the disarrangement of her attire she escaped without injury and was soon on her way rejoicing in her miraculous escape.
