BERLIN, Nov. 25—Gen. Wm. Booth's meeting at the Circus Busch was attended by ten counts and 35 barons. One of the latter wanted to come to the penitents' bench, but eventually was satisfied with shaking hands with the General.

Gen. Booth told The Mail and Empire correspondent that he was going to the United States and Canada in January. He said:

"In Japan, where the Government is giving the Salvation Army every facility, the army in the recent famine rescued 3,000 geishas."

BERLIN, Nov. 25—Gen. Wm. Booth's meeting at the Circus Busch was attended by tramps on the West Virginia side of the Ohio river this morning, and after he had been beaten into unconsciousms the was thrown into a fire and so badly burned he will die. Coulter was walking home when the tramps attacked him, took his money, stripped him of his clothing and left him unconscious with his body lying across the still burning coals of a fire. He revived sufficiently to roll away from the fire and give a description of his assilants, who have not yet been around, and roll butter 26c. a pound. The prices of vegetables are unchanged. Turkey is selling for 24c. and 26c. per dozen.

Some dealers have large stocks of case eggs on hand, and while they last these can be purchased for the former prices. When the supply is exhausted 28c. and higher will be charged for eggs of the poorest quality. On Saturday fresh eggs were as high as fifty cents, with very few offering. Butter is also expensive. Good creamery butter is bringing 28c. a pound, and roll butter 26c. a pound. The prices of vegetables are unchanged. Turkey is selling for 20c. per lib., chickens from 75c. to $1 a pair and geese from $1.50 to $1.80.

Decidedly the feature of the openin night was the first appearance i grand opera in this country of Mis Geraldine Farrar, the young America soprano and prima donna of the roy opera house in Berlin, Miss Farrar wa the Juliette, a role in which she h won her laurels in Berlin and els where in Europe.

Before the first act was over, Miss Farrar had won her house, which brought her back again and again at the fall of the curtain. It was not until the end of the balcony scene, however, that the triumph of the American girl, returned to her own people, was girl, returned to her own people, was fully felt. Then, with every seat in the house filled, the audience, composed of the best in art, commerce and finance, waited without a handclap, deeply intent upon solo and duet, until the curtain dropped. Then indeed the young artist had cause to feel that it was into the warm American hearts that she had so quickly sung her way. She was recalled fully a dozen times and at each recall pages carried upon the stage great floral pieces and clusters of American beauty roses. They came until the prima donna and Mr. Roussellier, her Romeo, stood before a high bank of roses and of greenery and still the of roses and of greenery and still the audience called. It was a graceful we come and most gracefully received.
