GET BACK TO SPORT.

Hockey is the game of the season, and it might naturally be expected that the men who play it do so out of love of sport. This belief is, however, greatly weakened by the published accounts of almost every game. Only ten days ago in Montreal several players were rendered unconscious by the brutal actions of their opponents and the management of the Arena rink has decided to prosecute every player who during a game commits an offence punishable by law. In all the games played nearer home, in which our people are of course more directly interested, considerable space is occupied in telling of the penalties imposed for tripping, slashing, looting off side, and for other reasons. It has come to a pretty pass when a threat of fine or imprisonment must be held over the teams to prevent foul play.

The man who trips another, the player who loiters ahead of the puck, or the one who, realizing his inability to help his side by honest work, deliberately commits a foul of any sort, can only be classed with the sharper who stacks the cards, or the gambler who looks into his opponent's hand. It is not sport, and it spoils a game. There may be some satisfaction felt by one team in seeing two or three opposing players decorating the fence, but the spectators who pay to witness decent hockey do not get as much fun out of it. There are no penalties imposed on men who ignorantly break the rules, for no player ever does so without knowing what he is doing.

Hockey games this season, more than ever before, are not tests of skill, but are more in the way of competitions of cheating, and the team which most cleverly avoids the eye of the referee usually wins. This is not sport.

IN A JOGULAR WAY.

The sooner Governor Swettenham loses his job, the better it will be for Jamaica. Not content with making an ass of himself in ordering Admiral Davis to leave Kingston, this pompous official now that he finds public opinion so strongly against him is endeavoring to explain that certain expressions used in his letter were "written in a jocular way." This is only adding insult to injury. The man who could make a joke on such a subject at a time when hundreds of his people were lying dead and thousands of others suffering, is scarcely the type of individual to be given authority in any land. Both Swettenham and Davis are described as pompous and self-satisfied creations. Undoubtedly the former must be of this class, and his dignity has in all likelihood been given a severe jolt by the realization that his action is not warmly supported. A man who could act as the governor has done, can scarcely be expected to see six inches ahead of his nose and thus Swettenham's resignation which is the proper document to be drawn up at this hour will hardly be handed in. He will stick to his office until dismissal comes.

THE TOLL OF BLOOD.

The present season seems to be a particularly unfortunate one at Sand Point. Within three days two young and able men, well known and respected citizens, have met horrible deaths. These were purely accidental but this does not render them any less regrettable. We must, perhaps, expect to pay a toll in blood for our prosperity, and even though the greatest precautions are taken a number of deaths—seemingly are bound to occur each season.

THE KINGSTON RELIEF FUND.

In the light of the press despatches describing the terrible devastation wrought by the earthquake in Kingston, Jamaica, the injury of thousands, the homelessness of tens of thousands, it seems impossible that pecuniary aid is not sorely needed by the stricken people. But against these facts and the personal appeal of Mayor Tait of Kingston for speedy assistance stands the official declaration of the Governor of Jamaica that the colony is capable of healing its own wounds and sundry unofficial advice to the effect that outside relief is not required.

Under the circumstances The Sun, though it believes conditions as it understood them amply warranted the opening of a relief fund and is very grateful to those who so generously contributed, does not feel justified in soliciting further donations until the actual state of affairs is ascertained. Consequently the fund will be allowed to stand until authoritative information is received. If it be discovered that no assistance is required, the money on hand will be returned to the subscribers. If official advice bears out the first statements from the scene of the earthquake, the money, together with any further offerings that may be received, will be forwarded to the proper authorities.

—The Sun.

THE NINETEEN AND NINE.

There are nineteen and nine that live and die in hunger and want and cold. That one may live in luxury and be wrapped in its scarlet fold. And nineteen and nine in hovels bare, And one in a mansion rich and fair.

They toll in the fields, the ninety and nine, For the fruits of Old Mother Earth, They dig and drive in the deep, dark mine To bring its treasures forth; And the wealth thus gained by their sturdy blows Into the hands of one forever flows.

By the sweat of their brows the prairie blooms And the trees are made to fall That they may build the humble homes And cities with mighty walls. The one has cities and homes and lands; The ninety and nine have empty hands.

They plow the seas to far distant lands And gather the treasures rare To furnish the mansion so rich and grand.

For the one who dwelleth there, And the ninety and nine may starve and die, That the one on a bed of down may lie.

Oh, think ye ones who are so unjust That for your homes to deck Would trample the image of God in the dust And tread upon His neck. That the ninety and nine shall live on high, While the one in torment may forever die.

Wm. E. Caldwell, in Pittsburg Dispatch.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT LEADS TO MANY CRIMES

Young Man Smitten With Girl's Charms Proposes Marriage, and is Rejected.

GENEVA, Jan. 22.—Emil Roost, an impulsive young man of 23, fell violently in love, became a housebreaker and committed murder, all in twenty-four hours.

Last Thursday Roost, who had the reputation of being an impulsive young man, met in the street of his native village, Bregenz, in Schaansee, Frauslin Rosa Bollinger, the pretty 17-year-old daughter of Herr Bollinger, who lives in the same terrace. She was home from school for the holiday, and had been buying some toys when Roost saw her. He fell in love, followed her home, introduced himself and proposed on the doorstep.

The girl laughed, thinking it a joke, and banged the door in his face. That afternoon Roost interviewed her father, and asked for the girl's hand. When he was met with a sharp refusal he promptly thrashed Herr Bollinger. The same night he broke into the Bollingers' house with an axe, entered the room where the girl was sleeping and again asked her to marry him. The indignant and frightened girl refused, and was cut to pieces by the murderer, who, after the crime, walked to Schaffhouse and gave himself up to the police.

BRIEF DESPATCHES.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—The French and Spanish Ambassadors today notified the Foreign Office of the imminent withdrawal of the French and Spanish warships from Moroccan waters. Foreign Secretary Tschirsky, who received the Ambassadors, said that Germany would do everything possible to moderate the installation of the international police in Morocco.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The cold wave, which has been the suddenness of yesterday has reached Great Britain. The temperature fell 20 degrees today and there is a boisterous easterly wind with threat of snow.

Almost the whole of Europe is now involved in this cold wave, a feature of which is the suddenness of the fall in temperature in Western Europe. There has been a heavy fall of snow at Naples and in the Swiss Alps, while in Germany, Austria and Russia the severity of the weather is increasing and causing intense discomfort and suffering. Vienna reports the lowest temperature recorded in fifty years.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 22.—Harry Lewis, of Philadelphia, knocked out Rube Smith, of Denver, in the eighth round here tonight.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 22.—Orders have been issued from headquarters of the department of the Missouri at Omaha that the battalion of 300 engineers now at Fort Riley, Kas., leave that post February 23 and go to Omaha, where the battalion will be stationed.

IN POSSESSION.

(From the London Daily News.) A queer announcement reaches us from the Streatham neighborhood, where a correspondent has just received from a French gentleman a circular beginning: "I beg to inform you that I have taken possession of the railway clear store with umbrellas and sticks, also the hairdresser shop combined."

THE FLOODS SUBSIDING ON THE OHIO RIVER

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 22.—Twenty-four hours after the crest of the flood has passed this point, the Ohio river had gone down one foot and the slow recession continued steadily. Colder weather was promised for tonight and tomorrow and the relief organizations redoubled their efforts to care for those suffering from lack of shelter or food.

Many instances of peculiar hardships were reported during the day and new cases of need were hourly added. The cessation of the high wind and the lowering of the water has reduced the possibility of heavy loss. It is still too early for estimates of damage. The railways began preparations for the resumption of regular traffic, although it will be several days before the tracks will be safe.

HIGH CLASS LAUNDERING.

Not only in laundering shirts and collars has the New Unger Laundry plant proved superior, but delicate fabrics, and fine garments of all kinds are cleaned with such care and thoroughness, that patrons are perfectly delighted with the results. The Unger people are determined to keep fully up to the hour in high-class laundering.

The Wizard of a Big Hit

The Wizard of the Nine was again presented at the Opera House last evening to an audience who were unanimous and most enthusiastic in proclaiming it the best production of comic opera ever seen here. From the opening overture to the fall of the curtain on the last act the large audience present were treated to a kaleidoscope of gorgeous costumes with brilliant electrical effects, set with scenery that is most impressive and beautiful. The opera itself is a delightful mingling of great comedy with music that is fine enough for grand opera.

The hue and cry was raised, and when night came along the body on the church steps.

A great crowd followed him to jail, seeking to lynch him, and struggling with the police who guarded him.

Today Giovannina was buried, and all Rome followed her coffin. The hearse was laden with wreaths, and workmen's societies and citizens of all classes formed a solemn procession.

When the cortege arrived opposite the Church of St. Lawrence, where the body was found, Signor Maza, formerly a parliamentary deputy, delivered an oration expressing the public loathing of the crime.

TRAFFIC SUSPENDED
WEST OF PORT ARTHUR

Heavy Snowstorms and a Series of Accidents Make it Impossible for Trains to Run

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 22.—Traffic eastward is demoralized and no train has come in from the east or west since Saturday. Added to the snow in the west, a bridge at Sunshine has been badly damaged by a run off and another train was off at English river, also one near Chapleau, and one was partly consumed by fire near White river.

Such a number of accidents is most unusual and perhaps may be attributed to the severe cold and deep snow which has covered the railway.

SHIPWRECKED MEN ARRIVE.

The five surviving seamen of the schooner Horace G. Morse, which was wrecked off Bliss Island on Monday, arrived in the city last night. They were: H. W. Calhoun, mate; George Phillips, of Annapolis, N. S.; Michael Damgaard, Denmark; J. G. Jesse, Amsterdam; and Geo. Smith, Parrsboro.

Mr. Damgaard stated that on Saturday night the storm commenced and huge waves struck the schooner. It was with difficulty that she was kept upright. A light was seen and Capt. Kearney thought that it was the Beaver harbor light. He announced his intention of putting in at Beaver Harbor for the night. Bliss Point Light had been mistaken for the harbor and the wreck was the result. The Morse wrecked hard fast on a rock. She was only about forty feet from shore. Mate Calhoun and Seaman Connolly volunteered to stay on board. Just then a huge wave came and carried Capt. Kearney to his death. Damgaard had hold of the captain, but the powerful under-carryer the slipper from him.

Calhoun and Connolly were washed overboard. Calhoun reached shore but Connolly was seen no more. The surviving mariners were cared for at Bliss Point Light.

TOMORROW NIGHT'S CARNIVAL.
