The condition of the stores was in general good and in several places where things might be improved the advice given had been politely accepted. Mrs. Silas Alward had visited the shops in Brunsell, and while she found some perfectly satisfactory others could be improved upon. Mrs. Raymond had visited a few city shops and found some excellent others needing conditions altered.

ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN AT LYRIC BIG SUCCESS

Great War Veterans' Funds Added to Through Efforts of Patriotic West Side Young Ladies.

The Lyric Theatre was well filled last night to see the young ladies of the West Side Field Comforts Association put on the three-act comedy, "Brosey Point." The production was staged in first class style and much credit is due the performers who gave a first class interpretation of the play. The young ladies were excellent in their various roles, but the work of Miss Ross was when she learned that the French maid had stolen her lover, Willie Pugsley, in worthy of special mention, and her "I Wouldn't Give a Fig For All the Willie Pugsleys Between Here and Ottawa" brought down the house.

The entertainment was for the benefit of the Great War Veterans' Association and the entire proceeds go for that object. The furniture used in the stage settings was loaned by M. R. A. and the theatre was given free of all charge by F. O. Spencer.

HAIR OFTEN RUINED BY CARELESS WASHING.
If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoo or anything else, that dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

THE MOVIES THE PLAYERS

There was a good deal of humor in the picture applied by the screen into which "Eddie" (Jane Caprice) got at the school and the primness of the two teachers who are constantly being shocked by their irresponsible pupils.

The curly girl called May, whose real name is not given in the programme is also very beautiful. There is an artist who sits with all the scholars and is far from a card boarder.

Melville Doolittle, manufacturer of cutlery, and Miss H. Smith, Richard Coleman, R. G. Johnson, Chas. Greenon, A. Gibb, Specialists.

Instrumental selection, the Misses Hawker. Dancng, Baby Lorna Waring. Vocal solo, selected, Mrs. Murray Long. Dancng, the Gibb trio.

Much of the credit for the excellence of the production was due to the untiring efforts of Miss Grace Allingham, who had charge of the rehearsals for the play.

IMPERIAL. Paddy O'Hara played by a man called William Desmond by anything but Irish and romantic, funny and sentimental! Well, it is all of those things and what a rattling good picture. The princess possessed to withstand his wiles and his haunting Irish eyes. His prowess in the way of throwing man about, leaping down walls and riding off with his wife may have had something to do with the attraction of her feelings, for most women love strength, so I'm told. Anyway I liked this Triangle picture very much and so will those who see it, I feel sure.

The Country Life Series was rather amusing to watch. At first two men behind me thought there was too much laughing and laughing, but soon they got the humor of the plot and joined in the chuckles that followed the setting of the hills comedy of errors. Charles Richmond and "Jimmy" Morrison figure in this picture as well as Mrs. Blackton and her sister, Jewel Hunt.

A comedy, a Keystone one, with a strong setting, added a very good programme at the Imperial.

STAR THEATRE. "The Masked Stranger." This was my first view of June Caprice, and it was interesting to see the little girl about whom I had read so much in the Fox News. She is certainly a charmingly attractive Miss and full of the mischief from
