Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good".

OBITUARY.

Glen L. Atkinson.

Norton.—A veil of sorrow and grief was spread over our village on Tuesday, February 23rd, when the angel of death claimed all that was mortal of our friend Glen L. Atkinson. Having been ill only a few days, and being in the first years of his manhood, the closing of his life circle came as a crushing sorrow to his relatives and friends.

Having possessed a personality which nature surely endowed with all gifts of his lavish hand, and a kindly and loving disposition, he endeavored himself to all who were fortunate enough to have been his friend, and to have known him was to love and respect him.

In his passing from this vale of tears to the life eternal beyond the grave, Norton is robbed of a young life which it could ill afford to lose. The home of our departed friend is mourning its sad but irrevocable loss.

The heart-felt sympathy of the community is extended to those sorrowing who he has left behind, and there are many in this village and many more in other parts, who will, while life and memory lasts, remember their friend Glen L. Atkinson.

The Baptist Church here on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 24, when the obsequies of our departed friend were held, was filled to capacity, representing all classes of the community. The immense gathering bore testimony to the place which the deceased held in the esteem of all.

The cortege to the cemetery was followed by sorrowing relatives and friends. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful, bearing silent testimony of the love of those from whom he has gone.

Leonard D. Williams.

Holdenville, June 23.—The death of Leonard D. Williams occurred here, June 21st, after undergoing an operation for appendicitis. The deceased, who was 36 years of age, was a highly esteemed resident of the place. Besides his widow, who was Miss Minnie Holder of Long Beach, he leaves one son, 3 years old and an infant daughter. Six brothers also survive.

The funeral was held on Tuesday from his late residence, service being conducted by Rev. Mr. Ramsey, interment taking place in Methodist Cemetery at Long Beach.

PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION MET

The Public Utilities Commission of New Brunswick met yesterday in regular session at the Government House. In the morning the application of the York and Carleton Telephone Co. for an increase of rates was returned. An order will be issued later by the board. At the afternoon session routine business only was transacted.

STORY OF DR. MENZIE'S HEROIC SACRIFICE

Although Unarmed He Attacked Single-Handed Band of Chinese Bandits.

Vancouver, B. C., June 23.—The first detailed account has just reached the city of the heroic death of Rev. James R. Menzies, M. D., D. D., the well-known Chinese missionary, who has relatives in Vancouver, at Pitt Meadows, and on Vancouver Island. He was in his fifty-fourth year, and leaves a family living in Toronto. The description of his murder, while defending two lady workers, Miss Lethbridge and Miss Brydon, at Hwaling, is contained in the House Messenger, of Welwel, which he was editing at the time of his death.

It appears that Dr. Menzies, although unarmed, without hesitation attacked the band of robbers which was ravaging the ladies' quarters. He knew the strength of the marauding party, but this did not prevent him from making his single-handed assault on the robbers, who numbered probably between fifteen and twenty.

"On Wednesday night about ten o'clock, a band of robbers attacked the ladies' house. After gaining entrance to the compound they proceeded to the house, broke the glass in the front door and entered. One of the ladies escaped to the upper verandah and where she succeeded in concealing herself, the others were ordered to show the robbers where the money was kept.

"Dr. Menzies, whose house was some slight distance off heard calls for help and at once ran out. The lady on the upper verandah caught sight of him as he crossed the road by a newly white-washed bridge, and succeeded in acquainting him with the state of affairs. Replying 'I am not armed,' he passed down from the bridge, to approach the house. The robbers had left a man on guard at the gate, but when he saw the bridge being crossed he fired a shot. When he heard Dr. Menzies' voice, he raised an alarm, and called to the robbers indoors to hurry out. Dr. Menzies and this man came together in the dark, grappled. In the midst of their struggle the rest of the robbers ran out and surrounded them. Flashes from a revolver followed.

"The whole band made their escape. One of their number was found next morning some distance outside the premises, killed by a shot apparently intended for Dr. Menzies.

"In the judgment of the doctor who examined the wounds, one bullet had entered Dr. Menzies' body and entered that of the robber with whom he was struggling.

"By the time Mr. Stimson, whose house was the farthest away, reached the scene, all was over. He found the doctor lying on the ground, fully conscious that his end was near. He died within half an hour."

Friends. The groom served with the Canadian forces in France, and during furlough in England met Miss Curtis. The meeting resulted in a love match. Mr. and Mrs. Kinneer left this afternoon for Boston to spend their honeymoon and on their return will reside in Moncton.
