and scored them for not having the courage to proceed with an investigation this session. Sir Louis Davies introduced a bill to amend the act respecting the protection of navigable waters. The law as it stends prevents the dumping of ship refuse into navigable waters of a less depth than 16 fathoms. Harbor commissioners, however, allow ships to damp bellast into certain parts of harbors and Sir-Louis' bill is to make such legal.

The bill providing for the purchase of the Brummond county railway came up for its second reading.

Mr. Kaulbach, of Lunenburg, attacked the scheme and Mr. Rufus Pope, Compten, did as he did last year in this connection—took a position in favor of the bill and against that of his party. He claimed that the feeling was almost unanimously in favor of the extension of the Intercolonial to Montreal and this being the case, he did not think there should be so much hagaing about the price. He said that the Intercolonial had lost $6,500,000. With the Montreal extension he thought the Intercolonial should prove a paying institution, and to prove his contidence he was prepared to Isase the road for 30 years, pay maintenance expenses, including $140,000 rental for using the G.

charges were such that their proof would remove the judge from the bench. There was a great delay in connection with the investigation, and Judge Spinks himself several times urged expedition. It was the duty of the government to have rushed the investigation because if the judge was guilty of improper conduct there should be no delay in his removal from the bench. Sir Hibbert made a very exhaustive seview of the case, and concluded by a motion which after setting forth the facts asserted that the investigation was ill considered and a waste of public money.

Alascan Protocol.

OTHAWA, June 4—The Canadian gov ernment has been notified by the imperial government that they can publish the protocol in reference to the Alaska boundary. In fact it is understood that it has been given out in England. When the protocol becomes public it will be seen that the contention in the press despatches from Washington and New York that Canada was the obstacle to arbitration will be dissipated. What

The solicitor general said there were rumors in circulation which would impair his usefulness as a jadge if not investigated. He thought the government was justified in issuing a commission to put an end to this condition.

Mr. Morrison referring to Hibbert Tupper's criticism of Sir Oliver Mowat as minister of justice said that if there were to be comparisons in regard to past ministers of justice there was about as much between Sir Hibbert Tupper and Sir O iver Mowat as between a singled cat and a bengal tiger. to amend the law at the next meeting of the Lord Jesus it makes a man who is a the provincial legislature. If the prov. refuse into navigable waters of a less Friday at the new quarters of the Sea- ince should consent to amend the act complained of by Japan, then Mr. Chamberlain suggests that the dominion should pass a law somewhat similar to the Natal act, and in this way British Columbia would be protected from the inroads of Japanese about as effectually as if the of Japanese about as effectually as if the present bill remained on its provincial statute book. It is the objectionable character of the act which is regarded as an insult upon its people, that Japan complains of, and not as to any other result it may have against them. Japan is a friendly ally of Great Britain, and it is regarded by the imperial government that, in the interests of Canada and Great Britain alike, this friendship ought to be maintained in the orient, more especially when the object sought for can be attained in another way. It is understood that the dominion government have communicated with the British Columbia government to see if they suggest any municated with the British Crimbia government to see if they suggest any remedy in the matter. If not, then it goes without saying that the legislation will have to be disallowed. The same act contains the restrictions on Chinese immigration, as what the provincial government had done was to apply the Chinese act to the Japanese, and the latest in disallowed it chinese act to the Japanese, and if the act is disallowed it will place the Chinese on the same footing as the Japanese, which neither the imperial or dominion governments desire to do. Indeed it is under consideration here at the present time to increase the poli tax on Chinese and it will be generally received that under consideration here at the present time to increase the poil tax on Chinese and it will be generally regretted that the provincial law against them will have to be disallowed. But under the circumstances, should the province refuse to act at the suggestion of the home government, there will be no option.

Section 180 of the criminal code deals with sending objectionable matters, such as indecent and obscene, through the mails, scurrilious mail matter causes serious trouble to the post office department and the sending of it is a grave offence, but there is at present no prevision in the code dealing with it. The object of the amendment is to supply the omission of section 285.

Section 285 regarding defamatory libel is changed to read "of or concerning whom it is published.

Canadian Government to Disallow the Anti-Japanese Act—
Western Province Refuses to Amend it.

Ortawa, June 4—The British Columbia government have notified the dominion government that they will not amend the anti-Japanese legislations of that the provincial bill will be disallowed.

Ortawa, June 4—The imperial government through the colonial secretary, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, has asked the Canadian government to disallow the anti-Japanese legislation of British Columbia passed by the late Turner government if the provinces does not agree to amend the law at the next meeting of the world, or is it because of our army? Rather it is the men behind the bulwarks; the kind of stuff our men arm and of men you and I are. Is it not because as a ration we have the place where God's presence is noticed? It is for us to know that men and women can go into the presence of God. It all depends on us being able to take that word of good.
