

"Send Burton," and he breathed again, "to check them in retreat,
To guard St. Charles's bridge and plain, and make secure defeat."
Alas! 'twas duty's last behest, in faintest whisper sighed,
For death his soldier-victim pressed and would not be defied.

