Editorial Talk

This week's issue is made artistically attractive by a double-page coloured cut, "The Disputed Trail," a spirited Western scene such as John Innes knows how to depict. The cover design is by Mr. F. S. Challenger, one of Canada's best colourists in art, who is to give THE COURIER some of his latest and most finished productions. The article on the government of India by Mr. E. J. Kylie supplies interesting information about the land where King Edward is Emperor, while a page of fakir pictures shows the India that is passing away. The lighter side of life has not been forgotten and the mine of Canadian anecdote has been worked with sparkling results. Sport is represented in the gathering of the curling clans at Montreal.

Next week "The Romance of the Yukon," by H. A. Cody, with special illustrations will afford our readers a glimpse of the Real North. The Civil Service Reform discussion will be resumed in an article showing the Massachusetts method of dealing with the problem.
