

Volunteer Centre: Bringing people together

By JO ANN STEVENSON
This could be the start of something good.
This inviting motto represents the welcoming attitude that the Volunteer Centre of Peel has towards the people it serves. The purpose of the centre is to bring together volunteers and all the jobs that need doing in the community.
Laurene Mumford, executive director of the Centre, works full time with one part-time salaried person and 11 volunteer staff members. Among them they find volunteers to work with about 100 agencies in Peel county. They learn the agencies' needs and get to know the more than 1,000 volunteers who have made themselves available to help our community.
The centre is located above the Consumer's Distributing store at 93 Dundas St. E. just east of Highway 10. 275-4299.

The office is open week-days from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Three volunteers work Tuesday evening from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m.
The United Way finances 50 per cent of the operating budget of the centre. The region finances another significant portion with the rest made up from support of foundations and service clubs such as the Mississauga Rotary Club. The board of the centre has held two fund-raising events, a dance and a bridge night. Private donations provide support as well.
In September, 1975 the doors were opened. Since that time the number of agencies using the service has increased tremendously. Last year, 608 volunteers were interviewed and referred to agencies. To date, 710 volunteers have been placed this year.
WHO ARE THESE VOLUNTEERS?
Approximately 20 per cent of the volunteers are men. Twenty volunteers are seniors, over 60 years of age. Most are women. All have found time to improve the quality of community life around them while they broaden their own horizons and meet new people.

Three university students have been employed over the past two summers. They managed a recruitment program aimed at unemployed high school students. As well as serving a need in the community, these students were able to get experience and then make decisions about their own future careers.
Sometimes the volunteer has a special talent like a second language and can be used as an interpreter in a school or medical situation. Occasionally, visitors on a six-month visa offer their services for a short time. Sometimes a person new to the community finds volunteer work a good way to make new friends.

The hours of time donated are tailored to suit the individual volunteer and need not be regulated as in the past. Some volunteers work on a one-to-one basis with a person who has a special need.
The decision about where a person will work always is made jointly by the volunteer, the agency and the volunteer centre. Often volunteers are given training at the agency with which they are placed.
Last year at this time, the centre was busy responding to a potential community crisis situation — the swine flu epidemic. They also help out on seasonal activities, like the Christmas Bureau.
Once a school phoned for a volunteer grandfather on behalf of a boy who was regressing badly. The volunteer, an elderly gentleman, just spent time with the child until their relationship grew to one of trust and friendship. The boy's attitude towards school improved dramatically.

After Christmas a program is starting which will carry news about this service into industries and businesses in the hope of attracting people who are about to retire.
HOW CAN AN AGENCY QUALIFY?
Any registered and non-profit-making agency automatically qualifies to use this service. Sometimes a profit-making organization is considered under guidelines set up by the board.
Not only in Mississauga, but throughout Peel county, estimated millions of dollars are saved by the free services provided by volunteers. Tremendous people-power has been tapped, people dedicated to a better quality of life for our community. They are owed a big thank-you.

Tastes of The Times

Jo Ann Stevenson

A new column by JoAnn Stevenson starts this week — all about food. It will be chock full of hard-earned tips and recipes gleaned from willing friends and neighbors (and from the necessity of providing her own growing family with variety, quality, quantity and economy, well blended, in ever-increasing amounts).
The tips and recipes are intended to save you money, save you time and save your image. Let us know if they're working.

Did you have turkey at New Year's? Again? There are alternatives to turkey sandwiches. Use that left-over turkey and have it successfully, again and again.

Mix in with rice. Place pineapple slices on top and heat through, in oven, about 30 minutes. Serves 6.

SUNSHINE TURKEY

- 1 2/3 cups finely sliced carrots
- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 1/3 cup orange juice
- 2/3 cup water
- 2 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. grated orange rind (optional)
- 1/4 tsp. poultry seasoning
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1 1/2 cups diced cooked turkey
- 1 cup uncooked rice or 1 1/3 cups minute rice.

Sauté carrots in butter until almost tender. Add onion and brown lightly. Add the remaining ingredients (except turkey and rice) and bring to a boil. Stir in turkey and rice. Cover and simmer 15 minutes for uncooked rice and six minutes for minute rice.

TURKEY CURRY

- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine
  - 1 1/4 cups finely chopped pared apple.
  - 1 clove garlic minced
  - 1/2 cup chopped onion
  - 2 tsp. flour
  - 2-3 teaspoons curry powder
  - 1 tsp. salt
  - 2 cups milk
  - 2 cups cubed cooked turkey
- Melt butter. Add apple, onions and garlic. Cook five minutes. Stir in flour, curry powder and salt. Slowly blend in milk. Cook and stir until thick. Add turkey. Heat through. Serve with rice. In separate dishes, offer raisins, peanuts or chutney.

TURKEY-SALAD

- 1 1/4 cups coarsely diced cooked turkey
  - 1/4 cup mayonnaise
  - 1 cup chopped celery
  - 2 tbsp. chopped sweet pickle
  - 1 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
- Toss together these ingredients. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Chill. Serve on lettuce.

HOT OR COLD TURKEY PUFFS

- Milk pastry:
12 oz. all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
3 oz. each margarine and shortening
6 tablespoons milk to mix
- Sift together the dry ingredients, rub in the margarine and shortening. Mix to a stiff dough adding milk.

FILLING

- 1/2 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
  - 8 oz. cold turkey coarsely chopped
- Mix turkey well into cold, undiluted soup.
Turn dough out onto a floured board and knead lightly. Roll out to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut into rounds using a saucer as a guide. Add filling to each round. Fold pastry over and seal with a fork. Put on a greased tray and bake at 425 for 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

HAWAIIAN TURKEY

- Our thanks to Caroline Marlow
Heat 1 tablespoon salad oil in a frying pan. Add 1 cup of uncooked rice. Stir until the rice is browned. Put the rice in a two-quart casserole. Add 1 1/2 to 2 cups of broth or stock. Cover and bake for one hour at 350 degrees. Add more broth if it seems to dry out.
Put two tablespoons salad oil in a frying pan. Add 2 cups sliced celery, 1 cup coarsely chopped onion, 1/2 cup coarsely chopped green pepper. Cook until tender.
Add 1 tablespoon soya sauce and two cups cooked turkey or chicken.
Heat 1 cup of syrup from a tin of pineapple. Dissolve one chicken bouillon cube. Add this to the turkey and vegetables in the pan. Cover and simmer for five minutes.

Turkey puffs, devilled eggs and hot bread combine to make an appetizing Sunday night supper.

Chico and the man

Chico is a Mexican red-leg tarantula. The man is Gerd Juengal, owner of the Applewood Pet Shop. Gerd had to keep his cool for an hour so our man with a camera, Ken Kerr, could get this sensational shot. If Gerd had shown his fear, the tarantula would have become alarmed and bitten. The sting is not poisonous but more painful than the sting of a wasp.
