ADVERTISE IN THE PLANET

ATTACK A JAP HOSPITAL

Artillery and Infantry Drove Back Russian Cavalry.

Russians Repulsed When They Moved to the South—Slight Skirmishes in Manchuria Which May Be Pre-ludes to a General Battle—Russia to Have National Defence Council to Direct Army and Navy.

Tokio, May 22.—It was announced Saturday evening from the headquarters of the Japanese army in the field that the Russian forces advanced southward May 18 to the vicinity of the railway. The Japanese engaged them and drove the Russians northward.

A Russian Admission.
Gunshu Pass, 108 miles north of Tie Pass, Manchuria, May 22.—A general engagement is imminent. Field Marshal Oyama is deploying heavy forces against General Linvitch's left, and is contracting his troops along the centre, but his base is opposite the Russian right. It is not yet clear which wing is making a demonstration, and which will deliver the main blow. It is evident from Linvitch's preparations that he intends to accept a decisive battle.

Attack a Jap Hospital.
Simultaneously five hundred Russian cavalry attacked a Japanese field hospital at Kiangpin, on the right bank of the Liao River. Japanese artillery and infantry dispersed the attacking cavalrymen, inflicting heavy losses upon them.

"Malicious Fabrication." Tokio, May 22.—It is officially announced that "the press report circulated in Europe about the removal by Japan of the Korean Emperor to Japan has absolutely no foundation, such an idea having never occurred to the Japanese Government. The report must be taken as a malicious fabrication circulated to do mischief to Japan."

A National Defence Council.
St. Petersburg, May 22.—The first step towards the creation of a long-contemplated council of national defence, to co-ordinate the activities of the military and naval administrations, has been taken in an Imperial manifesto creating a special preliminary committee under the presidency of Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaievich. The formation of the council and the assumption by it of control of the war is expected to ensue shortly, as the main details have already been worked out. The dispatch of Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaievich, who is designated as the president of the permanent state defence council, to Manchuria to assume direct command of the Imperial forces there, has been several times seriously considered, and he has served repeatedly of late as representative of the Emperor on commissions dealing with vital questions of the war.

The step is an extremely important one, for which the events of the war in the Far East have shown the necessity, the two departments failing to work together to the detriment of the army, even when actuated by the most harmonious feelings, and friction has been often manifested.

The council is created, not for the present war, but as a permanent organism of the state superordinating the War and Navy Departments, and even overshadowing the other ministries. It is understood the formation of the new council means the definite abandonment of the plan of sending Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaievich to the Far East to assume supreme command on land and sea. Gen. Linvitch and Vice-Admiral Birlikoff will be left unimpeded except as to the grand duke's outlines of strategy.

Champagne in Russian Army.
St. Petersburg, May 22.—Despatches from Harbin report a carnival of drunkenness and dissipation among the hangers on of the rear army. Champagne at $5 a bottle is said to be flowing like rivers, dives are abundant, and a multitude of sharpers and gamblers are reaping a rich harvest. The Emperor, at Gen. Linvitch's request, has appointed a new provost marshal-general, and the commander-in-chief intends to restore order and institute more satisfactory conditions in the rear.

Port Arthur Investigation.
St. Petersburg, May 22.—The commission investigating the surrender of Port Arthur has finished the first half of its labors. The investigation of documentary evidence presented by Gen. Stoessel in his own defence tending to show that the fortress at the outbreak of war was nearly defenceless, without supplies or cash.

The Boulenger Commission.
St. Petersburg, May 22.—The Boulenger commission has practically completed its labors and will recommend the establishment of a representative assembly with limited legislative powers. The project will be published at the end of May.

INCREASING THE BRITISH NAVY.

Launch of Battleship and Armored Cruiser—Bids for Turbines Asked.
London, May 22.—The first-class battleship Africa, of 16,350 tons, was launched at Chatham dockyard yesterday. She is of the new Edward VII. type, and when completed will have cost $1,500,000.

The new armored cruiser Cochrane, of 15,500 tons displacement and of the Duke of Edinburgh type, was launched at Glasgow yesterday.

The Admiralty has invited engineering firms of Glasgow to make tenders for the construction of turbine machinery intended for one of the new battleships to be built in the Government dockyards. The specifications demand that the engine develop 33,000 horsepower.

OBSTINACY'S BLOCKADE

Chicago's Big Strike Will Now Grow Bigger.

Refusal of Express Companies to Reengage Strikers Means General Upheaval—This Time Affiliated Industries May Be Affected—Sheriff Barrett Says Spread Will Mean That Troops Will Have to Be Called Out.

Chicago, May 22.—Sunday brought no change in the attitude of either side to the labor controversy now in progress in Chicago, and everything last night pointed to an extension of the teamsters' strike during the coming week. Officers of the seven express companies, whose refusal to re-engage any of their former employees, caused the collapse of the settlement of the trouble Sunday night, still adhere to their determination not to re-employ any of their former employees, and the other firms involved in the difficulty last night declared that they would stand by the express companies in the fight. The Teamsters' Union has taken just as firm a stand as the employers' and it was said by President Shea last night that the union would not call off the strike until the express companies came to terms.

Spread Begins To-Day.
The first spread of the strike is expected to come this morning, when the Lumbermen's Association, which has an organization of 2,400 teamsters, issued an order to their men to make deliveries to all business houses, regardless of whether they are involved in the strike. In anticipation of such an order, the teamsters met yesterday afternoon and voted to go on strike should any attempt be discharged for refusing to obey the order of the Lumbermen's Association.

With non-union drivers making deliveries for the lumbermen, the strike was immediately spread to affiliated industries, as the union men employed on buildings will refuse to handle material delivered by non-union labor. Should the lumbermen's strike be called today, and there was nothing last night that would indicate how it can be avoided, there seems to be nothing that can prevent a general industrial upheaval throughout Chicago.

Sheriff Barrett said, after being informed of the action of the teamsters' joint council: "It simply means that the troops will have to be called. We have found it difficult to maintain the peace with the strike, and now that there is a prospect of so much greater a body of men being on strike, will, through the chances of rioting, that it entails, be out of the question for us to handle the trouble without the aid from the military. As soon as the strike spreads I will be compelled to ask the governor of the state for aid. I have done all that I am able to do, and the prospect now is that the thing will get away beyond the powers of my officers."

FINES NOT SO HEAVY.

Pool Room Offenders Mulcted in a Total Sum of $450.
Toronto, Junction, May 22.—Magistrate Ellis on Saturday imposed the following fines on those connected with the Toronto Junction poolroom:

Frank Baby, the president of the club, was singled out for the doubtful distinction of paying the top fine, $100. The other seven, Charles Pirie, the secretary, James Williams, John and William Hare, James Landers, Edward Hopkins and John Brennan, were fined $50 each or 60 days in jail. Baby's option was 90 days' reclusion. A check for the amount was immediately turned over to Crown Attorney Drayton. Magistrate Ellis in sentencing the party said that they deserved to be treated leniently because they had pleaded guilty. He hoped that the business would be permanently closed. The closing of the business was of more importance than imposition of fines or imprisonment.

May Have Been Drowned.

Brantford, May 22.—Word has just been received by the friends of Haron Nelles, causing them much anxiety for his safety. He left the Twin Lakes about 4 A.M. to go to a surveying party. When about thirty miles from the camp he was met by two of the packers from the camp, who strongly advised him not to proceed, as there were signs of the ice in the river breaking up. However, Nelles went on and it is feared he has been drowned.

Two Boys Drowned.

Huntsville, May 22.—Two little boys, Fred and Norman Anderson, aged 5 and 7, sons of James Anderson of the Township of Caffey, went on the Vernon Lake yesterday with a boy named Booth in a canoe and were upset. Before help could reach the two little fellows went down. The Booth boy was rescued. Anderson is on a trip to the Northwest.

Empress Falls Down Stairs.

Wienbaden, May 22.—Empress Augusta Victoria fell down stairs yesterday and was slightly injured on the forehead. Though the hurt is not serious the incident has caused the postponement of the departure of the Emperor and Empress for Berlin.

Fell Ninety Feet.

Toronto, May 22.—Henry Linden, 32 years of age, living at 4 Bridgman avenue, fell 94 feet from the seventh story of the unfinished A. A. Allen Co. building on Bay street. He had his left arm and leg broken and sustained internal injuries.

THE MYSTERY CLEARED

13-Year-Old Josie Carr Abducts and Murders the Baby.

Murdered Baby of Mrs. Murray Down Railway Bank and Later Hid Body in a Culvert—Concocts Story to Throw Suspicion on the Mother—Father of the Murdered Baby Full of Pity for the Little Criminal—The Law on the Subject.

Toronto, May 22.—Through her own confession, Josie Carr, aged 13, is under arrest at police headquarters, facing the charge of having murdered the nine-month-old baby of Mrs. William Murray of 43 Wellington avenue, the disappearance of which with its go-cart from Eaton's store was reported on Saturday. That such a mere child should be guilty of such a crime seems almost beyond comprehension, yet she has told in detail the story of the murder after a most amazing and ingenious attempt to fasten suspicion on a mythical woman. From the first the various developments have been extraordinary. That a child should be kidnapped from the bustle of the shopping districts and no motive to be ascribed was most strange. Then the alleged finding of the body of the baby within a few hours in a long, some, desolate spot, fully murdered, and with little or no clue to the perpetrators of the deed, but increased the mystery tenfold, and that the murderess should practically accuse the mother of her victim as the one to blame and should then be brought face to face without results makes little wonder that public sentiment was aroused to such a pitch on Saturday night as it has been in recent years. The mystery and its sensational clearing up by Detective Forrest received more discussion yesterday than any other matter of public importance.

An Amazing Story.

The infant was taken away from in front of the T. Eaton store on Queen street, where the mother left it in a go-cart for a few minutes. On Saturday morning the police were notified of the finding of the body in a rail-culvert near Greenwood avenue, naked and with its skull crushed. Detective Forrest, who had been detailed to the Woodbine race track, was sent for at 6 o'clock and saw the body in the morgue. Then he listened to Josie Carr's wonderfully explicit statements concerning the appearance in the easters locality on Friday morning and said on Friday afternoon of a woman with the child in a go-cart and of how she and her 13-year-old sister Maud, hunting wild flowers, found the body. Having seen the mother, Forrest at night took the Carr girls to see if they could identify her as the mysterious woman. Josie said it was not Mrs. Murray. Within three hours she had confessed her own guilt, and with it has come the revelation that such a child, such an attractive, bright, sharp-witted child, too—is depraved in instant and in conduct to an extent amazing even to the police.

Who She Is.

Josie Carr is the daughter of a teamster in the employ of the Logan brick works. He and his family live at 422 Greenwood avenue. The child's story is that she was down town Friday afternoon with Annie Mitchell of 94 Lon-bard street, a girl of her own age. They walked around for a time and she saw this go-cart in Eaton's lane and wheeled it away with the baby in it. Up to this time her intention was to steal the go-cart, for she had stolen baby carriages before this, and had no definite plans of how she would dispose of the baby.

She boarded a Parliament street car and rode to Gerrard and Pape avenue, the end of the car line. Going along Jones avenue she came to the railway track and proceeded along the railroad until she came to within a hundred yards of Greenwood avenue. There she says she realized that the baby was an incumbrance. It was not tied to the cart; she jogged it and the baby rolled down the embankment into the ravine, a distance of nearly 100 feet. She then took the go-cart and hid it in amongst some bushes on the other side of the ravine and then carried the body of the child into the culvert which runs under the Grand Trunk tracks. She undressed the body of the dead child, carrying its clothes to her home where she hid them in the house. On Saturday morning she took the clothes, and, with her brother Ernie, aged 7, hid them in a clump of bushes about a half mile from their home. This spot is near Gerrard and Pape avenue, and is another ravine.

Found On Her Sister.

Friday night her sister Maud, aged 10, was down to the ravine at the entrance to the culvert to gather wild flowers and saw the body of the naked infant lying about 25 feet from its mouth. She ran away and later told her father and sister Josie, but not attention was paid to the story. Josie made no remarks about it and nothing was done that night. On Saturday morning Josie and Maud went down to the ravine and Josie went in and carried out the body of the child. The police were then notified.

In the meantime Josie had concocted a story, which she told to the police when they questioned her. It was to the effect that she had seen a woman with a baby and a go-cart wandering around the scene of the murder on Friday morning at 11 o'clock and again at 4 o'clock, when she claims to have been coming from school. Josie's description of the woman whom she saw on Friday morning and afternoon was told with a wealth of detail.

Bereaved Father and Mother.

The condition of Mrs. Murray, who, since the disappearance of her child, has been in a state of prostration, was stated last night to have improved somewhat. A doctor is still in attendance, however. Mr. Murray, when seen at his home, 43 Wellington avenue last night, had not been told the circumstances that had brought about the death of the infant, beyond that little Josephine Carr had admitted having taken the child away from where it had been left by its mother. When, in reply to a question, the manner of the baby's end as confessed to by the juvenile abductor, was made known to him, he was silent for a time. Then he said, simply, "Poor little girl," and in his after references he showed as other spirit than one of pity for the misguided little Carr girl, whose mind, he declared himself convinced, was not wholly sound.

Mr. Murray declared himself unable to understand how the little Carr girl was able to describe the dress of his wife so accurately as she did in her picture of the mythical woman, unless the girl had seen Mrs. Murray as she entered the store. The details tallied except in one particular.

What the Crown Must Prove.

"What punishment can be meted out to that child?"

T. C. Robinette, K. C., who has been retained by Mr. Carr, said: "When the accused is between the ages of 7 and 14 years it is on the Crown to prove that the child appreciated the nature and the consequences of the act—that the child knew it was wrong thing to do. If the accused is over 14 the law presumes the perpetrator knows the consequences of the crime. This child is 13. There is a section in the act which makes child stealing an offence at the age of 7 years, but this girl will likely be charged with the murder. If it is proven that she knew the consequences of what she was doing she could be sentenced to death, but there are no cases of capital punishment meted out to child criminals in Canada. There have been cases in the old country at very young ages."

REVIVAL SERVICES
