

OUR OBSERVER ON POLITICAL INFLUENCE

When I undertake to dot down a few lines concerning politics I wish it to be thoroughly understood that I am not a politician; I am not a party man. I have long since passed the age of fiery ambition, of mad dreams of great achievements in the public arena, of applauding audiences and universal popularity. I have likewise reached that period when men—who observe—cannot fail to note that political partisanship is but a mockery, a delusion, and a trap.

and duties, rubbing faster and faster, until he is incapable of resisting the power which is destined finally to engulf him. The home is entirely neglected. The perpetual stimulant of popular excitement becomes as necessary for him as is the very air he breathes. This is not mere theory. I have long "observed" our public men and I have had exceptional opportunities of noting how swiftly they cut adrift from the bonds that unite man to the family hearth.

The next "indifference" that creeps in is one that is eventually equally injurious—it is an indifference to the ordinary obligations of life. The serious politician clings to his party, and is ready to sacrifice all and everything for the action of a name; for a so-called principle. Even though his children were starving he could bear the situation provided the political atmosphere were sufficiently charged with excitement to keep his attention fixed upon the struggle.

There is another "indifference" born of political life that is still more injurious than any I have mentioned; it is that influence exercised in matters of religion. I am not of those who pretend that a public man should be a hermit, or a saint. But I mean that the politician cannot escape—unless he be a most extraordinary man—falling into a certain indifference regarding the soul and its needs, the Church and her prescribed rules.

Many People Suffer from Summer Complaint.

In this condition they use different remedies, principally those that tend to check the usual diarrhoea.

In doing this they overlook the fact that they have not eliminated from the bowels the poisons which caused the trouble.

almost certain to have some effect. At any rate an association of Catholic jurors should be formed, and united action of some kind taken in view of a similar insult being offered in the future. That over sixty Catholic jurors should tamely submit to treatment of this kind is not as it should be, to say the least of it. The injustice done to an unfortunate Catholic prisoner by being tried by a jury composed of protestants and Freemasons is apparent to everyone, and should be shown up in the press and in Parliament.

FOR THE FARMER.—The Agricultural Department intends taking definite steps towards improving Irish horses. It is proposed to arrange a scheme, which will be carried out systematically for the whole country, and applicable to the conditions existing in the various districts. The purpose of working out such a scheme, the department has resolved to appoint two special committees, one to deal with live stock, exclusive of horses, and the other to deal with horse breeding. These committees will be competent to proceed at once to the framing of a practical scheme, for the administration of which the department will be in a position to supply the necessary funds. It is the intention of the department to invite agricultural societies throughout the country to co-operate, so far as may be possible in carrying the scheme into effect, and aid which may be given to shows promoted by societies willing to co-operate, must be applied in such a manner as to fulfil the requirements of the scheme.

GHASTLY RELICS.—At the meeting of the Athy No. 1 District Council a report was read from Dr. Danby, Monasterevan, stating that fourteen or fifteen human skeletons had been taken out of a gravel pit opened in March last on the lands of Denis Fitzpatrick at Rickardstown. The skeletons were found in a space of about two square perches, and the bones were only from 14 to 18 inches below the surface of the earth. A man named Patrick Byrne, who works in the pit, states that it contains many "bones" of the Holy Land, and the district is that the bodies were hurriedly buried in the pit after some of the '98 battles.

FAMOUS GOUAGNE BARRA.—The solemn ceremony of blessing and laying the foundation stone of the new church to be erected in the island of Gougane Barra, so celebrated as the monastic retreat of St. Finn Barre, took place recently, in the presence of a large congregation. Rev. Father Hurley, P.P., officiated, and the ceremony was assisted by the Rev. Father Brady, Dunmanway. The foundation stone consisted of a concrete block, in which was enclosed a leaden casket containing medals of St. Finn Barre, the bones of the Holy Land, and an ancient manuscript on the island sprang up and flourished. Two medals of the present Pope were also placed in the casket, as well as some coins of the present reigns, some relics of the Holy Land, and a parchment bearing the name of the generous donor who has provided Father Hurley with the means of erecting the church.

IRISH LANGUAGE.—At the distribution of prizes in Laurel Hill Convent, Limerick, on Wednesday week, the Most Rev. Dr. O'Dwyer dwelt at length on the movement for the revival of the Irish language. He said he was absolutely in sympathy with those who desired to maintain their old language and prevent it from becoming utterly extinct in the country. The number of Irish-speaking people had been decreasing at a painful rate in recent years, and there was no manner of doubt that the national responsibilities rested with the Commissioners of National Education for the fact. The Board was peculiarly constituted. They were no-minded of the language, and represented nobody, and the question of religious equality was observed by having an equal number of Catholics and Protestants on the Board; so, while there were 700,000 or 800,000 Catholic children on the register of National schools, and from 200,000 to 300,000 Protestants, it was considered equal and just treatment to have the Board thus composed half of Catholics and half of Protestants. That Board so constituted had done more than any agency in Ireland to kill the Irish language. It should submit to criticism, and its actions should be under the control of public opinion in Ireland.

CATHOLIC JURORS.—Mr. W. O'Brien at a great meeting held in Cork recently, referred to the shameful packing of the jurors employed at the recent assize to try an unfortunate man charged with murder. Over sixty Catholic jurors were insolently ordered to "stand by" as persons unworthy of credence on their oath. Many of these jurors came from long distances at great inconvenience and expense in obedience to a peremptory summons to attend. Instead of being thanked for their attendance they were insulted in a public court, and in the presence of a number of people. It is high time to make an effectual protest against the conduct of the authorities in this matter. Even at the risk of imprisonment for contempt of court, if the jurors thus insulted had vigorously protested on the spot against the shameful insult levelled at them and through them at the Catholic religion, the protest thus made would be diploma the young men will be admitted to pursue the higher studies at the State universities. Commercial instruction has long been a speciality with the Josephite Fathers at Melle, and that their establishment may be on a level with the best of the kind, their curriculum of studies will henceforward be on precisely the same lines as that of the Government commercial institute at Antwerp.

AN UNCHRISTIAN SPEECH.

Not being in Germany we have no need of suppression should we deem it well to criticize the language of the sublime Emperor. When the German troops were leaving Bremerhaven for China, in the course of his lengthy speech, the Emperor is reported to have said:— "If you close with the enemy remember this: spare nobody. Make no prisoners. Use your weapons so that for a thousand years hence no Chinaman will dare look askance at any German. Open the way for civilization come for all."

Commenting upon this, the "Ave Maria" very appropriately says:—"Could anything be more savage and unchristian than this? But it is generally regarded as a blazing indiscretion; and in diplomatic circles, where men speak cautiously, it is only said that 'the Emperor went beyond necessity or prudence.' But it is easy to judge what will be the effect of that horrible speech on the infuriated Chinese. It will inevitably confirm the inflammatory aversion of the Boxers that the plan of Europeanization is to massacre all Chinamen and take away their nation. If an extra amount of foreign blood should be shed before Peking falls, Emperor William ought to feel that he will be in some measure responsible for it."

Necesses to say that we are in perfect harmony with our learned contemporary, Emperors, as well as ordinary men, sometimes make grave mistakes—and surely this is one.

THE INVENTOR'S HELP.

A revised and enlarged edition of this valuable book has just been printed by Messrs. Marion & Marion, the well known patent attorneys, of Montreal and Washington. It is a complete expose of patent law, giving the cost of patents in every country and how successful inventors have made money. The work concludes with "hints on the sale of patents," the pitfalls into which an unwary inventor would stumble are pointed out. It is a trustworthy guide to inventors, and our readers would do well to secure a copy of the book, which is sent by mail for the nominal sum of ten cents.

ABOUT THE BOXERS.

A man who was formerly in the Chinese missionary field says of the "class" who are now in that country:—"The significance of the name Boxers is misconstrued. The idea prevails quite largely that a Boxer is a Chinaman who is mitted and pugilistic, with fencing as his specialty, and sparring as his distinction. He is pictured in the comic papers with large mittens and a scowl on his face. Now, the fact of the matter is, that though boxing is a European and American pastime, it is not such in China, and never has been."

"What then is a Boxer? We are assured that that is the correct English word, and so it is. But it has no reference to any sport, instead, it should be defined as one who boxes, or makes boxes. That is, nothing else than wooden boxes. A Boxer is a north Chinaman who makes wooden boxes for a livelihood, or who is guided with those who do. He is a carpenter-shop workman, and a member of an ancient and highly honorable craft. The Boxer is a skilled laborer. Boxes are used even more generally than with us, and the work is always done by Chinamen, never by coolie labor. The masters command high wages—on an average $3 per week—while the workmen receive on an average $1 a week. The boxes, for whatever purpose: for tea, cotton, agricultural products, household uses, boxes, coffins, jewelry, and others have always been made, from time immemorial, by our own hands—that is, by Chinamen, and largely by North Chinese. Then, in addition, they have always been made of woods from the native forests, so that a box, whatever the description, has always been supposed to be made of native woods by native labor. There is a matter of pride in the manufacture and in the manufacturing.

NOTES OF IRISH NEWS.

STORM IN KERRY.—A violent thunderstorm broke over Kerry district on Saturday. There were frequent and vivid flashes of forked lightning. No damage was done in the town, but in the western districts injury to life and property is reported. At Derrymore a peasant's house was struck and a pig and goat killed. In the next house a man named Sullivan and his son while in bed were struck by the electric fluid. The boy's arm is paralyzed, and his father's left side suffered similarly. Houses and trees were struck in other places.

Ireland, and such a ready market has been obtained, owing to the superior quality of the goods. The demand exceeds the output of the factory. About 4,000 yards of various stuffs—tweeds, serges, flannels, blankets, etc.—are turned out weekly. Including the hosiery business, over one hundred hands are employed all the year round at good wages, and about £8,000 a year is spent in the purchase of wool from local growers, while £4,000 a year is paid for fine yarn imported.

INTEMPERANCE CRUSADE.—The Very Rev. Father Tierney, C.S.S.R., director of the Archconfraternity of the Holy Family, Limerick, is starting a crusade for the suppression of intemperance in the city on Sundays. At a recent meeting of the archconfraternity the very rev. gentleman delivered an eloquent address on the evil effects of intemperance, and announced his intention of attending the next licensing sessions, to be held in October, to oppose the renewal of the licences of a certain number of city publicans who, it appears, have adopted the practice of selling drink on Sundays during prohibited hours.

IRISH LANGUAGE.—At the distribution of prizes in Laurel Hill Convent, Limerick, on Wednesday week, the Most Rev. Dr. O'Dwyer dwelt at length on the movement for the revival of the Irish language. He said he was absolutely in sympathy with those who desired to maintain their old language and prevent it from becoming utterly extinct in the country. LAI D TO REST.—On Saturday, a week ago, the remains of the late Right Rev. Mgr. Murphy, P.P., V.G., St. Peter's Drogheda, were interred in the Oliver Plunkett Memorial Church. His Eminence Cardinal Logue presided at the obsequies, and there was a very large attendance of clergy.

RELEAST BIGOTS.—That strange sect known to Belfast as the Rechabites held a demonstration recently in a field behind Oldpark. An unprovoked attack on the Catholic houses seemed in the order of the day's proceedings, and not until several houses had been wrecked could the rowdies be checked by the police. Subsequently a disgraceful attack was made on the Church of the Sacred Heart, many beautiful stained-glass windows being destroyed.

INDUSTRIAL WORK.—The following interesting paragraph is referred to the Foxford Mills, which are conducted by the Sisters of Charity, appears in the report of the Congested Districts Board: "In 1898 our Board made a large loan to assist the Sisters of Charity in fitting up a woollen factory at Foxford, where a fall of about six feet on the River Moy affords ample water-power for such an undertaking. Suitable buildings were erected, and a complete equipment of the best machinery was purchased. The mill, as presented in the case of any new industry, some years passed before a profit was realized, but now two travellers are employed—two in England and one in
