Such men ahould be free to champion the rights of Ireland, and it would be for the support of these men that the fund would be applied. Ireland must not be left alone to fight her battle. There is no idleness there but enforced idleness. Home rule may be deferred, it may be further off than Irish-Americans believe, yet they must go deep into their pockets. They are the army in reserve. No matter how great the strain in the coming fight, the may be deterred, it may be further off than Irish-Americans believe, yet they must go deep into their pockets. They are the army in reserve. No matter how great the strain in the coming fight, the golden stream must be kept flowing over the sea. When home rule is established, we in America will buy wares in Ireland, when her market is the same as that of other nations, in order that our sympathy may be effective in rebuilding the nation. But when est in that place and in the work in which the people there are engaged. But when we consider our great country and its in-stitutions it would be strange indeed if we did not give to Ireland all the encour-agement it is in our power to give. Vio-lence in Ireland might have been resorted to and justified. We resorted to it in this country when the burden of our complaint was taxation without reprecomplaint was taxation without repre-sentation. But violence was not resorted to in Irelaud. Mr. Parnell, the wise leader, has made his fight with other weapons than those of violence, and has won the good will and sympathies of all nationalities in his warfare. His warfare needs money for its conduct. His warrare needs money for its conduct. His men, the trusted lieutenants whom he has gathered about him, need support while engaged with him in the great battle, and it becomes our duty and the duty of every lover of human rights to act as a mission-

Great Britain such as we enjoy in this country. I fully believe there is an understanding between Parnell, Davitt and Gladstone, and that when the end comes there will be seen in Dublin a monument to Gladstone."

RELAND FOR THE IRISH.

From the New York Sun. Dec. 28.

Five hundred patriotic Irishmen and Irishwomen assembled last evening in the old church of the Paulist Fathers, Sixtieth street, west of Ninth avenue, to give another lift to the Parmell Parliament fund. Father Elliott, Father McMillan, Father Burke, and Father Doyle, in black gowns and beretts, looked smillingly down from the platform, aughed at the pokes day planded with their hands every times hard fasted Irish laborer walked up and put his mite on the Secretary's deck. The American and Irish colors were entwined on the wall above the platform.

Father Doyle said he had just returned from Ireland. He likened Ireland to a race horse which had been turned out to pasture, and whose coat is filled with itelas. Cromwall's and Queen Elizabeth's soldiery must be plucked out like ticks. Other walls and the part of the people in Ireland feet that success is in their grasp, and now that the clergy have come to the side of the Nationalita the voice of the people is the voice of God. Finally Father Doyle took two 85 bills from his pocket and held them up. He said it was all the money be had in the world. The bills were a Christman present. His superior had given him permissions to do with them what he pleased, so Dr. Wallies and the triff upention, after years of struggle and disreputs, now receives the attention and sympathy of the Mind. The freedom of Ireland was not to be taken as a dog takes a boar in the spate of you, and if you do not treat him well, then you do not treat him and the paread of the decrease and the time of the form the King crist of th

What is Catarrh ?

Catarrh is a dangerous disease which thousands are consciously or unconsciously suffering from. It is a muco-purulent discharge caused by the presence of a vegetable parasite in the lining membrane of the nose. The predisposing causes are a morbid state of the blood, the blighted corpuscle of tubercle, the germ poison of syphilis, mercury, toxomosa, from the retention of the effete matter of the skin, suppressed perspiration, badly ventilated sleeping apartments and the germination of other poisons in the blood. Irritated by these, the lining membrane of the nose is ever ready for the reception of the parasite, which rapidly spreads up the nostrils and down the fauces, or back of the throat, causing ulceration of the throat; up the custachian tubes, causing deafness; burrowing in the vocal chords, causing hoarseness; usurping the proper structures of the hereafted. hourseness; usurping the proper struc-ture of the bronchial tubes, ending in pulmonary consumption and death. Many ingenious specifics for the cure of catarrh have been invented, but with-
