Police Look For Leon Ling as the Slayer of Elsie Sigel

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 20.-Leon

Ling, with his string of English-Chinese aliases and his American lothes, may never be found, but the mutilated body of the New York girl left behind in a trunk in his room here will not be buried in Potter's Field. Paul Sigel, the father, claimed and positively identified the body at the morgue tonight admitting for the first time that the victim was his daughter

The girl's mother, now in a saniarium, had identified the jewelry; another woman had identified the stained underclothing, and relatives had said that the murdered girl was Elsie Sigel, granddaughter of General Franz Sigel, but until this evening the father had maintained an attitude of silence

But after a conference at police headquarters this afternon he visited the morgue, accompanined by Franz Sigel a brother, and Reginald, a son, and by Mabel Sigel, a cousin of the victim. I was almost dark when the little party reached the silent house of the city unclaimed dead. There were no tears, but their faces were strained and pale as they entered the gloomy morgue. First the underclothing was exam-

After a moment she was sure that the clothing was that worn by her cousin and the party passed into the dead room where the body lay in a long coffinlike drawer. Amid silence the compartment was drawn out and placed on two supports. Then the lid of the coffin was removed and there was revealed, packed in cakum and preserv atives, a mummified thing that looked almost like human forms found in Egyptian vaults. The face was first uncovered, the teeth examined. The father was silent, as he had been dur ing the examination of the clothes, but Mabel Sigel was quick to note the teeth. "Those are Elsie's teeth," she said, "and her hands too," she added as attendants lifted the hands from the box. Paul Sigel stood by nodding his head in the affirmative as each new feature was brought out to

In the 11th lap Chevrolet broke a valve in a cylinder in such a manner that it could not be replaced and he was forced to run the rest of the day with three cylinders, which made his performance all the more emarkable.

To offset this misfortune in a measure the superior skill with which he and his mechanician handled the oil milk clean, if the record hangs before can during a stop at the repairing pits in spectacular competition with the per cow has often been obtained since teams of another racer gained him time | the introduction of the pencil and ruled of immense value later in the day. The race, which showed an average of 49.26 miles an hour, was unusually slow for cars of the sixty horse power class. This was even dower than that of the light power machines in the Indiana trophy event of yesterday. which reached an average speed of 51% miles. It was naturally expected that the big race of today would exceed this figure, but the load of trouble which assailed the cars and drivers from the very beginning together with lieve that I will be a duchess when I the fact that the roadway at the furns. was literally cut to ribbons by the two days' racing slowed down the heavy pect to became a Duchess " motors to an unexpected degree and

— Cow Testing —

DAILY FARM HINT

LARGER MILK YIELDS ARE POS-SIBLEL .

Why should cow testing be carried on? Mainly because individual cows in the same herd are likely to vary in production about as much as, sometimes much more than, individual cows in different breeds. Then too must be considered the strange variations in milk and fat from day to day even with a cow handled as carefully as possible. Such variations are very apt to be overlooked unless the record is carefully kept. Another point: two milk a day, or 10 lb. at a milking, the other gives 9 lb. The difference in weight, or the difference in bulk in the pail, especially if there is a lot of froth on top, is not easily gauged by and it is seen that one cow gives 800 lb, more milk than the other. Yet the ordinary milker would have said, these two cows give "just about" the same. But is not the extra 600 lb. worth having. Many members of the cow testing association say that the hired man milks better, with more endeavor to him constantly, and an extra 500 lb. sheet. Try it, not simply for the extra milk or fat, but for the immense per sonal satisfaction in knowing that each cow is being made to do better, Ottawa, June, 1969.
