> London Times Quotes Lincoln With Reference to Blockading.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Washington, Jan. 21-Great Britain's interference with neutral trade ator Hoke Smith of Georgia, who pleaded for action to prevent England Lieut. Col G. G. Nasmith, C.M.G, was married quietly to Mrs. E. Scott Raff, and left to resume his military attempting to destroy Germany commercially. He declared that the rights of citizens of the United States and other neutral nations were being recklessly disregarded and emphasized particularly what he denounced as d particularly what he denounced as Great Britain's lawless treatment

America's cotton trade.

Discussing the action of the allies Discussing the action of the allies in proclaiming cotton as contraband, the Senator asserted that cotton had not been used or needed by Germany or her allies in the manufacture of war munitions for more than eight months, as Germany had developed a process for using wood pulp as a cheaper and more effective substitute for cotton in the manufacture of exfor cotton in the manufacture of explosives.

"Shall we quietly continue to furnish Great Britain what she is compelled to obtain from the United States, while the commercial rights of citizens of this country are tramplclamation issued by Abraham Lincoln and makes it the text of an editorial leader urging a blockade on Germany.

"Lincoln announced that a competent force would be posted to enforce the blockade," says the Times, "although he had no such force. We made no protest. We were anxious for the friendship of the American people, so we allowed them plenty of time for the process. Even if the effectiveness of our blockade were at first open to question we might reasonably expect from America that tay
