About 160 sat down to a bountiful repast daintily served by the young ladies of the society. A short musical programme was rendered. Mrs. Burch and Miss Cornish each gave vocal selections.

Mrs. Potts, piano solo; Miss Buchanan and Miss White, vocal duet; Miss Davis, recitation. Dr. Mackenzie occupied the chair, and the toast "A. Y. P. A." was responded to by Mr. Myring, Rev. Mr. Potts and Mr. Garrett.

The A. Y. P. A. banquet and concert at Grace Church school house last night, was one of the most largely attended and enthusiastic of any held since the inauguration of this society.

Axon—Deagle.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Deagle, Colborne St. E., when her youngest daughter, Susie, was united in marriage to Mr. David H. Axon of Grand Prairie, Alta., a former pastor, the Rev. G. Frances Morris, officiating. The bride wore a beautiful gown of cream silk and lace made on train—a veil of Brussels lace was arranged in Juliet cap effect, with orange blossoms. She carried a shower of bridal roses and lily of the valley.

Little Lily and Muriel Deagle, nieces of the bride, as flower girls, looked very pretty in white organdie, carrying sheaves of pink roses.

The wedding march was played by Mr. Ross Deagle of Brantford, a cousin of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Axon will spend a short time with friends in the East, and then leave for their home in Grand Prairie, Alta.

Family Reunion.

The home of Mr. Paul Huffman, Northfield Centre, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering on Saturday, Jan. 25th, when the family and friends gathered to celebrate Mr. Huffman's 80th birthday. Friends from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Huffman, Burlington; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huffman, Brantford; Mr. and Mrs. J. Graham, of Cainsville; Mrs. D. Oliver, Manitoba; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bowman, Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Johnson, Northfield; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Huffman and family, Kelvin; Mr. and Mrs. R. Hemingway and family, Northfield; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Huffman and family, Norwich; Mrs. K. Knott, Brantford; Mr. and Mrs. Seth Caudwell and family, Northfield; Mrs. P. Bowman, Norwich; Mr. and Mrs. R. Will, Norwich; Mr. and Mrs. John Weir, Cathcart. After wishing Mr. Huffman many happy returns of the day. The company sat down to a sumptuous dinner which every person enjoyed to the fullest extent. Mr. Huffman was the recipient of some useful gifts among them being a beautiful leather chair from the family. The afternoon was spent in music and social enjoyment. The day will long be remembered by those present as one of those happy occasions seldom the lot of so large a family to enjoy.

Annual Meeting of Leper Mission.
The Trust Club Room of the Y. W. C. A. was well filled with women who had gathered for the annual meeting of the Leper Mission. Mrs. Adams' annual secretary's report noted the fact that in ten meetings, 3 different women had taken part. Programs had been carried and full of interest. The average attendance was 27. The thankoffering was the best in its history with $80 present and $50 offering. Mrs. Adams' kind offer of her home for a similar meeting on Feb. 25, was accepted with many thanks. The treasurer, Mrs. Ritchie reported $285.05 for general work, and $74.50 for "Without the Camp," making a grand total of $359.55.

Mrs. Worne read an interesting account of the "Camp" department with 302 subscribers.

Mrs. Sickle stated that 3,000 Surprise Soap wrappers had been collected and forwarded to headquarters.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. G. W. Barber.
Vice-presidents—Mrs. Lavelle, Mrs. Woodside, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Yeigh.
Secretaries—Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Whitaker.
Treasurer—Mrs. Ritchie.
Pianist—Mrs. Worne.
Surprise Soap Wrappers—Mrs. Sickle.

"Without the Camp"—Mrs. Worne. The instrumental duet by Miss Vera Hodges and Miss Helen Ferguson, and the solo, "Teach Us to Pray," by Mrs. Hay, added much to the enjoyment of the session. Mrs. P. and Mrs. Peters led in prayer. Mrs. Waugh gave a helpful Scripture lesson on "Do what you can."

LAUGHTER LINES.

Bennie, aged 4, met Henry, age 5, and the following conversation ensued:

"What's a matter your head?"
"Bumped it on a ceiling."

"On a stepladder?"
"No, I was playin' 'th my papa on a floor an' I was sitting on his tummy."

"An' nen what?"
"Papa sneezed."—London Opinion.

A small but very black negro was standing very erect at one side of the door of a house where a colored man had just died. The services were about to begin, when the negro clergyman appeared at the door and said to the little fellow.

"The services are about to begin. Aren't you coming in?"

"I would if I could," said the small boy, "but you see I's de crappe."—Ladies' Home Journal.

An English lady one day said to her gardener, who was an Irishman:

"Pat, I wonder you don't get married. You've got a nice house, and all you want to complete it is a wife. You know the first gardener that ever lived had a wife."

"Quite right, missus," said Pat, "but you see I's de crappe."—Belfast Weekly Telegraph.

"Muz, did you hear the stepladder when it tumbled over?"

Mother (not rising from her lounge): "No darling, I hope papa didn't fall."

"Not yet; he's still hanging on to the picture moulding.—Life.

Mr. Lewis White Allen, the Denver physiologist, was giving an informal talk on physiology upon the windy, sea-fronting porch of an Atlantic City hotel.

"Also," he said, "it has lately been found that the human body contains sulphur."

"Sulphur?" exclaimed a girl in a blue and white blazer. "How much sulphur then is there in a girl's body?"

"Oh," said Dr. Allen, smiling, "the amount varies."

"And is that," asked the girl, "why some of us make so much better matches than others?"

SOME ECONOMICAL RECIPES.
Lemon Pie.
Take the juice of one lemon, one tablespoon of butter, one tablespoon cornstarch, one-half cup sugar, yolks of two eggs and one cup boiling water. Cook until thick, then put in baked crust. For the covering use the whites of two eggs and three tablespoons of sugar. Brown in oven.

A Cheap Dinner.

Cut up three pounds of fresh lean pork, cover with water and boil slowly a couple of hours. Then add three or four large onions sliced and a cupful of sliced potatoes. When the onions and potatoes are almost done, drop in a pint of cream of tartar dumplings and cook for ten minutes. Season with salt and pepper just before adding the potatoes and onions to cook. After removing the dumplings a little thickening may be added.

Baked Cheese Melet.

Soak one scant cup of fine stale bread crumbs in one pint of milk, to which has been added one saltspoonful of baking soda dissolved in one teaspoonful of hot water. When thoroughly soaked add two eggs beaten until very light, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, one dash of cayenne one scant cupful of grated cheese and one tablespoonful of melted butter. Turn quickly into a greased baking dish and place in a very hot oven. Serve as soon as it is well puffed up and pale brown, as it quickly falls.

It is said that in 1742 Thomas Bolsover, a mechanic of Sheffield, England, discovered the art of silver plating. He was repairing the handle of a knife in which both copper and silver were used. Accidentally the two metals were fused together. Based upon this observation, he developed the new process.

Upon a thick ingot of copper he bound by iron wire a thinner ingot of silver. The whole was then heated in a reverberatory furnace until the edges of the silver ingot were observed to begin to melt. The two ingots were then removed from the furnace slowly cooled and pickled, cleaned and rolled to the desired thickness. The result was a plate of copper more or less thinly covered with silver on one side.

This was the first Sheffield plate. For fifty years following the copper was plated on one side only and the cut edges showed the copper. Later the process was so perfected that no copper was left exposed. At the present time the world was made by this process until electro-plating was discovered and made commercial.

Home Love and Courtesy.

It is not lack of family love which causes trouble, for all know that in the warmest underlying affection generally exists, proving that "blood is thicker than water." It is our bad manner of showing it that makes hurt feelings. There is no earthly reason why home manners should be bad, but it is a deplorable fact that this is often a condition in the home. What a beautiful thing home life would always be if each member of the family would endeavor to be just as polite and considerate of the feelings of others as he or she is of the stranger whose good opinion is coveted.

Chicken Farming.

I started out to raise some hens. I first bought wire to make some pens.

You need nice pens to make hens thrive.

Mine cost me forty twenty-five ($40.25).

I bought eleven kinds of feed. For fowls a large assortment need. I bought cut bone and grains galore. The bill was nineteen eighty-four ($19.84).

Of course hens need a chicken shed. A place to sleep and to be fed. Mine was a good one through and through.

And cost me sixty forty-two ($60.42). I wonder if hen farming pays; I've had twelve eggs in sixty days. The bills, of course, have been immense.

The twelve eggs brought me thirty cents (30c).

Elaborate Evening Wraps

So elaborate are the evening wraps this season they almost resemble a sumptuous afternoon gown and are indeed much in evidence at receptions and teas, despite the crowd and overheated rooms.

However, the new styles are so bewitching with their combination of brocade velvet, satin and plain velvet, and one suffers to be fashionable.

The brocade velvet is used to drape the upper part, and the plain skirt is of satin, the trim of velvet that forms a panel down the back, an eminently practical style if one possesses a motor.

But who cares for practicality nowadays? The wrap's "the thing," therefore every well-dressed woman should possess one.

The new stocking is nothing if not sensational. The rank and file took to wearing sheer black silk hosiery which appeared in the department stores at popular prices, and horribly sleazy weaves, reinforced half way up the leg with cotton and fashionable women demanded something different. The shaded silk stocking is a patrician affair not to be had under three or four dollars the pair. The darkest part of the stocking is at the foot, the color gradually shading to a lighter tint until at the top of the stocking it reaches a very dainty pastel tone. Taupe and gray silk stockings are the exclusive favorites just now and these—in the shaded style—are worn with buttoned tops of patent leather with boules or gray suede tops. The street boot of ordinary black patent leather and dull calf demands a black silk stocking and tan silk hose must accompany the smart walking boot of tan leather.

ARE YOUR HANDS CHAPPED

Read How Zam-Buk Heals.

For badly chapped hands, cold cracks, frost bite, etc., Zam-Buk is the best known healer. Wash the hands or part affected in water as hot as can be borne. Dry with a soft towel, and then smear with Zam-Buk well over the part. If it is the hands, wear a pair of gloves over night. By morning the pain will be gone. Then use Zam-Buk a few more times and the cracks will be healed. Mrs. A. F. Phillips of Ayers, Que., says: "I suffered terribly from chapped hands. At times my hands were so sore that I could not have cried with the pain. I thought I would try Zam-Buk and see what that wonderful healing balm would do for me. I obtained a supply, and in a very short time my hands were cured."

Mrs. W. M. Bailliant of Port Hawkesbury, N.S., writes: "Some time ago my hands were very badly chapped. Ordinary ointments did not heal them, and I was advised to try Zam-Buk. To my great delight, it healed my hands in a remarkably short time."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell it for a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., on receipt of price.

W. E. Coates, florist of Paris, received a bad shaking up on Tuesday when his horse ran away. He was driving out to the Junction when the horse took fright at a train and bolted down West River street. One of the shafts became detached and the rig was overturned, throwing Mr. Coates to the ground. He was taken home and is at present confined to his bed, but is expected to be around again in a few days. The horse continued its flight down William street and over to the flats where it stopped near the Grand Valley tracks. The rig is nearly a total wreck.

SUFFRAGETTES

Get on the War Path Once More--They Damage Property in London and Also in the Suburbs.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—As a protest against the withdrawal of the franchise bill by the Government, the suffragists resumed their militant tactics last night. While a deputation which the Chancellor of the Exchequer, David Lloyd George, had refused to see until to-day, were trying to force their way into Parliament against an overwhelming force of police and were being placed under arrest for resisting the officers, other bands of women went through Whitehall breaking the windows of the Government offices, and through Cockspur street, where the great plate glass windows in the establishments of shipping companies were ruthlessly smashed.

Poured Acid in Letter Boxes.
The women visited Oxford and Regent streets, in the shopping district, where similar damage was done. Later, post boxes were attacked, quantities of liquid being poured into them.

In the outlying suburbs, too, the suffragists took steps to bring the Government public by damaging property. Twenty-one women were arrested in the vicinity of the Parliament buildings, but were allowed out on bail after the House rose. Most of the police stations had one or more prisoners charged with destroying property.

Hustled by Youths.
The demonstration in Whitehall was not so large as some of those previously held, the force of police and a drenching rain militating against any great turnout. The wildest excitement prevailed, however, as the women engaged in window smashing or refused to move on when ordered, the police had the greatest difficulty in protecting the women from an unruly crowd of youths, who had gathered, and hustled every woman wearing the suffragist colors.

In several cases the women were roughly handled. An attempt to duck four of them in the fountain on Trafalgar Square was frustrated by a police posse, which had to ride through the crowd.

Twenty-one Women Arrested.
The entire deputation of twenty-one women, who attempted to make their way into the House of Commons to interview Chancellor Lloyd George, were arrested. The prisoners included Mrs. Drummond and Sylvia Pankhurst, who marched in front. Before starting on their mission the delegates listened to addresses by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and other leaders.

Mrs. Pankhurst said that the withdrawal of the franchise bill, including the Speaker's ruling, was a plot decided on long ago, and Premier Asquith was aware of it. "The answer to this treachery," she said, "is militancy."

Could not see Chancellor.
Sylvia Pankhurst said that their intention was to hold the Speaker in the chair and leave Mr. Asquith on the bench, and with this the deputation started. The police gave them safe escort as far as the entrance of Parliament, where an inspector informed them that the Chancellor of the Exchequer would be unable to see them until morning.

Mrs. Drummond retorted: "This is tomfoolery. If you don't let us in there will be trouble."

At that the members of the deputation threw themselves at the police, who stood six deep across the entrance, and a scramble occurred, in which Mrs. Drummond and another woman were either thrown or fell to the ground.

The police gave the women several chances to withdraw quietly, but as they refused all were taken into custody.

The crowd showed little sympathy for the suffragists, whom they tried to jostle as they were being taken to the station by the police.

May Arrest the Leaders.
The authorities, it is understood, contemplate arresting the leaders for inciting their followers to break the laws.

Christobel Pankhurst, who is often referred to as the brains of the organization, is believed to be in London directing the demonstrations. She is known to have left Paris where she had been living for some time, for her absence was noted at the time her mother, Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, and Mr. and Mrs. Pethick Lawrence were convicted and all trace of her is lost.

The damage to property last night would have been much greater had not the shopkeepers taken the precaution to board up their windows.
