

THE CHIGNECTO POST

IS PUBLISHED

EVERY THURSDAY.

AT

$1.50 per Annum, or $1.00 in Advance.

PLAIN AND FANCY PRINTING

OR ALL KINDS.

Promptly Executed at Lowest Rates.

ADVERTISEMENTS

Inserted at very Lowest Rates.

W. C. MILNER, Proprietor.

FALL GOODS

JUST RECEIVED AT

J. E. HICKEY'S.

1 CASE COSTUME CLOTH, in different shades.

1 Case Black and Colored Cashmere;

1 Case Tartan and Fancy Plaids;

2 Cases Fancy and Plain Winces;

1 Case Black and Colored Cashmere;

1 Case Buttons, Trimmings & Smallwares;

1 Case Towels and Towelling;

1 Case Bed-Spreads, Quilt, &c.;

12 Pieces Grey Flannels;

12 Pieces Scarlet, White, Blue Flannels;

20 Pieces Cotton Flannels;

10 Pieces Oregon, Plain & Reversible;

10 Pieces Linen and Turkish Tableing;

100 Pieces Print Cotton, at cost;

8 Cases American Hats and Caps;

Ready-Made Clothing

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

HARDWARE:

100 doz. Locks; 50 doz. Pocket Cutlery;

100 doz. Mineral and Porcelain Knobs;

100 doz. Butt Hinges; 2 doz. Door Bolts;

100 Sets Table Cutlery;

40 doz. Thumb Latches;

25 boxes Horse Nails;

75 pairs Horse Traces; 1 case Zinc;

500 lbs. Sheet Lead; 100 kegs Nails;

2 tons Dry Paper; 2 doz. Tinned Papers;

75 boxes Glass, from 7 1/2 to 16 3/4;

Putty, Paints, Paint Oils, &c.

Fresh Groceries constantly on hand.

The above Stock will be sold as

CHEAP as any in the place consistent with the quality. All kinds of Country

Produce taken in exchange.

Sackville, Sept. 19, 1883.

Summer and Fall

MILLINERY!

MRS. D. DOUGLAS has received her

Stock of MILLINERY for the Fall

Trade, including

NEW HATS and BONNETS, NEW

FEATHERS, FLOWERS, FLOWERS,

RIBBONS, HAIR GOODS, &c.

Boys' Jersey Suits.

CHILDREN'S CLOTHES,

Ready-Made and Made to Order, cheap.

Fancy Work Felt, &c.

ALSO A FINE LOT OF CHINAWARE.

With a great variety of other Goods,

all of which will be sold at Lowest Prices.

MRS. DAVID DOUGLAS.

Amherst, Sept. 18, 1883.

ACIDS!

RECEIVED EX SCHMIDT, "JEMMY,"

10 Carboys Oil Vitriol,

5 Carboys Nitric Acid,

5 Carboys Muratic Acid.

FOR SALE LOW.

E. M. ESTEY.

Medical Hall, Moncton, N. B.

Executors' Notice.

Estate of Stephen W. Palmer, Deceased.

ALL PERSONS having Legal Claims against the Estate of STEPHEN W.

PALMER, late of Dorchester, Merchant, deceased, are requested to present the same, duly attested, to the undersigned within three months from date; and all persons indebted to the said Estate are required to make immediate payment to them.

CHARLES G. PALMER,

FRED C. PALMER, Executors.

Dorchester, Sept. 25, 1883.

Boarding House to Let

ON FOUNDRY STREET.

THIS HOUSE is conveniently situated and well adapted for keeping 20

Boarders. No difficulty in securing any number of Boarders at paying rates. A rare chance for the right man to make money. Apply to

CHARLES FAWCETT,

Sackville Foundry,

Sackville, N. B.

oct23 31

SALT.

To arrive by Barque "Siddartha" from

Liverpool:

2200 Bags Liverpool Coarse SALT,

110 " Fine Table SALT.

Will be sold very low while landing.

aug23

M. WOOD & SONS.

TELEGRAPHY.

THE subscriber proposes opening a School of Telegraphy. Parties having sons who want a profession quickly learned and fairly lucrative, would do well to avail themselves of this opportunity. Boys from the ages of 15 to 18 are the quickest to learn. For terms, &c., apply to the undersigned.

T. H. FRESKOTT,

A. A. Tel. Co.

Sackville, July 26, 1883.

Lime! Lime!

THE subscriber keeps constantly on hand a Superior Quality of LIME.

100 Casks and Barrels just arrived, and for sale at $1.75 per cask from store.

aug27

JAS. R. AYER.

Chignecto Post.

Deserve Success and you shall Command it.

VOL. 14.-NO. 26.

SACKVILLE, N. B., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1883.

WHOLE NO. 701.

Farm and Household.

Crops and Markets.

—Cape Cod will raise about 80,000 barrels of cranberries this year.

—Belgium raises annually over 5,000,000 ducks which are sold at $1 per pair.

—The grape crop of Rhode Island was plentiful this year that Concord sold as low as two cents per pound.

—A Minnesota dispatch alleges that the Manitoba wheat crop is a failure, because the wheat was frozen in the mill.

—The oat crop in the United States will aggregate about 500,000 bushels, and the quality is high, averaging 98,100 being the standard.

—The reports to the corn crop fully satisfied the telegraphic summary of Sept. 10th as to the injuries by the frosts of the 8th, 9th, and 10th.

—The potato crop in the United States is in better condition than any year since 1875. The prospect is favorable for a crop above the medium. The tobacco crop will be below the average.

—Application has been made for space in the Exposition Building in Chicago for the exhibition of 70 imported Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus, and Galloway cattle, owned by the Hon. M. H. Cochran, of Canada.

—A few weeks ago a large consignment of frozen mutton was received at Manchester, England, in fresh, wholesome condition. The entire vessel which brought this consignment from South America had in her cargo 17,165 carcasses of mutton.

—Statistician Dodge of the United States Agricultural Department calculates that 5,000,000 sheep are destroyed annually by disease and dogs, mostly the latter. This is one-eighth of the sheep in the country and is a big rate of interest to pay on the dog monopoly.

—Mr. Jones, of Ontario, Canada, is the owner of what is perhaps the largest bee-farm in the world. As this has been a good honey year in Canada, he expects to take not less than 70,000 pounds of honey, the net value of which will reach nearly $10,000.

—The returns of the yield of wheat in the United States per acre indicate a production of about two-and-a-half bushels per acre less than the crop last year. The aggregate yield will reach 400,000,000 bushels, and may reach 420,000,000. The quality is not up to the average yield.

A Triumph of Surgery.

How a Rabbit gives up his Eyes that a Man may See.

A remarkable operation was performed by Dr. Eugene Smith recently before a clinic in the Detroit Medical College, at St. Mary's Hospital, a number of Michigan College of Medicine students being present, by courtesy, to witness the operation.

The subject was Fred Myers, aged 19, who had been totally blind for several years, on account of an inflammation which caused the lower lids of each eye to grow up over the ball and pupil. Dr. Smith's operation consisted, first, of dissecting away the overgrown lid. In doing this the conjunctiva or mucous membrane necessarily came away with it, leaving the eye ball unprotected. The patient was under the influence of chloroform, and a live rabbit had been procured and also placed under anæsthetic. Skillfully removing the conjunctiva from one of the rabbit's eyes, Dr. Smith placed it over the ball of the patient's eye and sewed it into place. The operation seemed entirely successful, and after Myers has recovered and is able to use the eye, the other will be operated upon in a similar manner. This transplanting of the conjunctiva, or mucous membrane, from the eye of an animal to that of a human being has been successfully performed in a few rare cases in Europe but this operation was the first of the kind ever attempted in this country.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of $250 a month. Thus do industry, combined with twenty per cent. of gall, sixty per cent. of cheek, and the balance a choice assortment of lies, win its own reward.—California Advertiser.

Men of Letters.

A Glimpse at Anthony Trollope's Autobiography.—An Author's Struggles.

Since Carlyle's memoir nothing more interesting has been given to the world than Anthony Trollope's autobiography. He wished it to be published speedily after his death. He knew that the story of his life was the best novel he could publish. He says in the preface, "It will not be so much my intention to speak of the little details of my private life as of that which I and perhaps others around me have done in literature—of my failures and successes, such as they have been, and the causes, and of the opening which a literary career offers to men and women for earning their bread."

—The reports to the corn crop fully satisfied the telegraphic summary of Sept. 10th as to the injuries by the frosts of the 8th, 9th, and 10th.

—The potato crop in the United States is in better condition than any year since 1875. The prospect is favorable for a crop above the medium. The tobacco crop will be below the average.

—Application has been made for space in the Exposition Building in Chicago for the exhibition of 70 imported Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus, and Galloway cattle, owned by the Hon. M. H. Cochran, of Canada.

—A few weeks ago a large consignment of frozen mutton was received at Manchester, England, in fresh, wholesome condition. The entire vessel which brought this consignment from South America had in her cargo 17,165 carcasses of mutton.

—Statistician Dodge of the United States Agricultural Department calculates that 5,000,000 sheep are destroyed annually by disease and dogs, mostly the latter. This is one-eighth of the sheep in the country and is a big rate of interest to pay on the dog monopoly.

—Mr. Jones, of Ontario, Canada, is the owner of what is perhaps the largest bee-farm in the world. As this has been a good honey year in Canada, he expects to take not less than 70,000 pounds of honey, the net value of which will reach nearly $10,000.

—The returns of the yield of wheat in the United States per acre indicate a production of about two-and-a-half bushels per acre less than the crop last year. The aggregate yield will reach 400,000,000 bushels, and may reach 420,000,000. The quality is not up to the average yield.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of $250 a month. Thus do industry, combined with twenty per cent. of gall, sixty per cent. of cheek, and the balance a choice assortment of lies, win its own reward.—California Advertiser.

LITERARY PROFIT.

The profits were about $45 the first year and $50 the second. Trollope had been writing articles from time to time, but at the end of 1857 he had received only $275 for the hard work of ten years. The greater part of "Barchester Towers" was written in a train, and subsequently Trollope got into the habit of writing in a railway carriage. "I made for myself a little table and found after a few years' exercise that I could write as quickly in a railway carriage as at my desk. I worked with a pencil, and what I wrote my wife copied afterward. The only objection to the practice came from the appearance of literary ostentation to which I felt myself subject when going to work before four or five fellow passengers."

—The reports to the corn crop fully satisfied the telegraphic summary of Sept. 10th as to the injuries by the frosts of the 8th, 9th, and 10th.

—The potato crop in the United States is in better condition than any year since 1875. The prospect is favorable for a crop above the medium. The tobacco crop will be below the average.

—Application has been made for space in the Exposition Building in Chicago for the exhibition of 70 imported Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus, and Galloway cattle, owned by the Hon. M. H. Cochran, of Canada.

—A few weeks ago a large consignment of frozen mutton was received at Manchester, England, in fresh, wholesome condition. The entire vessel which brought this consignment from South America had in her cargo 17,165 carcasses of mutton.

—Statistician Dodge of the United States Agricultural Department calculates that 5,000,000 sheep are destroyed annually by disease and dogs, mostly the latter. This is one-eighth of the sheep in the country and is a big rate of interest to pay on the dog monopoly.

—Mr. Jones, of Ontario, Canada, is the owner of what is perhaps the largest bee-farm in the world. As this has been a good honey year in Canada, he expects to take not less than 70,000 pounds of honey, the net value of which will reach nearly $10,000.

—The returns of the yield of wheat in the United States per acre indicate a production of about two-and-a-half bushels per acre less than the crop last year. The aggregate yield will reach 400,000,000 bushels, and may reach 420,000,000. The quality is not up to the average yield.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of $250 a month. Thus do industry, combined with twenty per cent. of gall, sixty per cent. of cheek, and the balance a choice assortment of lies, win its own reward.—California Advertiser.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of $250 a month. Thus do industry, combined with twenty per cent. of gall, sixty per cent. of cheek, and the balance a choice assortment of lies, win its own reward.—California Advertiser.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of $250 a month. Thus do industry, combined with twenty per cent. of gall, sixty per cent. of cheek, and the balance a choice assortment of lies, win its own reward.—California Advertiser.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of $250 a month. Thus do industry, combined with twenty per cent. of gall, sixty per cent. of cheek, and the balance a choice assortment of lies, win its own reward.—California Advertiser.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of $250 a month. Thus do industry, combined with twenty per cent. of gall, sixty per cent. of cheek, and the balance a choice assortment of lies, win its own reward.—California Advertiser.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of $250 a month. Thus do industry, combined with twenty per cent. of gall, sixty per cent. of cheek, and the balance a choice assortment of lies, win its own reward.—California Advertiser.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of $250 a month. Thus do industry, combined with twenty per cent. of gall, sixty per cent. of cheek, and the balance a choice assortment of lies, win its own reward.—California Advertiser.

—Death has just put an end, at the village of Bois d'Haine, in Belgium, to the sufferings of a strange being, Louise Lateau, whose singular case has puzzled many a doctor. She was called "La Stigmatique," the Catholics declaring that every Friday blood flowed from wounds visible on her hands, her feet and her side, in remembrance of the Crucifixion. This "miracle" attracted innumerable sightseers, whose contributions were sufficient to enable the practical showman to rebuild the little village church and paragon in most luxurious style.

—A city front beggar was arrested this week with fifteen dollars in his pocket, and he stated confidentially to the officer, who pulled him up by the collar, that he had just received a large sum of money from a business capacity, the moment he was released a large firm on Battery street engaged him as a drummer for the house at a salary of