What Some Nova Scotia Bakers Say about the success they have had with Royal Household Flour

The Largest Bakers in Eastern Canada, Morris, Limited, Halifax, say:

In answer to your inquiry as to whether we could suggest any change that would be an improvement to "Royal Household," we emphatically answer "no." The great satisfaction we have had with your "Royal Household" this last nine months, using over 5,000 barrels in that time, has been an extreme pleasure to us. We are using this flour mostly for bread, also using nothing else for our pastry, for which we have a very large sale.

(Signed) MORRIS, LIMITED.
Halifax, Sept. 2.

The oldest bakers in Dartmouth, say:

"Royal Household" flour is as near to perfection in the results obtained as it is possible for any flour to be. In the history of our baking business, now established for half a century, we have never had anything to equal it.
(Signed) JOSEPH H. GENTLES.
Dartmouth, N. S., Sept. 15th, 1904.

The leading baker in Annapolis, says:

This is to certify that I have used considerable quantities of "Royal Household" flour during the present year and find it to be a good article indeed; suitable for family purpose in all the requirements of bread, biscuit and pastry. I regard it as equal to any flour on the market. It is the best hard wheat flour for pastry that I have ever used.

THE GREAT MIRAMICHI FIRE

Something About the Terrible Blaze Which Did Such Damage on the North Shore.

(Correspondence St. John Sun.)
Friday, October 7th was seventy-ninth anniversary of the great Miramichi fire. The appended quaint account of the conflagration appears on a sheet of paper 7 x 9 inches, that was issued Oct. 11th, 1825. This little sheet is supposed to be the only one of its kind now in existence.

FIRE AND HURRICANE.

On the night of the 7th inst. this place exhibited one the most terrible scenes that a general conflagration is capable of producing.

The climate for two days previous was so intensely close and warm, but all doubt was removed as to some great fire existing in the woods, and on the approach of the night of the seventh it commenced its sad devastation.

The wind blew a violent hurricane from the Northwest and brought with it from Douglstown, Newcastle and the surrounding country, such immense clouds of flames and ashes, that it became extremely difficult to retain any position or to breathe at Chatham. The appearance of the heavens was awful, representing as far as the eye was capable of extending but one unvarying body of flames; the effect was frightfully increased from the appalling roar of the fire through the country in all quarters, the air blowing with such violence as to occasion the air to resound with one incessant thunder.

Among the vessels in the river a number were cast on shore, three of which, namely, the Concord, and Canada, together with the brig Jane, were consumed, others were fortunately extinguished after the fire had attacked them.

At Douglstown scarcely any kind of property escaped the ravage of the fire, which swept to the surface everything coming in contact with it, including the extensive mercantile establishments of Messrs. Gilmour, Rankin & Co. William Abrams & Co. together with their vessel then on the stocks as also all the property of innumerable others leaving but little for the unfortunate inhabitants to fly to the shore, and there, by means of logs, canoes, rafts of timber, timber logs or any article, however ill calculated for the purpose, endeavor to escape from the dreadful scenes to reach the town of Chatham, numbers of men, women and children perishing in the attempt.

The town of Newcastle with all the surrounding settlements, became a total waste, excepting about fourteen buildings among those which were laid in ashes were the court house, church, barracks, jail and the miles through all parts of the interior of the country where mercantile, farmer and timber business were carried on to a great extent, the greatest ravages and desolation took place.

From the magnitude of the fire, and the dreadful violence of the winds, it is almost impossible to form an accurate idea of the extent of the loss of lives or property.

The remote settlements from the entrance of the river to the extreme source of it present to the eye the dreadful havoc of this calamitous event, particularly those of the North-west Branch, the Bartibog and Nappan, some of which have scarcely a place of habitation left, and the lives that were lost are innumerable; the shores at almost every change of the wind exhibiting dreadful spectacles of the burnt and drowned.

In some parts of the country the cattle have all been destroyed or suffered greatly, and the very soil in many places has been parched and burnt up and no article of provisions to speak of has been rescued from the flames, either at Newcastle, where almost every important mercantile establishment perished, or at Douglstown.

The hurricane raged with such dreadful violence that large bodies of timber on fire, as also trees from the forest, and parts of the flaming houses and stores were carried to the rivers with amazing velocity, to such an extent, and affecting the water in such a manner as to occasion large quantities of salmon and other fish to resort to the land hundreds of which were scattered on the shore of the North and South-West branches.

Chatham at present contains about five hundred of the unfortunate sufferers who have resorted to it for relief, and are experiencing some partial assistance and almost every hour brings with it numbers from the back settlements burnt, wounded or in the most abject state of distress, and it is reported nearly two hundred have been actually discovered.

At this scene the heart sickens to see the widows, widowers and orphans that are without clothing, homes or the means of sustenance, and it is impossible at this early period to say how many humans have been added to the dead, or have survived to know that a father, mother, sister or brother has been devoured by the flames or perished by the wave, not only from the circumstance of numerous families in the back settlements not yet being heard of, but also from the want of information regarding the fate of large lumbering parties in the interior of the wood, who it is feared have fallen victims to the flames.

In a situation therefore, of such unparalleled distress and calamity it is hoped the hand of humanity will be extended to relieve the peculiar sufferings of our fellow creatures, and administer a balm to the torn feelings and wants of those who have in this most distressing manner been deprived of their dearest and best, and cast on the humanity of the world perfect beggars.

SURPRISE TO DOCTORS.

Most doctors are astonished at the results obtained by Doctor Chase's Ointment as a cure for eczema, salt rheum and itching skin diseases which are often considered well-nigh incurable. By word of mouth from friend to friend the exceptional merits of Dr. Chase's Ointment have gradually become known until it is now standard the world over and has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medicine.

Miss Nettie Blackmore, Minneapolis, tells how any young woman may be permanently cured of monthly pains by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"YOUNG WOMEN:—I had frequent headaches of a severe nature, dark spots before my eyes, and at my menstrual periods I suffered untold agony. A member of the lodge advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I only scorned good advice and felt that my case was hopeless, but she kept at me until I bought a bottle and started taking it. I soon had the best reason in the world to change my opinion of the medicine, as each day my health improved, and finally I was entirely without pain at my menstruation periods. I am most grateful."—NETTIE BLACKMORE, 28 Central Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.—$2000 forfeit if original of above letter proving goodness cannot be produced.

If there is anything about your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She will hold your letter in strict confidence. She can surely help you, for no person in America can speak from a wider experience in treating female ills. She has helped hundreds of thousands of women back to health. Her address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free.

Poor Brown has given up a hope of a Government position.

My my! how did that happen?

Well, they took him before the civil service folks, an' jest because he failed on geography, an' spellin' an' rithmetic an' sich, they acchully turned him down!

An' what's he goin' to do now?

Dear knows! Ef he don't run fer High Sheriff I reckon he'll have to go to teachin' school.
