No explanation is forthcoming of the sudden resignation of the Austro-Hungarian Minister of War, and the General Staff General. They have said their action is due to personal reasons, but coming at such a critical time it cannot be doubted that it will have a wide political significance. It had been expected that in the event of war, General Hoetzendorf would be appointed Chief of Staff. His appointment will now be succeeded by General Schemua. The fact that Austria-Hungary has negotiated for a temporary loan of $50,000,000, cannot have a disquieting effect on the international situation. It is supposed that Austria wishes to exert a strong influence over the coming conference at London to prevent the entry of Turkey into the Balkan federation. The Austrian war party is known to be inflamed against Russia, and in the belief that the defiant Russian attitude is due to the Franco-Russian Alliance, some Austrian papers, supporting the war party, are urging that unless Russia ceases mobilizing, the powers comprising the triple alliance should fall upon France and crush her before Russia could intervene. However the crisis may end, the war fever is having a disastrous effect on Austro-Hungarian trade. A financial panic prevails throughout Galicia, where various banks have already paid out more than $40,000,000 to various depositors without stemming the run. It is reported in Paris to-day that the entire Austro-Hungarian fleet is concentrated at Pola, the chief naval station of Austria-Hungary.

The Times publishes the following New Zealand views of Premier Borden's proposals:—The New Zealand Herald eulogizes the proposal, and welcomes the admission of the largest and most influential Dominion to the Defence Committee, and the ultimate participation of all the Dominions in the control of foreign policy, as the natural outcome of the problem of defence. The Lyttelton Times considers that although Canada's gift is large enough to affect the naval situation, papercially, the Dominions representation in the Defence Committee is even more important. The Canadian Minister of Marine goes to London as the first member of the Cabinet of the Empire, and other Dominions will undoubtedly be admitted into partnership when they present their claims. The New Zealand Times hopes that Allen, Minister of Defence will not be hypnotized while in England by influences promoting another insane era of competition in battleship building.

The Berlin correspondent of the Observer wires that Germany is maintaining a masterly silence regarding Canada's naval contribution, broken only by a solitary noteworthy instance. Court Roventow gives vent to his opinion thus. He finds that Canada's intended contribution gives the direct to Churchill's 16 to 10 Anglo-German ratio. Canada's action, he asserts, is the first of incessant agitation of London imperialism. There cannot be a shadow of doubt that Churchill and Borden, in the early months of 1912, discussed and worked out the project now before the Canadian parliament. Germany withholds judgment on the honesty of Churchill's policy until the British estimates for 1913 are published. If the First Lord's progress of five capital ships includes the three Canadian Dreadnoughts his reputation for veracity will be saved, but if the programme is eight ships Churchill, Asquith and Company will stand convicted as base deceivers. The Vossische Zeitung remarks that attention cannot be called often enough to the mighty instrument for power which the British Empire, and England in particular, possesses in the future fleets of her daughter Dominions.

Last evening a labourer of Signal Hill was acting very disorderly at his home and his parents reported the matter to the police station. He had been put on the 'water wagon' and wanted to carry out his spleen for having his drinks stopped. Yesterday somebody bought liquor for him and he celebrated freely. Last night after going home became obstreperous, first attempting to make matchwood out of the furniture and then started in to wipe out his father and mother. Constables Tucker and Bruce were summoned and the inebriate was arrested.
