This content dition was very much in favor of the farmers, however, and the prices were again on the lift; $16.50 was paid for one load and $16. for another, and even at these prices there was no slackening in 569/2 EAST BUFFALO, Nov. 17.—Cattle—Bank of Commerce..... the grain offered. Oats were, indeed, the only grain offered, and these were very strong in price, $1 30 prevailing. Only a few small loads were offered, though there were many buyers anxious for a supply. Other grains were not offered at 31. There was been a very decided slump in the grain market lately, and practically nothing is being offered. This is partly due to a local scarcity, and partly to the fact that at present the farmers are busy at farm work, but it is certain also that the prevailing high prices on other commodities is leading them to hold out for a raise in the prices of grains, and as a result many anxious buyers are compelled to do without. Wheat prices still remain at $1 to $1 02, but with practically none offering. Some straw was offered at $8.

Other prices remain as follows:

GALE AT TORONTO LITTLE REAL WINTER

Sudden Drop in the Temperature Listed Building From Its Founda Has Pleased Business Men.

There was a smile of sublime satisfaction on the faces of most of the hugged the steam radiator, and cast a glance to see that the last buyer had waiting, it is their turn at last. Putting winter under-flannels of alluring hue in the window is no longer a matter of faith, but of solid financial re turns. The passer-by came and saw and with a shiver turned in search of a suit of fleece-lined-so the store keeper had conquered.

After the balmy weather of the past few weeks, to turn out-of-doors this morning was like taking a week-end trip to Nova Zembla or some other Pearyesque locality. The fawn-shaded raincoats that have held undisputed sway for the past few weeks, were left hanging on the hallrack this morning, while the onetime groud possessor dug down among the moth balls for last winter's overcoat, ruminating the while as to whether it wasn't only fair to his tailor to order a new one. On the streets men were blowing on their fingers in the old familiar January way. There was a hint of snow in the air, and for the first time in weeks it was a safe bet to start out without an umbrella. Despite the unusual temperature, everyone seemed to be rather pleased than otherwise at the change Certainly the merchants are, Midsum-mer weather in November is never to their liking, because it is hard to make a man believe that he needs a fur-lined overcoat when he had to work in his shirt-sleeves to keep from evaporating. And in every other line it i same. Even a dyed-in-the-wool belief in Santa Claus will not make people buy Christmas presents whil
