CONSTABLES LAY CHARGE AGAINST HENSALL MEN
Liquor Seizure Was Made.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
CLINTON, Aug. 28.—Charges have been laid against Thomas Berry, a prominent horseman, and Reeve Fred Smallcombe of Hensall, as a result of a visit by County Constables Wallis and the temperance association, who had been sent by the driving shed and office of Mr. Berry.

The constables charged that when they refused to take the reins' instructions he assumed a threatening attitude and offered the auto driver more money to put the car back in the garage than he was willing to pay for the liquor to the cold storage plant of Inspector Torrance at Clinton.

When the keg was discovered Berry is said to have told the constables that it was "vinegar" and pleaded with them not to take it, but to make sure they secured a brace and bit, and are convinced that their suspicions were well founded.

MR. LUCAS KNOWS NAUGHT OF POWER EXPORT SCHEME
Says There Is No Arrangement, So How Could It Be?

[Special to The Advertiser.]
TORONTO, Aug. 28.—Neither Hon. I. B. Lucas nor the hydro officials have any knowledge regarding the offer of the Federal Light and Power Company of Detroit to sell stock in the company which has as its purpose the importation of Niagara power for distribution at prices from 10 to 30 per cent below prevailing Detroit rates.

The announcement that there was such application on foot was news to Hon. Mr. Lucas, attorney-general and member of the provincial hydro commission. The minister said there was no arrangement in the commission's agreement with Windsor whereby that municipality could dispose of surplus hydro power for export. "That being the case, how could this Detroit company obtain the power?" he said today.

RUMANIA'S ENMITY FEARED BY GERMANY MORE THAN ITALY'S

Newspapers Hoped Former Would Stay Neutral.

LATTER OF NO ACCOUNT
Will Have Little Effect in View of Conditions, Says the Official Organ.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—Via London.—Although Italy's declaration of war against Germany was absolutely unheralded and came as a complete surprise, it failed to create the slightest ripple of excitement in Berlin. The announcement was made public in extra editions of the newspapers yesterday afternoon in the customary extra editions of the Sunday newspapers which give the official war reports. Idle crowds read the declaration undemonstratively and then continued the usual Sunday strolls.

The official Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung sounds the keynote of press comment, taking the position that Italy's formal declaration of war will have but little effect in view of the existing conditions.

Afraid of Rumania.
All the editorials were written prior to the receipt of information regarding Rumania's declaration of war on Austria-Hungary, and almost without exception the newspapers expressed the hope that Italy's action would not force Rumania into the conflict. The Tagblatt says:

"We have waited for this declaration of war without excitement or unrest, because we were sure that Italy's action would be regarded as a great deed, and may be accompanied with the usual demonstrations. In Germany it leaves the public ice-cold."

Expected, Says Tagblatt.
This, the 27th declaration of war, was plainly to be expected the Tagblatt continues, when the present cabinet of Premier Boselli was formed and Walter Runciman, president of the British board of trade, visited Italy; for then Italy was a vessel of her stronger allies. The Italian foreign minister, Baron Sonnino, has now been committed to suppress his conscience, says the Lokal Anzeiger, which continues:

"One thing is certain: Italy's declaration of war on Germany is a matter of indifference from a political or military standpoint. It has importance chiefly for Italy, and the long delay in its coming is of no account. The view that Italy's action is not entirely voluntary is expressed also by the Vossische Zeitung, which characterizes Italy as a tool of the Entente powers. This newspaper believes Italy's action was intended primarily to exert pressure on Rumania, but in common with all other newspapers expressed the hope that Rumania will regard Italy as a horrible example, not to be followed."

KELLY'S DONATION TO PATRIOTIC FUND CHARGED TO PUBLIC

Included in Alleged Cost of Parliament Buildings.

TOTAL COST $700,000
At Same Time Had Received More Than $1,600,000 From Government.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 28.—The crown's case against the former cabinet ministers will be completed tomorrow or Wednesday, and Mr. Justice Prud'homme told the jury at adjournment today that he looked for a very early termination of the trial.

John S. Ferris, who was a bookkeeper for Thomas Kelly & Sons when work on the federal parliament buildings was begun, was a witness this afternoon. He swore that when he last saw the firm's books, in April, 1915, the work done in parliament buildings to that date, according to the books, had cost about $700,000. The firm's donation to the patriotic fund had been charged up to the cost, he said, as well as plant, material and the salary of the firm's employees up to the building up to the time Kelly closed the work.

Up to this time the Government had paid the Kelly firm more than $1,600,000.

Simpson on the Job.
Mr. Ferris testified that he saw Dr. R. M. Simpson go to Thomas Kelly's office on the 27th of April, 1915, at the time the contract was let, and there were many telephone conversations between them. He said there was no lump sum amount given in the firm's account until the work on the caissons was completed.

The jury were excluded for some time while counsel argued over the admission of numerous documents, and those which were admitted were read to the court later by J. B. Coyne, K. C., for the crown. They included the records of Dr. Simpson's safety box and of the various receipts for the work which had cost $20,000 in bills paid by the bank to Thomas Kelly. Numerous telegrams were read, including communications to and from Sir Rodmond Roblin and Thomas Kelly at Hot Springs, Ark., and Hon. Dr. McTague and others in Winnipeg. In March, 1915, when the public accounts committee was holding its inquiry, Lawrence Kelly, son of Thomas Kelly, was wired his father to "come at once," that his presence here was necessary.

ROGERS INTERESTED.
On May 26 Dr. Simpson wired Hon. Robert Rogers asking if they could get "some assistance from Sweeney in regard to prices paid on the St. Andrew's locks." Telegrams from Sir Rodmond Roblin to Rogers urged the necessity of Mr. H. Phipps, K. C., coming to Winnipeg and on April 22 Mr. Rogers wired that he had "arranged with Sir William" and Phipps was to leave that night. On April 29 when the royal commission had been appointed, Sir Rodmond wired Mr. Rogers asking him to "see the general" in reference to a lieutenant's commission for Geo. F. Frey McDonald, son of Commissioner McDonald.

City Detective George Smith testified that when he searched the books of Kelly & Sons he found many receipts for search warrants, names were missing from the ledger having the record of parliament building contracts, personal accounts and some other matters. Some names also were missing from the cash book.
