WORLDINGS.
—No author of to-day is here to his own humility.
—Who ever heard of a woman making as a picture of still life?
—Vaccination has the bulge on beauty. It is more than skin deep.
—Canada sends large quantities of ice to Pennsylvania and Maryland.
—Given away: the man who was fool enough to impart a confidence.
—An under-graduate: the collegian who got thrown in a wrestling match.
—The island of Elbe, Napoleon I's old home, is being strongly fortified by Italy.
—The poet Larroux had the scarlet fever when he wrote his latest historical poem.
—The secret of snake charmers of the India is said to be sewing up the mouths of their snakes.
—The author of "there is a happy land" is still living, with no desire to seek that highly-favored country.
—The German association of spelling reformers has published the first of a series of classical native authors in the new orthography.
—William Black's new romance, "Shandon bells," opens with the true ring; that is to say, with an engagement ring. There's a betrothal in the first chapter.
—The short stories written for English magazines are as a rule superior in plot and construction to those published in America. Why should this be so, or continue to be?
—When all his brother's debts are paid, the present Earl of Loudaule will have only £20,000 a year, instead of the original £60,000, where-with to drag out a miserable existence.
—A grown-up resident of Leeseburg, Fla., laughed as heartily as the boys who tied a blazing spoonful of kerosene to the tail of a dog—until the brute ran under his house and set a fire which destroyed it.
—The English Catholic Duke of Norfolk has presented an estate at Storrington, near Arundel, to the Premonstratensians expelled from St. Michel de Figeolles, who will accordingly build an abbey there.
—It is significant of the change of sentiment toward Jews in England that the Evangelical Earl of Shaftesbury writes: "I have long desired to see such a man as Sir Moses Montefiore in the house of lords."
—After a protracted silence Sir Robert Peel appeared at a recent election to denounce the proposed closure as "an attempt to gag the opposition such as had not been attempted since the days of King John."
—A rattlesnake confined in a cage for eleven months shed its skin four times, at sixty rats, and although it had access to a tank of water, an apparatus prepared for the purpose proved it had never drunk a drop.
—The fact that the letter containing a explosive material, which was sent to the chief secretary at Dublin castle, bore the arms of Trinity college, and was mailed within a few yards of it, has led to the surmise that the iodide of nitrogen was obtained by a student from the college laboratory.
