The Grenadiers' Entertainment. The military feature of the season will be the presentation by the officers of the Grenadiers to-night of a series of tableaux and amateur theatricals at the Grand opera house. The greatest trouble and practice have been brought to bear to make the former a very strong part of the entertainment, particularly the representation of Miss Thompson's well known pictures, The Roll Call and Quatre Bras, both of which Roll Call and Quatre Bras, both of which will be pictured true to the original. The comedies put on the boards will no doubt be rendered as well, if not better, than could be expected from amateurs. Besides a large number of men and non-com's, the following will take part: Col.-Sergeant Francis, Lient's. Percival and Ryerson, Captains Manley, Andros and Lloyd. They will be assisted by Mrs. Lloyd, Miss Farmer and Miss Howard.

A Violation of the Neutrality Laws. PHILADELPHIA, April 28-The steame Tropic arrived this morning from San Antonio, Jamaica. Information was laid by three of her scamen that the vessel, commanded by Captain Rand, with Thomas Penner first mate and Willis Rand second mate, had been employed by the Haytian insurgents to convey arms and uniforms to Hayti in violation of the neutrality laws, and to convey insurgent's troops, headed by General Bazlias from Jacque to Meragoone on the occasion of the capture of that place by insurgents on March 27. Pender and Willis Rand were arrested. Capt. Rand was not on the vessel when the others were contract. captured. The Tropic went out of this port ostensibly in ballast, but witnesses declare she had her military cargo on board when she left the dock.

The Civil Assizes. Judge Paterson took up the civil docket where Judge Osler left off yesterday morning. There are 33 non-jury cases remaining to be tried. The first case called was that of Gault Bros. v. McNabb. Plaintiffs carry on a wholesale dry goods business in Montreal, and sold stock to the amount of $850 to the defendant, who at the time was carrying on trade in Barrie. The defendant, who was in partnership with his his father, laimed that he was not represented as he claimed that he was not responsible as he had gone out of the business before the purchase of the goods was made. Judgment was rendered for the plaintiff for $875.97.
