

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

How Mrs. Kelly Suffered and How She was Cured.

Burlington, Wis.—"I was very irregular, and had pains in my side and back, but after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and using two bottles of the Sanative Wash I am fully convinced that I am entirely cured of these troubles, and feel better all over. I know your remedies have done me worlds of good and I hope every suffering woman will give them a trial."—Mrs. ANNA KELLY, 710 Chestnut Street, Burlington, Wis.

The many convincing testimonials constantly published in the newspapers ought to be proof enough to women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they need.

This good old root and herb remedy has proved unequalled for these dreadful ills; it contains what is needed to restore woman's health and strength.

If there is any peculiarity in your case requiring special advice, write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for free advice.

The Position of Newspapers

(Guelph Mercury)

There are many phrases that have come into use lately, and some of them have a great deal of meaning that is hard to express in any other way. Among these latter-day phrases there is one, "Have a heart," that can well be applied to a situation that every newspaper publisher in the Dominion is facing, and has been facing for months past.

The demand for free notices in connection with almost every move in connection with the carrying on of the war, and the raising of battalions and of funds, has come to a point now where it is not fair to expect the papers to accede to all requests. It is doubtful if there is any class of trade that has donated so openly of its stock-in-trade as the newspapers. The only thing they have to sell is the white space in their paper, and almost every day there is a certain amount of this given to patriotic and Red Cross purposes absolutely free. In the aggregate, this amounts to a very great deal.

A newspaper, although having a quasi-public nature is, in so far as its financing is concerned, a private concern, and as such is feeling the increasing wages and other burdens that fall on the financial end of the business.

It might be well for the public to keep this in mind, that a newspaper has to pay its way like any other concern, and that there is a limit to what it can give away. And be sides that there is no reason why advance notices of anything, no matter whether the object is to raise money or to have a good time, should not be paid for, and reckoned as a legitimate expense.

Warts are unsightly blemishes, and corns are painful growths. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove them.

Semi-centennial Celebration

There will be a special issue of postage stamps for the confederation semi-centennial. It was also decided that there shall be a celebration at Ottawa, which will include the dedication of a memorial tablet by the Governor-General. This will be erected upon the Parliament Buildings, now under construction. Each of the provincial governments have been asked to hold a celebration at the capital. The birthday of the Dominion falls on Sunday and the people of Canada are directed to celebrate generally on Monday. There is a request to the churches that they conduct special confederation services on Sunday, and arrangements are being made for services in London and Paris to be attended by Canadian soldiers and other Canadians in these capitals. A pamphlet has been prepared showing the growth of the country since the provinces were brought together.

Will Grow Sugar Cane

Owing to the prevailing high prices of sugar this season will see a revival of the growth by the farmers in this part of the country of sugar cane. Years ago there used to be a lot of this plant grown and a mill here did a thriving business in the fall, manufacturing it into a heavy sugar, called sorghum. In recent years there has been little of it used but a local seed dealer reports that for this season's growth he has sold more seed for the cane than he has disposed of altogether during the past 15 years. The old plant here is not now in operation, but a firm at Ridgeway has machinery and will be ready for manufacturing it this fall.—Blenheim Tribune.

Catarh Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarh deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarh deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarh Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo O.

The Western Fair

The Management of the Western Fair London, Ont., are planning great things for their Exhibition this year which will be held from Sept. 7th to 15th.

This will be the fiftieth year without a break and having adopted as their slogan the words,

"A HALF CENTURY OF SUCCESS," they are going forward with a determination to make this year's Exhibition surpass all former ones, good as they have been. The Board have sustained a very great loss in the death of their President, Mr. W. J. Reid, who filled the position so acceptably since the year 1905. Lt.-Col. W. M. Garthshore has been elected his successor, and with several new men on the Executive Committee and Board, the Exhibition will doubtless be the best this year ever held.

Any information regarding it will be promptly given on application to the Secretary, A. M. Hunt, Dominion Savings Building, London, Ont.

The Home Paper

When the evening shades have fallen,
At the ending of the day,
And a fellow rests from labor
Smoking at his pipe of clay;

There is nothing pleases better,
Be his fortune up or down,
Than the little country paper,
From his own home town.

It's not a thing of beauty,
And it's print's not always clear,
But it straightens out his temper,
When a fellow's feeling queer;

It takes the wrinkle off his face,
And brushes off the frown,
That little country paper,
From his own home town.

Now I like to read the dailies,
And the story paper, too,
And at times the yellow novel,
And some other trash, don't you?

But when I want some reading,
That will brush away a frown,
I want that little paper
From my own home town.

Pills That Have Benefited Thousands.—Known far and near as a sure remedy in the treatment of indigestion and all derangements of the stomach, liver and kidneys, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills have brought relief to thousands when other specifics have failed. Innumerable testimonials can be produced to establish the truth of this assertion. Once tried they will be found superior to all other pills in treatment of the ailments for which they are prescribed.

SHOD WITH SILENCE.

Big Bull Moose Can Traverse a Thick Forest Without a Sound.

Although taller than an ordinary horse, weighing more than half a ton and adorned with wide spreading antlers, the bull moose stalks with ghostly silence through thicket forests, where man can scarcely move without being betrayed by the loud crackling of dry twigs. In summer it loves low lying, swampy forests interspersed with shallow lakes and sluggish streams. In such places it often wades up to its neck in a lake to feed on succulent water plants and when reaching to the bottom becomes entirely submerged. These visits to the water are sometimes by day, but usually at night, especially during the season when the calves are young and the horns of the bulls are but partly grown.

Late in the fall, with full grown antlers, the bulls wander through the forest looking for their mates, at times uttering farreaching calls of defiance to all rivals and occasionally clashing their horns against the saplings in exuberance of masterful vigor. Other bulls at times accept the challenge and hasten to meet the rival for a battle royal. At this season the call of the cow moose quickly attracts the bulls. Hunters take advantage of this and by imitating the call through a birch bark trumpet bring the most aggressive bulls to their doom.—National Geographic Magazine.

FLIES FLEE FROM BLUE.

The Germ Laden Pests Either Fear or Hate That Color.

The Arabs have long known that flies fear or hate the color blue, and that is why the houses in many of their towns are calcimined in a light blue tint. Before the French Academy of Sciences recently Messrs. Galaine and Houlebert described the results of their observations on the eyesight of flies. The only light that these insects see really well is white; their eyes do not see violet and indigo at all; the vibrations of the blue and green rays are disagreeable to them, and red has the effect of darkness. Yellow alone of all the colored rays is tolerated as well as white.

The solar spectrum as seen by the eyes of a fly begins at green and ends at bright orange. The practical conclusion to be drawn from this is that when a room has blue window panes the flies therein become as inactive as if it were dark. If a slat of a blind be opened to let in a ray of white light the flies will rush toward it and go out through the blind.

In Japan they hang curtains made of beads of blue glass mixed with tubes of painted bamboo at the entrances to butchers' and pastry cooks' shops. These let the air in, and the flies go out through the interstices between the beads, but do not re-enter.

Equine Pedometers.

The whorls of hair on the coats of horses and other animals are natural pedometers, inasmuch as they register the locomotive activities of the animals on whose bodies they are found. The best examples and the greatest number of these hairy whorls and crests are found on the domestic horse. A notable instance is the graceful feathering that extends along the hollow of the flank, dividing the trunk of the animal from the hind quarters. There are also crests and whorls on the horse's chest and other parts of its body. A study of the action of the underlying muscles explains the origin of these peculiarities in the lay of the hair and furnishes the justification for calling them pedometers, although the analogy is, of course, merely superficial.—St. Louis Republic.

Asking Too Much.

George is employed in his father's clothing emporium. On his return from lunch a few days ago his father called him into the office and said: "While you were at lunch your tailor called to collect a bill. I am surprised and pained, sir, to learn that you are in arrears. Isn't it possible for you to live on your salary?"

"Certainly it is, sir," replied George coolly, "but you don't expect me to support my creditors too?"—Exchange.
