HER CASE SEEMED HOPELESS

But "Fruit-a-lives" Brought Health and Strength

"I am writing you to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-lives'. This medicine relieved me when I had given up hope of ever being well. I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia—had suffered for years; and nothing I took did me any good. I read about 'Fruit-a-lives' and tried them. After taking a few boxes, of this wonderful medicine made from fruit juices, I am now entirely well." Madame ROSINA POISIZ, 30c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. BEAR RIVER IS PROSPEROUS

Pulp Mills Affording Work For Several Hundred Men all This Winter

A prominent citizen of Bear River questioned a reporter as to how things were progressing in that town, he said that his home was about the most flourishing and bustling little burg of its size in the Province of Nova Scotia. Over two hundred men are busy at work rushing to completion the modern pulp mill which is to furnish raw material for the big pulp and paper mill which is to be established in the Pugsley plant at Glen Falls. Work on the Bear River mill has begun over a year ago, and although there has been some delay in securing the desired machinery, it is expected that the mill will be ready for operation by next April. Immediately on its completion the erection of a pulp mill to manufacture container board, or planks of pulp will be begun. The boards so manufactured will then be shipped to the company's St. John factory, to be manufactured into cardboard cartons and the other lines which will be turned out in St. John's new industry.

In addition to the large force of men working on the pulp mill, the Clarke Brothers have a staff of over a hundred men employed in their large clothespin and dowel mill. This industry has been established for some time and is in a flourishing condition, the product of the plant reaching such distant markets as New Zealand and Australia. There is also a heavy output directed to the Old Country.

In addition to its flourishing industries, Bear River is situated on the heart of an ideal farming country. Crops were good this year, especially the apple and potato crop, which were above the average. As a consequence whatever tightening up there may be in other sections of the country, due to the present retrenchment period, everything is bright and prosperous in the hilly town, and every citizen thereof is a natural born optimist.

KINDNESSES

Friendship's ties are often broken By a little thing— Thoughtless deed, a quick word spoken. How they sometimes sting! Watchful be, for hearts are weary With the cares of life. And the way oft seemeth dreary— Give no cause for strife! There is much that we may brighten On life's pathway dreary: There are burdens we may lighten. Hearts that we may cheer, By some kindly deed or token. Lift the load of care. Watch the hearts by sorrowing broken. In their burdens share. Life the richer is for giving Words and deeds of cheer. And far better worth the living If we're helpful here; Drive away the shadows dreary. By a word of love. Point the burdened ones and weary To the Light above. Aids to making business pay. The R. T. "IT GAVE ME NEW LEASE OF LIFE"

That is What Mrs. Robertson Says After Tanlac Freed Her of Nervous Dyspepsia.

"I feel like I have a new lease on life since taking Tanlac, and I'll never stop praising it for what it has done for me," recently said Mrs. C. A. Robertson of 139 Agricola street, Halifax, N. S. "I had no appetite whatever," said Mrs. Robertson, "and I was in such a nervous run down condition that I could hardly drag myself about the house. My digestion was so poor what little I did manage to eat caused me to suffer with indigestion and bloating and simply made me feel miserable. I had violent headaches and such dizzy spells that at times I just had to sit down or catch hold of something to keep from falling. I was so nervous that the least little noise would upset me, and I couldn't even stand the children playing about the house. I was so restless, I could hardly sleep and many nights heard the clock strike every hour, and became so frantic that I just had to get up and walk the floor. Although I tried everything I heard of nothing did me any good and my condition was becoming almost unbearable. Finally I heard so much about Tanlac that I decided to give it a trial, and the way the medicine fixed me up was nothing less than wonderful. I have only taken four bottles now and am enjoying as good health as I ever did in my life. My appetite is just splendid and I can eat anything and everything without being bothered with indigestion. I never have headaches or dizzy spells, my nerves are so calm I can stand any amount of noise and at nights I sleep like a child. Tanlac has built me up until I have gained twelve pounds in weight and now weigh a hundred and eighteen pounds. I believe Tanlac is the best medicine ever made for troubles like I had, and I'm glad of a chance to recommend it."

Tanlac is sold in Bridgetown by S. N. Wear in Middleton by Clifford A. Mumford and in Bear River by L. V. Harris.

THE BRIDE

Little lady at the altar. Vowing by God's book and psalter To be faithful, fond and true Unto him who stands by you. Think not that romance is ended. That youth's curtain has descended. And love's pretty play is done; For it's only just begun. Marriage, hushing little lady. Is love's sunny path and shady. Over which two hearts should wander. Of each other growing tender. As you stroll to each tomorrow, You will come to joy and sorrow. And as faithful man and wife Read the troubled book of life. Bitter cares will some day find you; Closer, closer they will bind you. If together you will bear them, Cares grow sweet when lovers share them. Love unites two happy mortals. Brings them here to wedlock's portals. And then blithely bids them go Arm in arm through weal and woe. Little lady, just remember Every year has its December; Every rising sun its setting; Every life its time of fretting— And the honeymoon's sweet beauty Finds too soon the clouds of duty. But keep faith, when trouble tried, And in joy you shall abide. Little lady at the altar. Never let your courage falter. Never stoop to unbelieving. Even when your heart is grieving. To what comes of wintry weather Or disaster, stand together: Through life's fearful hours of night Love shall bring you to the light. Edgar A. Guest

WEDDING BELLS AT MELVERNY SQUARE

DURNO—BAKER The Baptist parsonage at Melverny Square was the scene of a happy event on Nov 9th, when Mary, second daughter of A. L. Baker, was united in marriage to William Durno, of Cambridge, N. S. The following evening a reception was given Mr. and Mrs. Durno at the home of the bride's parents. About eighty guests were present. The bride was charmingly dressed in ivory satin with beads trimmings. After a very pleasant evening a delicious luncheon was served, after which the guests took their departure. The number and value of presents received showed the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Mr. and Mrs. Durno will make their future home at Coldbrook, where the groom has purchased a fine farm.

THE TRAINMAN'S DINNER PAIL

Could Not Lose It Until He Got Some One to Borrow It.

Somebody got Mr. Brick's lunch can a while ago and cooked onions in it and as he can't endure that vegetable, he got the notion that he never could get the taste out of the can, and so he threw it away. Mr. Brick is a baggage master on a train, and he had the can made and his address put upon it. When he got back from work that day he threw the can away. He found that one of the neighbor's children had picked it up and returned it. He appreciated the kindness of the child, but took the can and chucked it into another neighbor's garden. In half an hour that neighbor sent it home. Then he determined to get rid of it anyhow, and took it to the depot next day and threw it into an empty car that was just being hauled away toward Chicago, and he didn't see it again till next day, when it arrived in an express package, on which he had to pay seventy five cents. Then he swore prodigiously, and tied it to a dog's tail, and the dog ran off with it; and this was an unlucky move, for half an hour later the dog's owner brought the can back and tried to thrash Mr. Brick for abusing his dog, the result being arrest and fines.

Then Mr. Brick was thoroughly aroused, and he took the can and sunk it off a dock. The next day, when he entered his car, there stood something done up in paper that he knew to be his can, and he kicked it sixty feet into the air and had to pay $20.00 for the valuable bird in the cage. Then he felt sure that he was rid of the thing, but a diver happened to find it, and got thumped on the head for retrieving it. Then Brick took the can home, and at night filled it with dynamite and exploded it. The people in the neighborhood, who were violently hurled from their beds by the shock, were quite indignant, and when they found out what caused it, they attempted to tar and feather Brick, and he had to pay a heap for repairing the windows wrecked.

And to add to this horror, he found he had taken, instead of the can he defused, a new one, and he was about wild, and concluded that he never would get rid of the thing. But at last he induced some one to borrow it, and he has never seen it since.

TOO MEAN TO LIVE

A man may use a wart on the back of his neck for a collar button; ride on the back of a railroad train to save interest on his money until the conductor comes around; stop his watch nights to save the wear and tear; leave his "I" and "I" without a dot or cross to save ink; pasture his mother in law's grave to save corn; but a man of this kind is a gentleman and a scholar compared to a fellow who will take a newspaper, and when asked to pay for it puts it in the office and has it marked "refused" and then borrows his neighbor's paper.
