

when all the time keepers should agree with the sun, the chronometer will be found essentially varying, and many other very important results will be developed.

But the changes going on in regard to the earth, are less remarkable perhaps than those which are affecting some of the other planets. The poles of Venus to all appearance, are now elevated full thirty-five degrees, and she seems to be changing from her former clear radiance to a color approaching that of Mars; the change in this particular, however, is not a slight, barely perceptible, under close observation, to the naked eye.

Herschel has the appearance of having greatly diminished in size, and has failed to reach a given point of its orbit, at a given time, and, in short, seems to have broken the bonds which have connected it to the solar system, and commenced its course as a member of some remote celestial retinue.

Saturn is also assuming an unwooled aspect. To all appearance, there is a mighty conflagration going on in the hitherto dark line which divides the rings; to such an extent has it already attained, that in one or two places the whole breadth has assumed the appearance of ragged ranges, glowing as if they were red hot iron, and throwing a lurid reflection upon the adjacent portions of the ring.

The changes seem also to extend beyond our system. The beautiful star Betelgeuse, in the constellation of Orion, has varied to such an extent from the vernal to the autumnal equinox of the present year, that its distance may be ascertained. It seems to be approaching the solar bounds.

WILLIAM EVANS, Editor. W. G. EDMUNDSON, Pub. and Proprietor.

In presenting the SECOND VOLUME of The Cultivator to Farmers and other classes to whom it may be useful in British America, we again promise that we shall do all in our power to submit the best information we can collect on the science and practice of husbandry, and advocate in the best manner we are capable, the interests of agriculture. This publication is a proper medium for communicating the wants and wishes of Canadian farmers, and we respectfully solicit for it their unanimous support.

From the general testimony in favour of the manner in which this paper has been conducted from the public press, and the most experienced farmers throughout the Province, there is every reason to believe that it will prove universally acceptable, and remunerate its readers tenfold for their subscription.

In the future numbers of this work, more attention will be paid to the important subject of Horticulture and Mechanic Arts. Each number will contain a GARDENERS and MECHANICS department; and in the spring and summer months a Gardener's CALENDAR will be prepared monthly, adapted to the Canadian climate, seasons, and productions.

CONDITIONS. Each number will contain SIXTEEN PAGES, and the work will be beautifully embellished with cuts, illustrating the different subjects on which it treats—making a volume of 192 large pages yearly, for the low price of ONE Dollar, free of postage, payable invariably in advance.
