ALEXANDER A. HENDERSON, M.D.

Dr. Alexander Allan Henderson, one of the oldest and best known medical practitioners of Ottawa, died at his home, 414 Albert street. The cause of death was heart trouble. He had been confined to his room for about six months and had been ailing seriously for more than a year.

For many years Dr. Henderson has been a highly respected resident of the city and enjoyed unusual success in his profession and esteem amongst all who knew him. Dr. Henderson, besides a wife, leaves one son and one daughter to mourn his demise. The son, Smith Henderson, is fourth year McGill student, and the daughter, Miss Jessie Henderson, resides at home.

The late Dr. Henderson was born in Dunblane, Scotland, April 14, 1845, being the son of Rev. Alex. Henderson, who for twenty years was in charge of the United Presbyterian church in Dunblane. He came to Canada in 1849 with his parents, who settled at Fitzroy Harbor. He was educated at home, and later at McGill University, Montreal, where he was graduated in medicine with honors in 1870, winning the Holmes gold medal and a special prize in clinical surgery. Shortly afterwards he located in Ottawa. He originated the idea of and was the first in Canada to apply successfully the plaster of paris jacket for the immediate relief and subsequent cure of spinal irritation. He was attached to the staff of the Protestant Hospital, and was one of the most highly respected physicians in the city. Dr. Henderson was of genial disposition and had a large circle of friends. He had travelled extensively in Canada and the States, and was a great lover of nature. He was connected with many prominent local societies.
