week we notice the Rev. Father Burke of Prince Edward Island. This is not the first visit of the reverend gentleman to this Province. He was here some two years ago and again last year in the interests of Catholic immigration and we understand his present visit has the same object in view. His aim is to secure a block of land in a favorable district in which to locate a number of his vince will be compelled at an early date to look elsewhere. On Sunday morning Father Burke preached at High Mass at the church of the Immaculate Conception. He spoke of the gospel of the day, giving a most eloquent sermon which was listened to with the greatest attention by a large audience, all of whom sincerely hope they will have the happiness of hearing him again.

On the other hand there was the declaration and the practice of the policy of independence. Mr. Shaw and his followers shirked the idea of a peasant proprietary, and they decided to sit with the then Liberal Government. Mr. Shaw took occasion to enter into a rivalry of speeches with Mr. Parnell. The attempt to demoralize the party ended, as was inevitable, in the complete disseverance on Jan. 12, 1881, of Mr. Shaw and his section from the Irish party; and it was speedily proved that the Irish party was strengthened, not weakened. by this defection of the malcontents. After this we hear little more of Mr. Shaw in politics. The tall of the Munster Bank, of which he was chairman, gave his name for a brief space an undesirable prominence. But malice itself could attribute to him no worse offense than lack of caution, and the solvency of the bank was amply demonstrated by On Wednesday evening last the town the spendid success of the Munster and
