

SIDGWICK & JACKSON'S FICTION

LE GENTLEMAN : An Idyll of the Quarter. By ETHEL SIDGWICK, Author of "Promise." Crown 8vo., 6s.

The scene of this story is laid in the Latin Quarter of Paris, amongst students of several nationalities ; and its motif is the comparison of English and French standards of honour. The story of the three chief characters shows by what difficult ways the English hero and the French heroine arrive at the reconciliation of their varying ideals.

THE CELESTIAL OMNIBUS, and other Stories.
By E. M. FORSTER, Author of "Howard's End," "A Room with a View," etc. With decorations by ROGER FRY. Imperial 16mo., 3s. 6d. net. [March, 1911.

Mr. E. M. Forster is the author of four remarkable novels, of which the last, "Howard's End," has been crowned as the great novel of 1910. These fantasies show his genius from another point of view, and the decorations by Mr. Roger Fry are in entire harmony with the delicacy and humorous imagination of the author's work.

PROMISE. By E. SIDGWICK. Crown 8vo., 6s.

[Second Impression.

"For a first novel 'Promise' is exceptionally able—one that should have notable successors."—Nation.

"One of the most remarkable novels of recent years."—Westminster Gazette.

"She appears to us to possess that true imaginative gift, as distinguished from the mere power of vivid reporting, which is the necessary qualification for continuing to produce work of permanent value in fiction."—Times.

"We are left to hope that the life of this English Jean Christophe will continue through at least another volume, filled with people as variegated and attractive as those to whom we are introduced in this."—Spectator.
