firmly convinced that everyone who argues against the employment of judges in political cases is a disappointed office-seeker, who would take the opposite view if he could only obtain one of the numerous jobs at Mr. Ross' disposal. This view is extended even to cover the case of Mr. John S. Ewart, who, as a resident of Manitoba, might be regarded as beyond the baneful influence of jealousy and hatred of Mr. Ross. The grand question under discussion is not when the bulk of this followers and many of his colleagues; but he failed to carry the country and gave to the Unionist coalition that long-spell of power which may only now be broken, not by the vigor of the opposition, but by its own weakness and the impulsive action of its strongest member.

All sorts of schemes have been invented to supplement the present utterly inadequate salaries of the judges. It would be much cheaper to give each of the present judges an additional $1000 per annum. But this is not the most important part of the subject. Is it fair to judges, or to suitors, or desirable as matter of public policy, that var-lous "pious frauds" in the line of four prous frauds in the fine of indirectly increasing the judicial salaries should be resorted to, or that they should have extra pay for outside work? The independent dence of the bench is of vital importance both to the public and the dence of the bench is of vital importance both to the public and the profession—much more important than the benefit resulting from having an occasional enquiry more satisfactorily conducted. There might be a danger of this independence being jeopardized by the growing practice of taking iudges from their proper work to discharge extra duties with extra emolument. All these things give occasion to the enemy to blaspheme. The consequence is just what might be expected; unpleasant remarks are made in reference to the judges, with the inevitable result of lessening the esteem in which the bench of this province has heretofore been held. We are on the down grade in connection with matters affecting the dignity of the bench and the respect for it in the public mind. It is time that more thought were given to these matters. The country cannot afford to have the judicial pedestal lowered. The effort must be to raise it, for it is not what it once was.

When a woman seeks the means of health she is often like a woman blindfold. She has no confidence. She cannot tell what her effort will lead to. She turns now to this side and then to the other in uncertainty and doubt.

The sick woman who uses Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription may do so with absolute confidence. It invites openeyed investigation. There need be no hesitation in following the hundreds of thousands of women who have found a perfect cure for womanly ills in the use of this medicine.
