Apropros of the coming of George Arliss to the Royal Alexandra next week, a good dear of nonsense has been written as to whether "The Devil" should be played in a comedy vein or not. George Arliss, whose "Devil" is admittedly the subtlest character study the stage has seen in many a year, ing. and one that will live when all other "Devils" are forgotten, says on the

Commencing with a special matinee on Monday the world-famous production of "Way Down East" will be presented at the Grand. The play will be given with all the elaborate and beautiful scenery and effects, and the company identical with that seen in all the Metropolitan runs. The play deals with New England life, and unfolds a story of pathos and humor which are exquisitely brought out. More than usual interest attaches to ext week's production at the Majes-ic Theatre, for "A Bad Man's Wife" is the work of Thomas Henry, the popular manager of our own Gayety Theatre. Only his most intimate friends have known of his ambitions in playhave known of his ambitions in play-writing. The Newark, N.J., News says: "Judging by severa! of the new melodramatic productions staged in the cheaper theatres this season, the ef-fort is being made by those catering to the patrons of such houses to present plays less sensational and more reason-able than the lurid "thrillers." which plays less sensationa, and more reasonable than the lurid "thrillers," which have formed so large a part of the managerial ctock in trade for several years past and of which the public has wearied. Thomas R. Henry's new ro-mantic drama, "A Bad Man's Wife," which was presented at Blaney's yeserday afternoon and last night, tends this conviction. It tells a story of love's yourg dream being shattered by man's duplicity, baseness and treachery, and the tale is unfolded in scenes and situations that are in harmony with the actualities of life. In substance the play is an interesting variation on the old adage about marrying in haste and repenting at leisure. The role of the heroine is enacted by Miss Selma Herman. It is one of the best balanced and best dressed companies appearing at Blaney's this server.
