

POLICE POWERLESS AGAINST THE MOB

SERIOUS RIOTING AT PATTERSON, N. J.

Strikers Attack Several Mills Which Had to Close—Some of Injured May Die.

Patterson, N. J., June 18.—This city was in the hands of a mob to-day, and as a result of the riot a number of persons were shot and two at least will die. One of the latter is a reporter. The police did their work well, but they were so few in number that they could make little headway against the mob.

This morning Chairman McFrad, who has held the strikers in check since his first obtained the control on the second day or so of the strike, and who has since stood almost alone between the city and violence, was on hand. He spoke, so did one of the leaders named McQueen. The latter was tame. When an Italian named Galeno spoke McQueen called for a vote on the question of calling for a general strike of all branches of the silk trade.

Five minutes later, Galeno emerged from the group shouting something in Italian. Instantly a mob formed, and led by Galeno swept down Belmont avenue. A quarter of a mile down Belmont avenue stands the Columbia mill and silk ribbon factory.

When the operatives were out of the Columbia, the mob swept on down Belmont avenue, and in the distance a group of existence, Brescia, old comrades, with Galeno at their head, were in the lead. A half mile march brought the mob to the Cedar Cliff mill, where the mob started until all were out and offered no violence. Just beyond the Cedar Cliff is the Tyrnewormer mill, the doors were burst open there and the men and girls were found ready to go out, and waiting for orders from Belmont New York office. When this was seen the rioters did nothing but wait until the mill was closed. The next place visited was a cotton braid factory, and other mills were closed before the mob arrived.

Half of them were rioters and the rest outsiders. The mills were bombarded, and before the mob stopped there was not a whole window in the building. Harry Harris, reporter of the Morning Call, was at this point. He was armed with a revolver and had a camera, with which he attempted to take pictures standing on a stoop a short distance from the building. He was killed and the camera was seen, and he was warned to desist. A moment later a rain of stones fell about him, and he was knocked down. As he fell he was rushed to a hospital, where he died.

IMPERIAL COMMONS. Chancellor of Exchequer Denies Government Contemplate Revolution of Its Fiscal Policy.

London, June 18.—When the House of Commons took up the consideration of the amended finance bill this afternoon, John Morley (Liberal) precipitated a lengthy debate by moving to omit the clause imposing a duty on grain.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer in reply to the question put by Mr. Morley stated that the government was contemplating a revolution in its fiscal policy, and said, in behalf of himself and his colleagues, that he wholly disavowed such an idea. He stated that the policy of the government was to encourage trade with the colonies by initiating a tariff war with other countries.

The motion to omit the clause imposing a duty on grain was defeated by 231 to 175 votes. The government has finally decided that it will be necessary to have an autumn session of parliament in order to dispose of the education bill and other business. The announcement made by Mr. Michael Hicks Beach in the House of Commons, that the tax on maize would be reduced by one-half, has been accepted on both sides of the House as finally disposing of the idea of a British Zollverein, and the protectionist party in parliament is greatly disappointed at the Chancellor of the Exchequer's deliberately publishing this idea.

There is excitement in political circles as a result of the announcement that the Duke of Westminster intends to take an active part in the contest for the seat of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader in the House of Commons. This decision is somewhat surprising, as the Duke of Westminster serves year to year as secretary to the secretary to Lord Milner, the high commissioner. The Duke's accession to the Liberal ranks is likely to be important from the view point of party finance.

SENT TO PRISON. Irish Nationalist Member of Parliament Gets Three Months. Sligo, Ireland, June 18.—Patrick A. Mr. McHugh, among a number of members of the United Irish League, is charged with conspiracy and treasonable connection with the completion of a farm from which a number of the league had been evicted. During the course of the trial Mr. McHugh was charged with having conspired to cause the arrest of a number of the league members, and the chairman remarked that Mr. McHugh was only asking the question in order to cause objection to the charges. Mr. McHugh called the chairman a "liar," and refused to apologize, offering the magistrates that he never expressed regrets to sweeps of his kind.

This promontory commands the approaches to Victoria Bay, and part of Hongkong harbor.
