OVER THE HILLS AND FAR
AWAY.

An aged cavalier at close of day Hailing his steed beneath a tavern sign, To drain a measure of the landlord's wine, With ease, and toast, and trooper's roundelay:
The horse he cast, with her cheery gleam, Lurching his way, and while he leered His circle in the dust, and soon He was gone, and his pleasure half-plumed.

NOTES AND NEWS.

UNITED STATES.

The Brooklyn Argus says that when a Boston woman yields a suburban cemetery she sits on the bench of the willow, and thinks of the departed ones and worms.
She does nothing of the kind. She walks about briskly and steals glances.—Boston Globe.

A three-year-old boy baby in Kentucky weighs 126 pounds, measures thirty-seven inches around the chest, forty inches around the waist, fifty-six inches around the hips, twenty-six inches around the thigh, and forty inches in height. He is a pretty boy, too.

August Gardner, a Frenchman, while walking on the railroad track near Ken-nedyville, Ind., Saturday night, was attacked by three men who robbed him, killed him, and left him on the track over a culvert and left him. Gardner succeeded in getting all the fastenings loose except those holding the left foot, when a passing train ran over his leg, cutting it, and he lay there till morning, and was then found. He was taken to Jeffersonville, where he held the above story and then died.

In Hoffman's saloon in Pittston, Penn., Saturday evening, Michael Farrell, a sailor, and a companion of his, got into an altercation with Alonzo Milligan, ex-chief of police, and Milligan, as aforesaid, seized Farrell and his companion, and took them to the jail. The assaillants each seized a gun, and Farrell took aim at Milligan, and pulled the trigger, but the gun mis-fired. Milligan was at once placed under arrest, but was subsequently taken before Judge Harding on a writ of habeas corpus and admitted to bail in $5,000. Farrell died about four hours after he was shot. He was a desperate character, and was well known in the city as a man who was on the wrong side of an old grudge against him when he was chief of police.

The Japanese census shows only three thousand criminals in a population of over thirty-three million souls.

Female physicians are popular in London, and strange to say, the most popular in the world. The British Islands announces her determination to marry an American. But he ought to have something to say about it.
"Well, ma'am, I have no objections provided you do the same when I wish to get you."

A spread-gate barter announces that he is "Professor of Craniological Absolu-tion and Cranialogical Trips." It is not often that four such high-priced words get into a single sentence.

Some fishermen on the New England coast have been very fortunate this month. The crew of one schooner fell in with a large school of fin mackerels, and secured $5,000 worth in a single day.

New Hampshire mothers are getting ready for the great moral baby show which opens next month. The judges will include the wives of Gov. Weston, ex-Govs.

Bradford, the great American painter, has just finished a splendid picture of the Count of Labrador for Baroness Burdet Coates, for which he asked her eight hundred guineas, and she sent him a check for a thousand.

Sir John Hawkshaw has left England for Brazil for the purpose of surveying a line of coast extending about 5,000 miles, beginning at Pernambuco, with the view of reporting upon eligible spots for the establishment of a canal and for the construction of new railways.

The newest thing in fashions is of ostrich feathers so arranged as to form a square, which is a small mirror, surrounded by imitation pearls. The feathers are of every color, but the entirely black fashions appear to be the most fashionable.

A daily paper has the following among its marine notices: "The schooner Albatross was wrecked on the coast of Newfoundland on the 11th inst., and the female cook, also, she being insured for $15,000, and heavily laden with iron."

Five Dollars for a Life—A Lover Murdered—A Hot Engagement Between Brigades and Soldiers.

(Roman Correspondence of the London Times.) Within the last few days the public have been edited by the acquisition of the author of one murder by proxy, and startled by the perpetration of another by the same means. The circumstances of the first, committed as long ago as Nov.
11 last, are briefly as follows: A young man of good but reduced family among the smaller nobility of Palermo had fallen in love with the daughter of a shopkeeper, who, having been successful in business, had become a millionaire. Her father was sternly opposed to the union, but it would seem that the young lady favored her lover's suit, and, being finding it impossible to overcome the objection of her parent, induced her to elope with him. They were followed, and the damsel brought back to her home, but, notwithstanding what had occurred, the old shopkeeper continued obstinate, would not hear of a marriage, and at last all communication between the young people was effectually interrupted. Irritated at his daughter's grief, and brooding over his wrongs, the old man finally determined to cure a hopeless passion by vindictive the honor of his family by completing the assassination of the lover. To this end he gave instructions to his butler, who was to be the workman-willing to do a few lines to complete the deed, and consequently, on Nov. 11 last, the lover was stabbed in his own doorway by a man who instancly turned out.

The victim died in great pain, and his cries attracting attention, the assassin was captured. Taken to the hospital, he was treated for some days, but his wounds were so serious, that he died on the 15th inst. The assassin was traced as to his motive, he revealed the names of his employers. The merchant and his companion were immediately arrested, and proceedings preparatory to the trial commenced. The merchant, however, when he learned that the court was to be held in Palermo, refused on the ground that there is no prison in that city, and he was therefore sent to the city of Palermo, where he is now confined. On the 15th inst. a post by which to connect the veritable murderer with the assassin, and the shop-keeper and the assassin—his al murder and his too—had never been mentioned. The assassin, however, who had received his instructions from the merchant, had been told to kill the merchant, and he had done so.
The merchant, however, had been told to kill the merchant, and he had done so.
The merchant, however, had been told

IN THIS CASE THE INSTRUMENT WAS PAID A VERY FEW DOLLARS.

A YOUNG MAN'S SEVERITY.

In another of a similar nature, which has just occurred at Messina, the assai-lant's price was 25 lire or francs, paid by a young lady to revenge herself upon a lover who declined to marry her, and water and a crust. A young captain, "Plomone" Genova by name, was quartered at the residence of the merchant infantry, at Messina. In his rambles through the town he often observed, and was attracted by the beauty of a young woman of one of the houses. After a short time Captain Genova received a basket of fruit from the young woman, and returned to her with a letter informing her that he was going to marry another woman, and that he was sorry that he was not rich, and that he was sorry that he was not rich, and that he was sorry that he was not rich, and that he was sorry that he was not rich, and
