

Stories of Famous People.

The difference between an Englishman and a Scotoman has been described as follows: An Englishman loves telling a story about some other fellow, and a Scotoman loves telling a story about himself. It is not surprising, therefore, to find Sir Auckland Geddes relating an incident in which one of his own countrymen figures as the somewhat doubtful hero.

A Scotoman in the Strand saw a passer-by drop half-a-crown. He dived into the traffic after it, was run over, and killed.

The coroner returned a verdict of "Death from natural causes."

The Cow That Couldn't Read.

Some little time ago Lord Shaughnessy was making a trip across Canada, when his train had occasion to stop at a small town and a woman almost forced her way into his special car.

After making a respectful greeting she explained that several months earlier a much valued Jersey cow which belonged to her had got through some broken bars on to the railway tracks and had been killed by a passing train. What she wanted was reparation.

"But, madam, you must take it up with the department which looks after such claims," Lord Shaughnessy is reported to have told her. "I cannot go over the heads of my managers and settle any claim."

"I have gone to them," said the woman. "I've written and they've written, and so it goes—but they don't do anything for me."

"I'm sorry, madam," repeated Lord Shaughnessy, "but I don't see what I can do. The sign is there, 'Danger, railway crossing.'"

"But, my heavens, sir, my cow couldn't read," said the woman.

After a stunned moment Shaughnessy rocked with mirth—and wrote a cheque for the value of the illiterate cow.

Scotland First of All.

Formerly President Wilson's confidant and right-hand man, Col. E. M. House, the American statesman, has been telling a delighted audience of his fellow countrymen the story of his meeting in London with a Scotoman to whom his name, when he was introduced, evidently meant nothing.

This was apparent because the very first question the Scotoman asked after the ceremony of introduction had been completed was, "From what land do ye come?"

"The greatest in the world," replied Col. House with a smile.

"Puir bairn!" was the Scotoman's pitying comment. "Puir bairn, ye've lost yer accent!"

Typhoid Carrier for Twenty Years.

A mother-in-law, who for more than twenty years unwittingly and innocently has infected with typhoid germs members of her family and others in New York State, has been "traded" by local health authorities, found "positive" to test and put under restriction to prevent further contagion. Thirty-two cases of the disease may be traced to the woman, health authorities say.

The first to be infected was a boarder, who fell ill with typhoid in 1900. Since that time the health officials say the woman has visited in the homes of her sons and daughters-in-law for varying periods with the result that she has infected four sons-in-law, two sisters, the father and mother of one of the sons-in-law, two grandsons and indirectly a nurse employed in one of the cases. Two other sons-in-law have thus far escaped, but recent visits of the mother-in-law are taken to indicate their danger.

The woman's desire to aid in kitchen work gave her opportunity to spread the disease by passing germs to food and dishes she handled, the health authorities say, but the case is considered the more remarkable that not one of the woman's own children, seven daughters and three sons, have contracted the disease.

A blood examination proved positive when the woman was suspected of being a chronic spreader of typhoid fever six years ago, but until recently she refused to submit more specimens. A few weeks ago three specimens were taken and were found positive beyond all doubt to tests for the presence of the typhoid bacillus.

Faith.

Faith unlocks the door to power. It is the men and women with a stupendous faith, a colossal self-confidence, who do the great deeds, accomplish the "impossible."

No matter what your need is, put it into the hands of faith. Do not ask how, or why, or when. Just do your level best, and have faith, which is the great miracle worker of the ages.

Faith opens the door and sees the way. It is a soul sense, a spiritual foresight which peers far beyond the vision of the physical eyes and sees the reality long before it takes material form.

Faith increases confidence, carries conviction, multiplies ability. It doesn't think or guess. It is not discouraged or blinded by mountains of difficulties, because it sees through them—sees the great beyond.

There is a tremendous creative power in the conviction that we can do a thing.

You may succeed when others do not believe in you, when everybody else denounces you even, but never when you do not believe in yourself.

CRIPPLING PAINS OF RHEUMATISM

Cannot be Banished by Liniments—Is Reached Through the Blood.

Thousands of men and women suffer severely from rheumatism. Crippling pains in the muscles and joints make every movement a torture. Many people think rheumatism is due to cold or wet weather and they try to banish it by rubbing the painful parts with liniment. This is a great mistake; the rheumatic poison is in the blood and liniment and rubbing cannot do more than give temporary relief. If you are a victim of rheumatism or lumbago the way to rid yourself of it is by making the blood rich and pure, for only in this way can the rheumatic poison be driven from the system. To enrich and purify the blood, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken. They act directly on the blood, making it rich and red, and in this way the trouble disappears.

Thousands of people have proved this, among them Mrs. H. King, Croydon, Ont., who says:—"I was attacked with rheumatism in my right arm and shoulder. It pained me so that I could not raise the arm to comb my hair or feed myself. I commenced taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking three boxes I seemed all right again. About six months later, however, the trouble came on again, this time in my left arm. Again I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with the same beneficial results, and since then I have had no return of the trouble. Now I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills whenever I get a chance."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Surnames and Their Origin

GILLEN
Variations—Gillon, Gillman, Gillon, Gillman, Gillman.
Racial Origin—Irish.
Source—A given name.

The names in this group also are often found with the prefix "Mac," which, as has been pointed out in previous articles, is the Irish and Scottish equivalent of the English termination "son" and the German "sohn," the Norman-French prefix "Fitz," and the Russian and Polish terminations such as "wicz," "ek," "ska," etc.

The old Gaelic form of the name is "MacGiolla-Finnleinn" or "MacGiolla-fineinn," the pronunciation of which was much more simple than would seem. "MacGiolla-fineinn" comes pretty close to the way it would come off the Gaelic-speaking tongue. The clan name comes from the given name of "Giolla-fineinn" (meaning "follower of the shield").

The clan was founded by a chieftain of this name, as nearly as can be estimated, a few decades before the close of the tenth century. This chief was the last prince of Tirconnell to come of the O'Mulroy line, and was a direct descendant of one "Anmire," the 138th High King of all Ireland, who reigned, according to history, in the year 563 A.D., about the time when the Anglo-Saxons were consolidating the fruits of their victories in the invasion of England.

Lake Louise, Alberta.

The monarchs of the East their jewels stock

In hidden rock-walled rooms, save on those days Of ceremonial high when, flashing rays Refulgent, these their brilliant splendor pour Upon a moment's pageant. By the shore

Thy mountain guardians stand, and while they praise Themselves in thy pure turquoise mirror, gaze

In awe and con thy matchless beauties o'er.

When joyfully thy mother glacier ows, While dancing shadows swiftly chase those hues

Prismatic that her snowy wonders fuse In thee to make an eye-entrancing sight,

Then softly o'er thine iridescent tones A feast of mists falls well-like from the height.

—Jennie Stork Hill.

Why Bread Has a Crust.

Why does a loaf of bread have a crust? When a mass of dough is baked in the oven the water in it turns to steam at 212 degrees Fahrenheit. After this it cannot get any hotter, but the outside of the loaf is not limited by the presence of water, and both the pan and the air in the oven get much hotter.

This converts the starch in the outer layer of dough into sugar, part of which is burnt to caramel. The latter gives the outside of the loaf its crust, and makes it quite different in appearance and flavor from the crumb inside.

Not So Stingy.

Jamie was begging his father for a second helping of jam.

"When I was a boy," said his parent, "my father only allowed me to have one helping."

Jamie was silent for a minute, and then asked: "Aren't you glad you live with us now, daddy?"

MONEY ORDERS.

Dominion Express Money Orders are on sale in five thousand offices throughout Canada.

The real Empire builders of Canada's colonial period were not the statesmen, the men of wealth, the great planters, but the unknown pioneers who fought single-handed and at once both the primeval wilderness and the lurking savage. The hand, crooked to the plough-handle, was shaped to the trigger.

Raining.

This rain, which wavers to and fro In soft and dull and silent flow, Fringes the world with distant gray

And steals the autumn's glow away, This sombre, still and constant rain, Weaving its fine web on the pane,

Constrains my heart, that else would roam To keep the cozy airs of home.

The world this morn was over fair, My soul was lured to wander there; The glory of the autumn called

From my small cabin sombre-walled, But now the woodlands, wet and cold, Shiver in coats of tarnished gold;

And the chill showers, kindly sent, Have made my soul with home content.

—Edward F. Garesche.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day it is warm and bright and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The History of a Familiar Song.

The words of the song "Annie Laurie," which has touched the hearts of millions of people, were written by William Douglas and tell the story of his love for the beautiful daughter of Sir Robert Laurie, first baronet of Maxwellton. Its history dates back to the end of the seventeenth century. Douglas, so tradition says, wrote and sung the song when he was a soldier in Flanders. He is touchingly pictured as resting on the breast of a fellow soldier when dying from a bullet wound. He holds aloft a lock of Annie Laurie's hair and repeats the words:

"And for bonnie Annie Laurie I'd lay me down and die."

Whether this is truth or fancy, at any rate William Douglas's granddaughter, who was consulted on the family history, says that her grandfather Douglas was certainly in love with Annie Laurie, "but," she added, "he did not get her after all."

The original song contained but two verses. A third equally charming was added by an unknown hand. The music as we know it to-day was composed by Alice Anne Spottiswoode, who in 1836 became Lady John Scott. It is modern in comparison with the words, but the flavor of its melody is old-fashioned and sweet.

The ancestral home of Annie Laurie, who later married a certain Mr. Ferguson, still sits high above the braes of Maxwellton. Above the entrance door of the tower is the quaint old "marriage stone" of Annie's father and mother, with the initials, date and the family coat of arms. William Douglas often gazed on this inscription and hoped to see his own and Annie's there, but fate decreed otherwise.

The biggest things in life depend on the smallest things.

Moulding Says It Is His Family Medicine

"Tanlac has done my wife and myself so much good that we have made it our family medicine," says Frederick Moulding, 2513 17th St., South-west Calgary, Alberta.

"As for myself, I had been feeling just about half sick for some time. My appetite was very poor, nothing tasted right, and what I did eat seemed to do me little good. I never felt hungry and my energy and strength were slipping right away from me."

"Two or three years ago my wife was troubled somewhat the same way. She had no appetite, was all run down and very nervous. After taking a few bottles of Tanlac she was so improved that all the neighbors spoke about it."

"Knowing what Tanlac did for her, I took it myself and it has helped me just like it did her. I now eat three rousing meals a day and relish every bite and have an appetite that never fails me. That tired feeling is gone and my old time strength and energy have come back to me. My wife and myself both think Tanlac is great."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Adv.

The End.

When all is over, And all the three hearts of earth Follow the beckoning hands of death

Waving out of the cool darkness, When all is over . . . Beauty alone shall roam beneath the sky

And not the huge and prowling dinosaurs. There shall be wild, strange music for evermore

And sails of woven moonlight blowing by Along a misty twilight, And there shall pour

Down through blue space a golden rain of stars. —Oscar Williams.

Taking Ways.

Father's umbrella was not to be found anywhere. So he asked the members of his family if they had seen it.

"I think Mr. Benson took it last night," said Johnny.

"What makes you think that, my son?"

"Cause when I was in the hall last night I heard his say to sister: 'Well, I'll have to steal one.'"

Pat's Safety Sprint.

Pat and Mike were working on the line. A freight train appeared unexpectedly round a curve.

Mike jumped from the track, but Pat dropped his shovel and took to his heels in front of the train.

The engine-driver whistled, but Pat kept running, and finally rolled off the rails just as the train was about to run him down.

"Why didn't ye git off the track, ye fool?" demanded Mike.

"Well, ye see," panted Pat, "it was better runnin' on the track."

A New Use for Poplar.

A method has been discovered by the Forest Products Laboratories of Canada, whereby Canadian poplar can be used in the manufacture of cigar boxes instead of the cedar from Cuba, which generally cover up imported havanas, and has been regarded as the sign manual of a good cigar. Several Canadian cigar manufacturers have already started making boxes from poplar.

MOTHER!

Move Child's Bowels with "California Fig Syrup"

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

In spite of all differences in rank and education, one honest man is very like another.
