the church can be compared to a ship buffeted by the waves in the midst of the ocean. But our faith does not vacil-late in the least. Indeed, we are more than ever sustained by our belief in the efficacious assistance of Christ, who, when the time to succor us comes, will rise and command the wind and sea to go down so that the perfect tranquility so much desired will beam on us."

The greatest comfort of Catholicism, a comfort which is confounding the enemy, the Pope added, was the "singular con-cord which prevails throughout the episcopacy, so fully united to us. May God make all Catholies conform to these most brilliant examples of their pastors and follow their directions. This imposes and follow their directions. This imposes a sacred duty on the Christian profession, which is emphasized by the present needs of religion, namely, that where (alluding to France) there is hostility against the church, the people there should be urged to proceed with compact strength, and in those regions (alluding to Spain) where hostility is threatened Catholics should generously sink all personal animosity and dissensions and neglect no, means permitted by the laws and by the Christion conscience to overcome the evil."

if so used, and no medicines for such if so used, and no medicines for such diseases should be used without professional advice. Dr. Crichton was lending the weight of the medical profession to his advertising and using his standing obtained under the council for furthering his own interests, which are now judged by the council to be unprofessional. This, he claimed, would bring the medical profession into disrepute if carried to any extent and if the court carried to any extent and if the court found the Medical Council was not justi-fied in striking off Mr. Crichton's name, then it would deal a heavy blow to the Was Good, He Would Not Hesitate nedical profession.

"You must censure him for advertising goods that may be meritorious," remarked Chancellor Boyd, "Those testimonials bear out that it is meritorious. Does Dr. Crichton run down his fellow-practipractitioners concluded yesterday before "No," answered Mr. Osler, who then continued to argue that Dr. Crichton's advertising would be the same as for a solicitor to advertise his success in the Divisional Court. Mr. H. S. Osler, K. C., on behalf of the Medical Council, resumed his argument, explaining that the second clause of the Discipline Com-solicitor to advertise his success in winning cases.

"If a solicitor were to gather testimonals from big corporations and prominent persons, showing he had won many cases, then that solicitor would be justified in advertising himself by capaling out of capaling the second of the solicitor would be solicitored. mittee's finding was not a second charge. It was an explanation, rather, that the circular was an attempt to impose on the eredulity of the public for personal gain.
"If he is an honest man and believes in his own preparation, how can this cirsending out circulars just as much as could be a doctor. No legal man would wish his profession to be brought into cular be an attempt to impose on the credulity of the public?" asked Chanceldisrepute this way. I venture to say such a solicitor would be censured."
"He would be censured but not struck off the roll." observed the Chancellor. "It may not be a fraudulent attempt,

"Yes, I venture to say his name would be struck off the roll," replied the coun-preparation may be some good in some cases, but it is impossible to make an absolute cure. He says positively his medicine cures grip in two hours." Mr. Osler proceeded to point out that disastrous results would follow if every practitioner were allowed to advertise his medicine indiscriminately. He claim-

"The Medical Council should be the body to decide, however," said Mr. Osler, "as to whether such a course were disgraceful and should be discontinued.

"Is it not the hevitable result that the profession would be brought into disrepute!" asked the counsel. "I don't think it is necessary for a man to think think it is necessary for a man to think he is doing wrong while he is doing wrong."

"If a man does something disgraceful, does not his mind take part?" asked Mr. Justice Magoc.
In reply Mr. Osler said he might wrong the profession and yet be acting within his own conscience, but that fact did not justify the court in ruling that the council should not have found him guilty of disgraceful conduct in a professional sense.

Mr. Justice Mahee then raised the point of the council state of the counc

"The man is charged with mere advertising," observed Mr. Justice Ma-

"Why did not the council put in such a charge? If people are satisfied to swallow this preparation, whether it cures through the action of the mind or not, then it is a matter for legislation if

Mr. Osler, a bottle of this medicine would do you good, would you not put it to the test?"

"No, my Lord, I would not," answered "Well, if a friend told me such thing and I had good reason to believe him, I would probably get a bottle the next day and try it. That's a matter common sense."

Mr. Osler told the court that if Dr

Crichton would stop his advertising no doubt his name would be restored.

First the garrisons in Manchuria and Corea now comprising four divisions, will be educed to one division each, drafted from the home divisions, instead of being special corps. Secondly, the saving thus effected will be employed in furnish created great havoc. At St. Paul's Church a quantity of money was taken from the children's Sunday school whereby the strength of the army will become nineteen divisions. This signifies an increase of nearly 50 per cent. Thirdly, three special forces will e organized, namely, heavy field artillery, quick-firing field artillery and cavhorsed with the best cattle. Fourthly, the work of rearmament and restoration, which the War Minister dered to complete in a brief period will extend over several years. Funds for the above purposes will be obtained by of economies in other depart ments. There will be no new taxes and no new loans. It is understood that this rogramme was subject to much discussion in the Cabinet. The Minister of War declared that the safety of the ountry depended on the execution of his plans, the sole object of which was to secure peace by making Japan too formidble for anyone to attack her. The other Ministers were not disposed to accept that view, but finally yielded. When the ew programme is carried out Japan will be able to place an army of three-quar-ters of a million men in the field.

Jealous Man Counts Ten as Woman Prays, Then Fires a Bullet Into Her Head.

New York, Dec. 10.—When John Muhic, after three days' absence, returned to his home, 325 Forty-fourth street, Brooklyn, yesterday, only to have his peace overtures rejected by his wife, he shot her down and then put a bullet through his own brain. He died instantly.

Mrs. Muhic, mortally wounded, is at the Norwegian Hospital. Muhic, who was fifty-two years of age, was a foreman at the Bush stores. His victim was his second wife. His thirteen-year-old stepson, Joseph, and Mrs. Lena Westernoldt, of 103 Washington street, were the only witnesses of the crime.

Muhic arrived at the house while his wife and her son were dining. With him was Mrs. Westernoldt, who came to act as mediator.
