THE elements of style enters more largely every year in the determination of the value of clothing. Without it the best efforts of the salesman are wasted.

We might as well try to light our store with a candle dip as to build up a trade with ordinary clothing.

New Method Fitting Clothing not only embraces the season's advanced patterns and fabrics, but the workmanship—the merchant tailor kind is there—the kind that breeds confidence and furnishes a topic for conversation with our customers.

The founders of this store are old in the business, and have learned what to avoid and what is most essential from the customer's point of view. That is the whole secret of successful merchandizing.

A PIONEER GONE

John Sample has Passed Away in his 97th Year a Life Long Conservative.

One of the oldest and most respected of Kent's pioneers passed away yesterday in the person of John Sample, who died at the residence of his son, Alex. Sample, Stanley avenue, aged 97 years.

Mr. Sample was born Oct. 1804, in the county of Arima, Ireland, twelve miles from Belfast. In Ireland he worked successfully at his trade as a linen weaver. He was married in 1830 to Elizabeth Moore, who died September 11th, 1888. He came to Canada in 1837, but went to Michigan, remaining there about three years. He then returned to Canada and took up a farm on the 16th concession of Raleigh. He was one of Raleigh's first settlers, having out a farm for himself when Raleigh was nothing but a bush. He then some years later removed to another farm on the 3rd concession, Harwich, just west of Blenheim. About 40 years ago he again moved to a farm 10 miles east of Blenheim, where he lived comfortably until about four years ago, when he removed to Chatham.

Deceased was in religion a Presbyterian, and in politics a Conservative. Six children survive him. They are Mesdames R. Moore, Romulus, Michigan; H. Rouse, of Wyandotte, Mich.; S. Rouse, of Harwich township, A. Jackson, of Ridgeway, and Messrs. Alex. Sample, of Chatham township and Samuel Sample, of Romney township.

The funeral will take place Friday morning at ten o'clock, from the residence of his son, Stanley avenue, to the English burying ground, where he laid at rest by the side of his wife.

BELOVED BY MANY

Woman who Lost her Life in the Stone Fire "Went About Doing Good."

The Cleveland Press says: The funeral of Miss Mary A. Graham, who was killed in jumping from the N. O. Stone block fire, Tuesday, will be held from the home of M. V. Cooper, 196 Melrose avenue, either Thursday or Friday, probably Friday. Miss Graham had boarded at the Cooper home since her mother's death four years ago.

Miss Graham's mother was blind for many years before her death and Miss Graham gave her the most loving care. After her mother's death, her one thought was to do good among the poor. She belonged to no organization, but "went about doing good." Her means were ample for her charitable purposes, and she was the idol of the many needy people whom she had helped.

Miss Graham came to Cleveland from Chatham, Ont. Mrs. Cooper did not know anything about her relatives.

The burial will be in Woodland, where Miss Graham's mother is buried. Rev. S. P. Spradner, of the Euclid avenue Presbyterian church, will conduct the service.

INWARD AND OUTWARD.

The inward effects of humors are worse than the outward. They weaken all the organs, inflame the mucous membrane, cause catarrhal troubles, and endanger the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla eradicates all humors and cures all their effects.

It's the great alterative and tonic medicine whose merit has been everywhere established. Accept no substitute.

GOLD MINERS DIE BY FIRE

Horrible Disaster in a Colorado Mine—17 Bodies Recovered.

Two Hundred men had Just Started to Work When Fire Broke out in a Tunnel.

Telluride, Col., Nov. 20.—By a fire in the bullion tunnel belonging to the Smuggler Union Mining Company, probably 30 lives were lost to-day. Seventeen bodies have been recovered. The fire, which is known to have been accidental, started early this morning in the buildings at the mouth of the tunnel. At this point is located the upper terminal of the tramway to the company's new mill at Pandora, and it was in the bunk house attached that the fire started. From this it spread to the terminal station, which with its ore bins, machinery and supplies is a mass of ruins.

The day shift of 200 men had entered the mine and reached their stations when the fire broke out. The tunnel acted as a flue, and a great volume of smoke poured in and filled the slopes. About 175 of the men succeeded in reaching safety by another exit. The fire probably burned itself out, but the mine was so filled with smoke that it was six hours before rescuing parties could penetrate the slopes where the less fortunate were. Seventeen dead have been removed from the mine to-night. The engineer, Hugh J. O'Neill, was found alive, but is not expected to recover. No list of dead is obtainable at this time.

BAD BLAZE

A Former Chathamite Suffers a Severe Loss at Northcote, Minn.

Last Tuesday morning, Nov. 12, about one o'clock, the large barn of Jno. Wood, near Northcote, Minn., containing 13 head of horses, five set of harness, 35 tons of hay, 400 bushels of oats, besides other articles, was burned and all therein destroyed. The fire was started in a straw pile that was located a short distance from the barn, and spread from there to the hay stacks and then to the barn. Mr. Wood was awakened by the faithful collie, dog jumping at his bedroom window, and got to the barn in time to save two cows, two calves, and two colts, that were in an outside stable. Mr. Wood thinks it was the work of an incendiary, as tracks were found leading from a grove of trees across the garden, to where the fire was started, and back to the railroad. Mr. Wood carries insurance in the Farmers' Mutual, of Hallock, Minnesota, for $1000, but this will not cover more than half of his loss. This is the second fire within the last two months that has occurred in this neighborhood, and looks very much as Mr. Wood terms it, the work of an incendiary.

Mr. Wood is an old Chathamite, who has prospered in the west, and his many friends will regret to hear of his misfortune.

The prospectus of the Thanksgiving number of the Buffalo Express, to be issued next Thursday, is in the hands of Roy Chrysler, the hustling young local agent. It promises to be an exceptionally fine paper and contains a splendid series of photographs.

SUNDAY PAPERS

Thos. Walters Differs With P. O. Tom Groves Re Observance of Sabbath in Old London.

"I saw a letter from Thomas Groves in your paper the other night on Sunday newspapers," said Thomas Walters while in conversation with a Planet reporter. "In his letter he states if the hub of the world (London, England) can get along without a Sunday paper what's the matter with Chatham? Well, London, England, might get along without Sunday papers, but she does not. While I was in England I purchased a newspaper every Sunday and have some of them up at my house now. Sunday is about the only day you can get a weekly newspaper. One paper called Lloyd's Weekly, I purchased not a hundred yards from the King's residence."

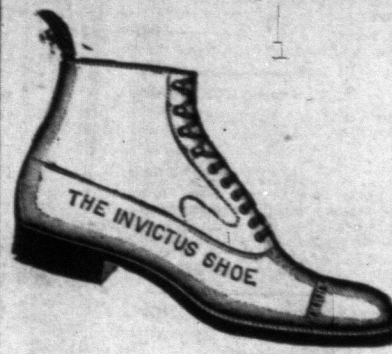

"Why," continued Tom, "you can buy almost anything in London on Sundays, especially in the Jewish quarters, where the Hebrews stick to their religion, closing up business on Saturday and keeping open on Sunday."

"Things have changed since Mr. Groves left England."
